Highway Commission Wins Argument On Pay

SALEM (AP) — The state Highway Commission won its argument with the state Civil Service Commission over overtime pay for its employees for Sunday work. But it had to change the calendar to do it.
The Civil Service Commission ruled against Sunday overtime pay on grounds that Sunday was the first day of the week. It said overtime pay could be granted only after five days were worked. So the Highway Commission ordered that Monday be considered as the first day of the week. That solved the problem.
