In the final match, Black Hawk and Tony Bourne will meet in an "Indian Death Match." Before the Seneca Indian and Bourne start the action, both wrestlers will have their left wrists tied together by the referee. The battle then will continue until a winner is determined.

This unique match will carry no time limit, and both men have agreed to a "winner take all" arrangement. Bourne defeated the Hawk here two weeks ago for a sizable side bet, and Black Hawk demanded a chance to even the score.

The evening will find two other matches, with both Black Hawk and Bourne involved. In the first match, Bourne will tangle with Marco Polo, the speedy mat sensation from the East Coast.

In the other match, the Hawk goes against Red Donovan, the tough Canadian.

The action is slated to start at 8:30 p.m., and again a sizable crowd is expected for the matches.

Lewiston, only a game away from clinching the Northwest League first half crown, was thwarted 6-5 in 10 innings by the Tri-City Braves Tuesday night.

Rain in the Willamette Valley washed out the other scheduled contests — Yakima at Eugene and Wenatchee at Salem. They will be made up in Wednesday doubleheaders.

At Lewiston Bert Muench lifted a short single over second base to push in the winning run. Lewiston had tied it in the seventh inning with a four-run outburst.

The Braves had it pretty much their own way to that point thanks to homers by Gene Cooke and Ray Looney.

Pros Happy Over House Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top professional sports officials today hailed the House vote to grant to baseball and other team sports sweeping immunity from the nation's antitrust laws.

The bill would enable professional teams to continue long-established practices such as player drafts and baseball's reserve clause. It also would give clubs more authority over television and radio broadcasts of games.

The same standards would cover all the big four team sports — baseball, football, basketball and hockey.

The House passed the bill by voice vote yesterday. The Senate still must act.

"The bill, if passed, is one that all sports can live with, but it is in no sense a license," said Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick.

"The House has expressed its confidence in American sports. It is now up to us to demonstrate that the confidence is not misplaced."

Other Praise Voiced

Similar praise was voiced by National Football Commissioner Bert Bell, minor league Commissioner George Trautman and Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League.

In passing the measure, the House turned down a bill sponsored by Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) and approved by the Judiciary Committee. That bill would have exempted professional sports from the antitrust laws only to the extent that their practices were found "reasonably necessary" for the sport to function. Critics said the legislation would create a chaotic condition and deluge teams with lawsuits.

The House-passed bill says, in effect, that only strictly business activities—things like stadium and concession operations—are subject to antitrust prohibitions against monopoly and business restraints.

The substitute proposal, offered by Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) says the antitrust laws cannot apply to contracts, agreements or other practices in the big four sports as they relate to:

1. Equalization of competitive playing strength.

2. The employment, selection or eligibility of players, or the reservation, selection or assignment of player contracts.

3. The right of teams and clubs to operate within specified geographic areas.

4. Regulation of rights to broadcast and telecast reports and pictures of games.

5. The preservation of public confidence in the honesty in sports contests through commissioners' offices.

The bill preserves the right of players to bargain collectively and have their own player organizations.
