

Two Girls Run Away With Baby Brother To Prevent Parents Adopting Him Out

SUN VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — "We are taking Baby Mike away. We won't let you give him away."

Two teen-age girls left this note with their parents Sunday and disappeared, taking with them the 20-month-old brother they thought their parents no longer wanted.

Monday a patrolman found Sandra Hill, 16, and her sister Genevieve, 13, asleep under a tree in a Burbank park, about five miles from their home. In their arms was Mike.

The officer recognized them from their mother's missing persons report. At Burbank police station Sandra explained to a policeman: "We had to leave and take Baby Mike with us. Mama and Daddy were going to adopt him out."

Police went to the Hills' home in Sun Valley and found out why the parents had talked of putting the baby up for adoption.

No Other Answer
"I can't see any other answer," said Lyle Hill, 44, a carpenter. "I can't get a job."
"Counting Mikey, we have eight kids — and we live in a house that was made for no more than two people."

Rent on the one-bedroom home is due again Thursday. The current week's rent was paid by the Bureau of Public Assistance. But the bureau says it can't give the Hills relief payments because Mrs. Hill and the children only recently arrived in the area from Toledo, Ohio.

"I had to split the family up back there and farm out the kids," Mrs. Hill said. "We didn't want to do it again, and we thought we'd let just the baby go."

Children Taken Home

The three krismy, weary children went home in a police car. The girls said they had spent the night in an all-night movie and trudged through the hills, taking turns carrying their brother.

"I don't care now," Mrs. Hill declared. "We'll keep him." She told a juvenile officer: "We could make out all right if my husband and I had jobs. We're willing to work."

But Hill has other strikes against him. He is on parole from San Quentin Prison, where he served time for the theft of an outdoor motor. And he has been in jail health lately.

He shook his head sadly. "It can't be done," he said. "The boy has got to go."

Multi-Million Dollar Bridges Dedicated Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two new multi-million dollar Pacific Northwest bridges were dedicated Tuesday; one across the Columbia River between Portland and Vancouver, the other across the Spokane River in Spokane.

The new interstate bridge across the Columbia was constructed parallel to the old span there. The new structure will be used while the old one is being renovated. Sometime early in 1960 both spans will be in use. The old bridge will carry northbound traffic while the new one will handle only southbound traffic.

State Rep. Julia Butler Hansen, chairman of the Washington Legislative Interim Committee on Highways, was named to officially dedicate the new span.

Governor Robert D. Holmes of Oregon designated Julius Jensen, Oregon state director of planning and development, to represent him.

In Spokane, Gov. Rosellini said the new Maple Street toll bridge in that city will handle an estimated 2 1/2 million vehicles during 1959, even though it will be the sixth bridge across the Spokane River.

John Fox To File Libel Suit Against Sherman Adams

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ex-publisher John Fox said Monday he intends to file a libel suit against Sherman Adams, President Eisenhower's top aide, for one million dollars.

Fox said he also has instructed his lawyers to sue for a million dollars apiece: Publisher Robert B. Choate of the Boston Herald and Traveler; the newspaper's lawyer, William J. Dempsey; Bernard Goldfine's attorneys, Roger Robb and Samuel Sears; and the Boston Herald-Traveler Corp. itself.

Fox said before a House committee he expects the suits to be filed in Washington and Boston Tuesday. He did not specify on what specific counts he would sue.

Fox, a Boston lawyer-businessman, has been testifying for three days before the House investigating subcommittee headed by Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark). The committee has been looking into the relations between Adams and Goldfine.

Fox pictured the demise of his own former newspaper, the Boston Post, as due to pressures exerted from high in the administration and with which Choate and Goldfine were connected.

Adams has disputed various portions of Fox's testimony both in and earlier appearance before the subcommittee and in statements issued from the White House since. Goldfine is slated to take the witness stand Wednesday.

Asked before TV cameras about the grounds for the libel suits, Fox said:

"All the individuals and the news papers made thoroughly scurrilous and libelous statements about me in writing."

Lucky Luciano Linked To N. Y. Crime Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate racketeers heard testimony Tuesday that mobster Charles (Lucky) Luciano, operating from Italy, may have stage-manned last November's ill-famed "crime convention" at Alhambra, N.Y.

Martin F. Pera, undercover agent for the Federal Bureau of Narcotics, made the allegation in testimony before the special investigating committee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark).

Police long have suspected that the meeting was a gathering of an American "grand council of the Mafia, called to try to carve up peacefully racketeers left unbossed by the murder last summer of racketeer Albert Anastasia, a reputed Mafia big shot. Pera has testified he believes the gunning of Anastasia was Mafia work.

Pera said the Mafia in Italy is torn by strife in which there have been 14 murders since 1955. He said this presumably has caused repression in the American underworld.

He told the committee he sees "great significance" in a meeting in Palermo, Italy, which he said brought together Joseph (Joey Banana) Bonanno, Carmine Galante and Sant Sarge identified by Pera as Luciano's Italian top lieutenant.

Pera said Luciano, who was deported from the United States, is under such tight police surveillance in Italy he often sends Sarge to represent him at meetings with American Mafia mobsters.

The committee has described Bonanno as a Mafia mobster who was at the Alhambra meeting, but did not at once give further identification of Galante.

At the Palermo meeting was just before the gathering at Alhambra. "The sequence of events is very significant" in indicating a relationship between the two, he said.

Four men alleged to have attended the Alhambra meeting were on hand for committee questioning about whether the meeting was linked to a national underworld syndicate.

Hoover Refutes Idea FBI Acts Like A Gestapo

By JACK ADAMS

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI director J. Edgar Hoover said today American law enforcement has a magnificent record of accomplishment which refutes charges that it functions as a Gestapo.

In a signed editorial in the July issue of FBI's Law Enforcement Bulletin, Hoover expressed resentment that "an unscrupulous few, through studied insults and calculated distortions, would besmirch and disgrace this world-renowned record of democratic achievement."

Hoover mentioned no names. Editorialist followed a recent TV interview in which Cleveland industrialist Cyrus S. Eaton said that Adolf Hitler at the height of his power "never had such spy organizations as we have in this country today."

Eaton described the FBI as one of a number of agencies engaged in "snooping, in informing, in creeping up on people." After the broadcast, Hoover said Eaton's statements about the FBI were "vicious and completely untrue."

The FBI director wrote in the bulletin that law enforcement must constantly improve in efficiency. "yet, all the time, it has remained undeviatingly loyal to the principles of freedom and justice."

She was picked up by Kennewick police last weekend on a teletype warrant issued by Douglas County, and was held at the nearby county jail in Prosser.

Sack Look Is Out For Fall, Fashion Designers State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Prediction: Football coaches won't be the only ones biting their nails this fall. Fashion designers may do a bit of gnawing, too, but one thing appears certain: the sack dress won't be around.

The first thing — for fashion designers, anyway — has come. More than 1,300 women from 17 states, wives of delegates to an insurance conference, were permitted a peek at the fall fashion line Monday.

About half of them took time to express opinions in answer to the question: "Would you like to wear the clothes you've seen today?"

There were 296 who said no. Another 253 said they liked what they saw. And 229 weren't sure; they like some, shied away from others.

Claims Sack Out

The women had heard Barbara Littlehale, fashion coordinator for a Columbus department store, declare:

"The sack is definitely out for fall. Chemise may have become a dirty word, but it's still with us. There are more wearable styles."

"The trapeze is still here, bigger than ever. And the new style to watch is the empire — a high-waisted design with emphasis on the bosom."

Just so the male will know what's still with him, the chemise is narrower across the hips, and fuller — almost baggy — above the waist. The trapeze comes down from a narrow top in a kind of triangular shape, getting fuller at the waist and even more full at the hem. The empire is high-waisted, emphasizing the bust.

Many women who vetoed the new fashions seemed to be thinking in terms of the feminine figure.

One said: "Anyway, it's a wonderful time to be pregnant."

Newport People Ponder About Bear On Beach

NEWPORT, Ore. (AP) — Local residents had a 600-pound polar bear carcass on their beach Tuesday and were wondering about its origin.

The dead bear probably washed ashore sometime last weekend, along with the carcass of a cub. The tide later carried the cub back to sea, but the larger bear remained on the sand, attracting spectators.

Jack Marks, director of the Portland Zoo, speculated that the bears were swept out to sea in a storm, probably on an ice cake that melted when it reached warmer waters. The animals probably drowned and were carried by currents to the Oregon shore.

Polar bears are native to the Bering Sea area, more than 2,000 miles from the Oregon coast.

"How far south does an iceberg flow?" Marks asked when told of the incident. "This is one for the oceanographers."

Marks said he doubted that the bears ever had been in captivity. The carcasses first were noticed Sunday by a small boy. He reported his discovery but no one paid any attention until Monday, when a motel owner, Mrs. Flora Lauritsen, saw the bears on the beach near her motel.

Building Permits For June Total $104,574 Here

Roseburg building permits for the month of June totaled $104,574 as compared with $44,530 for the same period last year.

Twenty-three permits were issued for the total valuation figure. One new dwelling permit for the Catholic Church rectory valued at $40,500 was issued. The rest were for repairs and alterations.

In May, 37 permits were issued for a total valuation of $135,886. Of this amount, $65,160 was for six new dwellings and $22,500 for one new commercial building.

Building permit valuations nearly doubled during the first six months of 1958 compared with the same period in 1957. Total valuation was $475,969, compared with last year's $245,113. Clarence N. Currier, city building inspector, said.

Eisenhower Administration Goes All Out In An Effort To Beat Foreign Aid Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration went all out Tuesday in an effort to beat a 600-million-dollar cut in foreign aid funds.

The White House said President Eisenhower is so concerned that he intends to open his news conference Wednesday by reading a prepared statement on the matter.

Secretary of State Dulles told a news conference the cut made by the House Appropriations Committee poses "a grave threat to the security of the United States."

He said Eisenhower may bottomhole Congress members and appeal on nationwide radio-television for restoration of the funds to the foreign aid appropriations bill.

Republican congressional leaders, after their regular weekly meeting with Eisenhower, quoted the President as saying the cut would jeopardize U.S. foreign policy.

Meanwhile in the House chamber, Rep. Otto E. Passman (D-La.) opened debate on the foreign aid money bill by expressing hope House leaders and "top echelon officials" in the administration "would relent their pressure tactics and accept an amount based on need."

Passman, head of the Appropriations subcommittee which made the cut, said the United States is not in a position to "dissipate its wealth. All the money in the bill, he said, must be borrowed because there is no Treasury surplus."

In the meeting with GOP congressional leaders, Eisenhower urged their support for overturning the House committee's action.

The President's appeal was reported at a news conference by Senate GOP leader William F. Knowland of California.

Eisenhower originally asked Congress for $3,942,000,000 in foreign aid funds for the new fiscal year starting this Tuesday. In an authorization bill, which the President signed Monday, that amount was trimmed by about 300 million dollars.

Now the House Appropriations Committee, acting on separate legislation to provide actual mutual security funds — has voted to hold the amount to $3,678,092,000.

Plea Of Innocence Entered To Drunk Driving Charge

Edward Lavfuit McAlexander, 48, of 428 Hooker Rd., Roseburg, pleaded innocent Monday before District Judge Warren A. Woodruff to a drunk driving charge.

The court admitted him to $300 bail. He was cited about 11 p.m. Saturday night on Highway 99 near the Sutherland cutoff by state police.

A 29-year-old student, working this summer for the forest service out of the Steamboat ranger station, was fined $20 and costs by Judge Woodruff for falsely representing his age. Juli Jalajas was cited for purchasing liquor at an establishment on 99th last Saturday. He said he was 21.

A complaint against Maurice Southwick, 30, Canas Valley rancher, alleging malicious destruction of an animal, was dismissed by Judge Woodruff Monday for lack of evidence. William E. Mask claimed the rancher maliciously destroyed his dog on June 9 with a .22 caliber pistol.
