NEWPORT, Ore. (AP)—A helicopter and two skin divers are helping gouge an underwater trench through a rocky ledge under the booming surf at the ocean's edge here.

Tuesday they detonated 900 pounds of dynamite as they began pushing the trench beyond 200 feet. They have a quarter of a mile to go.

The blasts send towering columns of water into the air in a spectacular display. The trench is to hold a waste pipeline from the Georgia-Pacific Corp.'s kraft paper mill at Toledo, several miles inland. An early try at dumping the waste near the water's edge brought complaints from coastal residents. The company now is going to dump it well out, and dissipate it there through a series of fingers reaching out from the main pipe.

Surf Too Rough

But the surf is so rough explosive charges can not be placed from a boat.

That brought the idea of using a helicopter. Wesley Lematta of Portland—the man who made the famed 'copper rescue' of crewmen from the holed dredge Roswell at Coos Bay a year ago—is at the controls.

The helicopter first dropped two inflated truck inner tubes, each anchored with a block of concrete, to provide a floating headquarters in the surf.

Then skindivers Fred Anderson and Don Clark of Toledo were let down to the float, and dynamite was lowered to them.

The men then placed the dynamite, attached detonating fuses, onto the surface and were lifted to shore.

Then boom! First blasting caused a number of shattered windows in the area. Now it is done only at high tide, reducing damage and increasing the spectacular display of the water column sent into the air.

The project is expected to take some time to complete.

Geddes Supports Knowland's Stand On Rebel Kidnaps

Paul E. Geddes, Republican nominee for Congress from the 4th Oregon district, wired Senator William Knowland of California today, commending his stand which demanded the release of the kidnaped U.S. citizens in Cuba.

Sen. Knowland has demanded the government resume military shipments to President Fulgencio Batista's government — suspended because of the revolt — unless the rebels released their victims within 48 hours. Knowland said rebel leader Fidel Castro should be branded a "bandit, extortionist and kidnaper" unless the Americans were promptly returned.

"I feel certain that the majority of our people agree with you wholeheartedly," Geddes wired, "despite the fact that the congressman from this district for some time has been a loud defender of Latin American revolutionaries."

"The incumbent's blatant criticism of American foreign policy and his open advocacy of revolution in Latin American countries has constantly embarrassed his constituents," Geddes said. "Perhaps he should now search his own soul and consider whether his insinuations are not in some measure responsible for these latest outrages against our citizens, as well as for those against Vice President and Mrs. Nixon recently."

Geddes declared that "many of us here find it odd indeed that the incumbent congressman has been so vocal in advocating revolution in Latin America, yet is now so silent when the lives of American citizens are at stake there."

HONOLULU (AP)—A pacifist anthropologist, abandoning his challenge to "sink me to take me," sailed out of the Pacific H-bomb test area today under arrest for violating Atomic Energy Commission regulations.

The chief scientist of the Coast Guard cutter Planetree, Earle L. Reynolds, respected, scholarly professor, steered his 50-foot yacht Phoenix toward the mid-Pacific atoll of Kwajalein.

The cutter halted the yacht Tuesday 65 miles inside the zone and forced it to leave the forbidden danger area. Coastguardmen boarded the craft and arrested Reynolds, an outspoken foe of nuclear testing.

An official announcement said Reynolds sailed his craft into the prohibited area despite two warnings since Sunday.

NEW YORK (AP)—Poet Ezra Pound and his wife were en route to Italy today on the Italian liner Cristoforo Colombo.

Pound, 72, plans to live in northern Italy in a villa near his daughter, Mary, the wife of Prince Boris de Rachewitz, an Egyptologist.

After an early boarding Tuesday, Pound kept to himself in his cabin. He declined to talk with reporters.

Pound was released last April 21 from a Washington, D.C., mental hospital, where he spent 13 years.

The poet had been accused of treason because of pro-Fascist broadcasts he made from Italy in World War II. He won dismissal from the charge on a psychiatric finding that he would never be competent to stand trial.

COULDN'T TAKE IT NIKKO, Japan (AP)—Toshiyuki Fukushima of Osaka hiked up to the head of the 330-foot Kegon Falls to commit suicide.

Japan is having its worst drought in 52 years. Fukushima, 18, found the falls had dried up.

"It startled me so much I decided not to jump," he told police.

Game Of Chicken Played With Guns; 1 Teenager Dead

VICTORVILLE, Calif. (AP)—Authorities say three teenagers played a game of "chicken" with rifles—with these results: Earl Watson, 19, is dead.

His brother, David, 17, is in jail, booked for investigation of manslaughter.

Donald Burns, 18, a friend, is being held as a material witness. Sheriff's officers gave this account:

The three, friends at Bell Gardens, a Los Angeles suburb, went hunting Monday on the Mojave Desert south of Victorville. When they couldn't find game they fired at bottles, rocks and cans.

Then they started shooting near each other to see if they could make the others flinch.

"We shot anywhere from three to five feet from another fellow's shoes," said Burns, who said he quit the game and returned to their car.

From behind a bush, Earl fired a shot into the pole behind which David lay. Then David fired a shot. No sound came from Earl, and David yelled: "Did I hit you?"

There was no reply. Then Earl rolled from behind the bush and down a sandy embankment, a bullet in his side. He was dead when the others got him to a hospital.

A coroner's officer said David was "filled with remorse."

Dr. Earl Watson, a physician, said his sons had been hunting together before.

"They had both been taught to use guns," he told a newsman at the family home.

"Earl was a student at Snow College in Ephraim, Utah—an excellent student. But don't hide his death."

"It may save the life of some other boy who reads it."

Auto Accident Was Head-on, Not Rear-End Crash

A motor vehicle accident shortly after midnight Saturday on NE Stephens Street which resulted in minor injuries to Mrs. Max Gano was a head-on collision instead of one from the rear as reported Monday.

Mrs. Gano, 43, 1235 NE Cobb St., suffered face lacerations and an injured leg when a car driven by Byron Lee Auer, 19, 4600 SE Hogue, cut across the center line into the oncoming northbound lane of traffic, according to the sheriff's office. His vehicle collided with the pickup truck driven by Mr. Gano, 46.

It was reported Monday both cars were going south when the accident occurred early Sunday instead of early Saturday morning as previously stated. The Gano car was traveling north, a sheriff's office report noted.

The house was occupied by Mrs. Essie Mae Ellison, an Army sergeant and his wife and their two children.

Turbulent Air Blamed For Crash Of Plane

OKANOGAN, Wash. (AP)—Investigators believe turbulent air was the probable cause of a Forest Service plane crash last week on Eight Mile Ridge in the Upper Methow Valley.

Four men were killed in the crash of the twin-engine plane that carried supplies for ground fire fighters.

Paul Taylor, an assistant on the Okanogan National Forest staff, said Tuesday it is believed the pilot felt a downdraft and attempted to make a left turn.

"But it was too late and the plane must have stalled and turned over," he said.

The crash was investigated by a five-man Forest Service board.

'Nauseous Conduct' Judges Words For Immigration Head

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Judge Edward P. Murphy refused Tuesday to hold District Immigration Director Bruce Barber in contempt of court for deporting William Heikkila but he did accuse the immigration service officer of "nauseous" conduct.

Heikkila, 52, was seized on a San Francisco street April 18 by Barber's agents and deported to Finland although there were still proceedings in court dealing with his appeal from deportation as an alien tax-communist.

A few hours after the draftsman was taken to Canada without notification of his wife or attorney, his lawyer got a restraining order.

The federal court judge said Barber could not be held in contempt for this because Heikkila was out of the country when the restraining order was issued.

Couldn't Halt Actions The appeal proceedings pending at the time could not halt Barber's action either, Judge Murphy ruled.

Nevertheless, he said in a 21-page opinion Barber's conduct was "nauseous and futile" and "shocks the conscience."

"A more patent example of official judgment is difficult to conjure," the opinion continued. "Were his seizure of Heikkila not fraught with so much peril to the rest of us, it would border on the ludicrous."

"In our scheme of law the rights of a citizen are inalienable."

Judge Murphy reiterated a previous order forbidding Heikkila's deportation, pending final appeal of the case he has been fighting 11 years.

The international furor caused by the deportation of the one-armed native of Finland forced immigration authorities in Washington to return him here April 25.

Heikkila has lived in the United States all but the first 2½ months of his life.

Army Authorized Shots At Moon

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N.M. (AP)—A man partly responsible for sending Explorers I and III into space says that the Army has been authorized to fire one, or possibly two, lunar probes.

These will not strike the moon or land on it, Dr. W. H. Pickering said, but rather "will carry some simple instruments and send back information to us from the vicinity of the moon."

Dr. Pickering is head of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory at Pasadena, Calif., which helped to put these moon probes into space.

He spoke to 400 top U.S. military and industrial leaders in the missile field attending the Army's Operation Ammo — a demonstration of weapons.

The Army's Jupiter, and intermediate range missile, will launch these moon probes into space instead of the Redstone rocket which blasted off the Explorers, Pickering said.

Hawaii Statehood Maybe Next Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hawaii statehood? Next year, perhaps, but not this year.

That was the appraisal today of members of Congress close to the situation in the wake of final congressional approval of statehood for Alaska.

In the Senate, where a committee-approved Hawaii statehood bill hangs on the calendar, Democratic Whip Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) conditioned further Senate action on House passage of the Hawaii bill.

In the House, Rep. Leo O'Brien (D-N.Y.), chairman of the Territories subcommittee, said a favorable vote in the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs is the most that can be hoped for this year.

Considering prior commitments, that vote is expected about July 9, or possibly a week later.

Eisenhower Accuses House Committee Of Taking Risk With Security In Aid Cut

by MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower accused the House Appropriations Committee Wednesday of taking reckless risks with the nation's security in voting to cut foreign aid funds nearly 600 million dollars.

In a statement at a news conference, Eisenhower said emphatically the committee "has taken action that seriously endangers our security."

Eisenhower said further: "It is my deep conviction that reductions of a size contemplated by the committee will have grave consequences in portions of the free world, and to our nation's security — and will encourage Communist imperialism."

Eisenhower's statement was his third appeal in a week for restoration of the committee-voted reduction. He originally asked Congress for $3,942,000,000 in fiscal year security funds for the fiscal year which started Tuesday.

Nothing More to Say The President added that he was going to have nothing more to say on the Adams case.

But another question touched on the same controversy. It was whether the President has given any thought, or made any inquiry of the Internal Revenue Service, with a view to obtaining Goldfine's income tax returns.

Eisenhower replied he has made no such inquiry because it wasn't until Wednesday morning that he heard there was any possibility that the Goldfine tax returns might figure in the case.

BUDGET — Eisenhower expressed hope that if Congress will display "a little more common sense in making appropriations, then it may be possible to make some real progress toward balancing the federal budget in the fiscal year starting July 1, 1959."

Acknowledging the deficit this year is likely to be about 10 billion dollars, Eisenhower called it very difficult to forecast what the situation will be in the next fiscal year.

Rubber Workers Granted Increase To Avert Strike

CLEVELAND (AP)—An 8-cent hourly pay raise for 33,000 rubber workers is the heart of an agreement reached here last night between the union and the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. and the B. F. Goodrich Co.

It averted a strike threatened for midnight last night. The agreement came less than an hour before the deadline.

The pay raise, effective with the June 30 period, brings the average Goodyear hourly straight-time wage to $2.60. The Goodrich rate now will be $2.59.

The United Rubber Workers, represented by International President L. S. Buckmaster, agreed with the companies to put off further negotiations on pensions and insurance improvements until the full two-year contract expires next April 15.

"We believe the settlement compensates for the cost-of-living increases that have taken place during the year," Buckmaster said.

The wage agreement must be ratified by the majority of local unions.

Mafia Mobsters Infiltration Of Industries Told

WASHINGTON (AP)—Los Angeles Police Capt. James Hamilton charged Wednesday that Mafia mobsters are muscling in on West Coast industries and labor unions at an alarming rate. He called for a lift from Congress to halt the infiltration.

Hamilton urged the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee to support legislation to empower some federal agency to send to local police information about organized crime the local officers can't get themselves.

"It is impossible to deal with organized crime without some such central agency," Hamilton testified. The Mafia, he said, is a tightly knit underworld power whose department has found it impossible to infiltrate, because "they don't take in outsiders."

Hamilton, head of the Los Angeles police intelligence division, gave his report of West Coast gangster operations as the committee prepared to question organized crime the local officers can't get themselves.
