

SIXTY-EIGHT FRIENDS AND RELATIVES honored Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kinney of Myrtle Creek on their golden wedding anniversary by calling at the reception held June 29 from 2 to 5 p.m. at their home. The Rev. Cyril Dorset of the Methodist Church conducted an informal ceremony of thanksgiving and called attention to the testimony of success of a Christian marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Kinney are pictured above cutting the first piece of their golden wedding cake. (Picture by Warren Studio, Myrtle Creek.)

Personal congratulations were given by the many who could not attend. Mrs. Beulah Kinney, daughter-in-law, was in charge of the arrangements and was receptionist. Mrs. Flavia Engler of Salem, neighbor and friend of the Kinneys for 50 years, served the cake. Jeanette Kinney, granddaughter, in charge of the guest book. Jerry Kinney, grandson, assisted in greeting guests.

Roy Kinney was born at Bristol, Ind., and Emma Fisher Kinney was born at Aberdeen, S.D. The couple was married at Verdon, S.D., June 24 in 1908. They drove six miles of their honeymoon by horse and buggy to a depot and then 70 miles by train to Lake Kameska. They both taught school in South Dakota before they were married.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM ROY SMITH, above, who were recently married at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Fairfield Sr., in Canyonville, are pictured above as they were ready to leave on their honeymoon to be spent in Western Washington. The bride was Sandra Lee Fairfield before her marriage.

Miss Sandra Lee Fairfield became the bride of William Roy Smith at a very lovely ceremony performed by the Rev. Howard Patton of Gold Hill at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Fairfield Sr., in Canyonville. Prior to the ceremony, Mr. Howard Walton sang "Because."

The bridal party took its place before a very lovely background framed by a large mirror flanked by a basket arrangement of lilies and tall fern. The bride, given in marriage by her father, was charming in a tulle gown of turquoise with white accessories. She carried a white Bible topped with an arrangement of white daisies centered with a red rose. Miss Patricia Fairfield acted as sister of the bride while Miss Mary Mason of Canyonville was maid of honor. Miss Fairfield wore a blue tulle gown with a white corsage. The bridegroom wore a white tulle gown with a white corsage. The ceremony was held with the bride and groom cutting the wedding cake.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Wade Worthington Jr., finished cutting and serving the cake while her aunt, Mrs. Roger Fairfield Jr., served punch. The bride's mother was dressed in beige silk print; the bridegroom's mother wore a white suit. Their corsages were of pink and white roses. The bride, a 1958 graduate of Days Creek High School, was valedictorian of her class. She was very active in both school and 4-H activities. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Fairfield who live on Woods Creek. Mr. Smith also attended the Days Creek High School and is engaged in the lumber industry. He is the son of Mrs. Merrie Zimmerman of Salinas Beach, Calif., who with her twin daughters, Miss Judy and Miss Julia, came north to be present at the wedding. Also coming from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Wade Worthington Jr., of Callahan, Calif., and Miss Pat Fairfield who is spending the summer with the Worthingtons. Mr. and Mrs. Smith are living near Tillamook following a wedding trip through western Washington.

SMORGASBORD HONORS DEPARTMENT OFFICERS

Daughters of the Union Veterans of the Civil War, Florence Nightingale Tent 15, smorgasbord was given at the home of Virginia Marr to honor the Oregon Department officers, Ruth Plumer, department president; Jean Stender, secretary; Wilma Rooke, chief of staff; and Marion Patrick, Guide and delegate-at-large. More Society Will Appear In Monday's News-Review

ONE HUNDRED SEVENTY-EIGHT guests attended the beautiful double wedding ceremony June 27 at 8 p.m. at the First Methodist Church in Myrtle Creek, when the Rev. Cyril Dorset read the impressive double ring ceremony uniting in marriage Bonnie Jean Cathcart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Otto Cathcart, and Phil Oren Starbuck, son of

Mr. and Mrs. Don L. Starbuck, and Judith Rae Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen A. Brown, and Victor L. Starbuck, also the son of the Don Starbuck, all of Myrtle Creek. Front row, candlelighters, Beverly Doggett and Linda McCoy; flower girl, Renee Bare, and ring bearer, Vernon Bare. Back row: Lynda Willis, Billie Jean Ogborn, Sharon on O'Neill, Mrs. Jerry Jones, Mrs. Elaine Phillips, Jeanine Murray (Mr. and Mrs. Victor Starbuck), (Mr. and Mrs. Phil Starbuck), John Bardwell, Earl Bumgarner, John Losey, Jim Bryant, Gary Brown and Eddie Cearley. (Picture by Jerry Warren of Warren's Studio, Myrtle Creek.)

The two brides are cousins and have lived in Myrtle Creek about nine years. The two bridegrooms are brothers and have lived here nearly all of their lives.

The church was beautifully decorated with baskets of pink and white gladioli and two tall floor candelabrum. The two couples had as their candlelighters Beverly Doggett and Linda McCoy, who wore pastel colored gowns and little caplets of flowers and net. Little Renee Bare was flower girl and Vernon Bare was ring bearer. They are cousins of the two brides. A Hasbargen, niece of the bridegrooms, of Medford also acted as flower girl.

Judith Brown was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white ballerina-length gown of net and lace over satin. It was fashioned with a stand-up collar and full length sleeves. Her waist-length train was held in a crown of seed pearls. Her bridal bouquet was an orchid surrounded by a cascade of pink carnations.

Jeanine Murry was maid of honor. Lynda Willis, cousin of the bride, and Sharon O'Neill were her bridesmaids. Both Miss Brown's and Miss Cathcart's attendants wore pastel hued gowns of ballerina-length with matching caplets of net and flowers. They all carried nosegays of white carnations with streamers to match their gowns.

Victor Starbuck had as his best man, Earl Bumgarner. His ushers were Gary Brown, brother of the bride, and Jim Bryant, cousin of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Elaine Phillips was the matron of honor for her sister, Bonnie Cathcart. Her gown and accessories were similar to those worn by the other attendants.

Miss Cathcart was given in marriage by her father and was radiant in a ballerina-length gown of lace and net over satin. The neck was fashioned with a stand-up pixie collar of net and lace with alternate panels of net and lace over the skirt. A three-inch headband of lace and pearls caught her illusion veil made of sheer net trimmed with matching lace. She carried an orchid bouquet surrounded by a cascade of carnations. Her two bridesmaids were Mrs. Jerry Jones of Myrtle Creek and Billie Jean Ogborn of Portland.

Best man for Phil Starbuck was John Bardwell. His ushers were John Losey of Blachly, Ore., and Ed Cearley.

"Because" and "The Lord's Prayer" were sung by Mrs. Earl Jones who was accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Leo Ulan.

Immediately following the impressive ceremony, a reception given by the bride's parents was held in the church parlors. Each couple had a lovely three tiered wedding cake. Aunts of the brides, Mrs. C. W. Bare and Mrs. Phil Willis, cut the cakes. Mrs. Keith Bare, an aunt, poured the punch and Mrs. G. S. Strong, aunt of the bridegrooms, poured punch. The gifts were opened by Miss Beverly Wegher, Miss Sheila Shircliff, Miss Linda Kinnamon and Miss Dorothy Doggett. Miss Roberta Farrell and Miss Alha Ireland attended the guest books.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Victor Starbuck left for their wedding trip to Medford and Southern Oregon. She chose as her traveling attire an ice-pink sheath dress with matching jacket and white accessories and the orchid corsage from her bouquet. The bride and bridegroom both attended Myrtle Creek High School and will be at home at Tri-City. He is employed by the Brown and Thiess Logging Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Starbuck went to Portland for their wedding trip. She chose as her going-away attire a two-piece coral suit with white accessories and wore the orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet. They are now at home at the Evans apartments in Myrtle Creek. Phil is employed by Frazier Logging Co.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Cathcart of Portland; Mr. and Mrs. Ab Ramey and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Cowan of Drain; Mrs. E. Babbitt of Sutherlin; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Callahan, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Baird and Pauline and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Haskins, all of Roseburg; Mrs. David Hardkoph of Canyonville; Mr. and Mrs. Don Hasbargen of Medford; Mrs. Archie Bates of Covina, Calif.; Mrs. C. J. Starbuck of Salyer, Calif.; and Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Strong of Milwaukee.

The Camas Valley Methodist Church was the scene of a lovely wedding of late June when Charlotte L. Barcus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Southwick of Camas Valley, became the bride of Ronald P. Munch, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Munch, also of Camas Valley.

Daisies, stock and tiny roses formed the basket arrangements and the altar bouquets. Two white bells were attached to the velvet panel in back of the altar by satin ribbons with tiny flowers. The aisle pews were marked by tiny pink roses tied in satin bows.

Mrs. Lucile Grimm, pianist, played softly as the guests assembled and accompanied Mrs. Ted Heilman as she sang "Because." After the couple had repeated the nuptial vows, Mrs. Heilman sang "The Wedding Prayer" while the bride and bridegroom knelt at the altar.

Miss Linda Parret and Miss Phillis Wiley lighted the altar candles. They wore pink linen sheath dresses with matching hats and corsages.

The impressive double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. R. W. Knight in the presence of a large group of friends and relatives.

The bride advanced to the altar on the arm of her grandfather, Fred Southwick. She was lovely in a floor-length gown and train. Her princess-style gown was of bridal satin with lace yoke and sleeves. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a satin cap covered with lace and seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white gladioli dotted with tiny green fir branches and held with satin ribbons on a white Bible.

Mrs. Dale Ross, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. She wore a pale yellow chiffon floor-length gown and a chiffon over lace hat. She carried gladioli and yellow rosebuds. Miss Dorothy Looney and Miss Sherrill Moody were bridesmaids. They wore floor-length gowns of pale pink chiffon and hats of pleated chiffon on satin. They carried pink rosebuds. Marlene Southwick and Mary Beth Southwick, sisters of the bride, were flower girls. They wore printed white nylon over yellow tulle dresses trimmed in yellow lace. They carried white baskets filled with rose petals. Fred Lee Southwick, brother of the bride, was ring bearer. He carried a satin and lace pillow topped by a satin bow.

Dick Delaney was best man. James Nicholas, cousin of the bridegroom, and Dale Ross, the bridegroom's brother-in-law, acted as ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Southwick chose a yellow brocade sheath dress and picture hat. Her accessories were white and she wore lavender gladioli. Mrs. Munch, mother of the bridegroom, wore a pale blue lace dress with navy blue accessories. Her corsage was of red gladioli. The lawn reception following the ceremony was held at the R. E. Munch residence. Mrs. George Jacinto, Mrs. Paul Munch and Mrs. Howard Mosely, aunts of the bridegroom, cut and served the beautiful six-tiered wedding cake which was trimmed with pale pink and yellow roses and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom between two wedding bells and surrounded by a sugar lattice. Mrs. Leonard John, cousin of the guest book, Miss LeAnn Moody and Miss Maxine Dancer were in charge of the gift table. Mrs. Virgil Moody and Mrs. Arthur Brown served the punch and Mrs. Robert Wheeler and Mrs. Doris Lamm served the coffee. Mrs. Erwin Smith was in charge of the catering. Miss Jacqueline Duncan, friend of the bride, caught the bridal bouquet and Dick Delaney, best man, caught the blue garter.

For traveling, the bride chose a white raw silk sheath dress with white accessories and a corsage of red gladioli.

After spending their honeymoon at Crater and Diamond lakes and other scenic points in Oregon, the new Mr. and Mrs. Munch will make their home at 3121 SW Dillard Highway, Roseburg. Guests coming from out of town included Mrs. George Jacinto, Mrs. Paul Munch and Mrs. Howard Mosely, aunts of the bridegroom, all of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard John of Roseburg; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Southwick of Looking Glass; Mrs. Bernice Temple of Portland; Mrs. C. E. Smith, Mike and Fred, The Dalles; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cocks of Roseburg; and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Nicholson of Porter Creek.
