Communist Mobs Tear Down U.S., British Flags

BERLIN (AP) — Communist-led mobs tore down American and British flags flying over the U.S. and British missions in Potsdam Friday in protest against Western actions in the Middle East.

Members of a mob of 2,500 East Germans wrote "Americans Go Home" on the U.S. banner, then hoisted it again, the official East German news agency ADN reported.

The mob, made up of workers released from factories demanded that Americans in the mission come out and face them.

Another mob later showed up in front of the British mission and tore down the flag there.

Official sources said the United States and Britain almost certainly will protest to Russia.

ADN said the Potsdam mob surged up to the American mission "full of wrath and indignation over the brutal Anglo-American aggression in the Middle East."

Workers, women and youngsters in the crowd joined in singing communist songs before the mission building.

The East German news agency made no mention of any police protection afforded the American mission.

Tenmile Group Sets Open House Shower July 25

By MRS. WALTER COATS Friends and relatives are invited to an open house for the Tenmile Community Building July 25 at 7:30 p.m.

Injured, and in "good condition" today at the Myrtle Creek hospital, was Ted S. Ferguson of Los Angeles, 61. He suffered a broken shoulder and broken right leg when his car was hit broadside shortly before noon Wednesday by a vehicle driven by James J. Backen of Roseburg.

Backen suffered only a cut over his right eye, but damage to his car and the Ferguson vehicle was reported as total.

According to state police, the accident near Azalea junction occurred when Ferguson pulled off onto the right shoulder of the highway to let traffic pass, then made a left turn onto the road after Bowler's car had gone by.

Ferguson, a former minor league baseball pitcher and current manager of the San Francisco Chinese ball club, was slated to pitch in the annual Old Timers baseball game in Los Angeles next month.

U. S. Embassy Windows Broken By Mob

Meanwhile, a side demonstration developed at the British Embassy, opposite the Kremlin. The crowd there numbered some 1,000, rowdy but not in the ugly mood of those in front of the U.S. building.

Shoed into Streets This crowd surged into the British Embassy courtyard and hung placards. After letting them demonstrate for a quarter of an hour or so the police shoed these demonstrators into the street.

At the U.S. embassy, most of the windows in the front rooms of the first five floors were shattered. A few were broken on the sixth floor.

Those in the crowd carried placards saying "Shame On American 'democracy,'" "U. G. Gangsters," "Hands Off Lebanon" and "Far And Feathers For Dulles."

One youngster shimmied up a drain pipe to a third-floor balcony and placed on it a placard saying "Long Live Arab Unity." He slid down the pipe and then shined up it again with a portrait of Gamal Abdel Nasser, president of the United Arab Republic.

It was the biggest demonstration in Moscow since the victory celebrations of World War II.

As the demonstration raged on into the evening, Thompson had made no formal protest to the Soviet government but it was considered certain he would do so later.

Vancouver Island's Last Water Link To Mainland Cut

VICTORIA, B. C. (AP) — Vancouver Island's last water link with the Canadian mainland was snapped off Friday by a strike against the Black Ball ferry line.

The island's 250,000 residents could turn only to air transport or detour through the United States to reach Canadian soil.

Ferries operated by the State of Washington still ply to Victoria and nearby Sidney.

Black Ball was struck by the line's senior officers, even though the operations had been taken over by the provincial government of British Columbia as an emergency measure.

The National Assn. of Marine Engineers and the Canadian Merchant Service Guild threatened to strike Black Ball last month. The province took over the operation June 23 under emergency provisions of the Civil Defense Act.

At 5 a.m. Friday the Marine Engineers set up picket lines at the company's mainland terminal, halting ferry service between Vancouver and Nanaimo, island docking point for the line.

The provincial government issued a call for volunteers to man the ships on an emergency basis.

A statement by the Marine Engineers charged the government had taken "a genuine or effective action" to settle the controversy over a wage increase. The unions ask a 19 per cent boost; the company has offered 8.

"The company has been under no pressure of any kind to negotiate in good faith," said the union statement.

58 Weary Sioux Indians Return From Show Flop

NEW YORK (AP) — Fifty-eight weary Sioux Indians, hungry and nearly broke, arrived here Thursday night from Brussels where they had whopped it up in a Wild West show that flopped.

They weren't sure how they were going to get from New York to their reservation at Rosebud, S. D. Some had sold their feathered headdresses to raise wampum to get this far.

Chief Iron Shell, their leader, said the Indians had been promised $75 a week, plus laundry and quarters, but the show folded after a month at the World's Fair.

After the show closed Sunday, the performers—besides the Indians there were about 150 cowboys, cowgirls and dancers—got in touch with the American Embassy in Brussels. The Embassy advanced $180 each and chartered the plane that brought them here.

After almost six hours of questioning, Hogan admitted beating and drowning John Thomas Winslow, Lillie said.

"There was a lot of bitter blood between the two kids," Lillie said. "Hogan said he struck Winslow with a homemade paddle and then pummeled him."

Two White Men Badly Beaten After Bombing

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Two badly beaten white men were arrested last night shortly after dynamite rocked two houses in this city's third racial flareup of 1958.

Police quoted the men as saying they were attacked by a group of Negroes. The men, whom police would not identify, were picked up at a hospital where they had gone for treatment of cuts and bruises.

Earlier, tension erupted into dynamite in an old section gradually evolving into a Negro neighborhood. The houses bombed belonged to white and Negro families living next door to each other.

The explosions occurred in a neighborhood racially taut since the change-over from white to Negro residents began. A huge cross was burned in the area several months ago.

A Negro, who asked that his name be withheld, said the two white men were caught and beaten about a block from the explosion. He would not say how many Negroes were involved in the beating.

Portland Police Thwart Attempt On Life Of Man

PORTLAND (AP) — Multnomah County sheriff's deputies moved swiftly Thursday night to protect a man who said his life had been threatened by a number of boys at Montaville Park in the eastern edge of Portland.

Four carloads of deputies nabbed five youths in the case on charges of inciting a riot.

The youngsters, who are from 15 to 17-years-old, were lodged in the county juvenile home.

Sheriff's deputies said they were called by Clyde P. Edwards, who said several teenagers had accosted him at the park in the daytime with switchblade knives. He added that they threatened to get him Thursday night.

Deputies went to the Edwards house Thursday night and made the arrests when the teenagers showed up later. Officers said the first thing they had to do was take a rifle away from Edwards, who said he had planned to protect himself with it.

The boys were arrested outside the house later.

Edwards said he never saw any of the boys before they threatened him at the park.

Water Resources Board Approves McKenzie Project

SALEM (AP) — The state Water Resources Board Thursday ordered that part of the Upper McKenzie River Basin be designated for power development. It thus cleared the way for a proposed hydroelectric project of the Eugene Water & Electric Board.

Designated for power use were the McKenzie River from below Middle Falls to below the mouth of Smith River, and Smith River and Bunchgrass Creek.

The order is final. But the board said that state agencies that object can file their data, before Aug. 18. Then, if the board finds that its order needs changing, it could amend it.

The board also said that it would review the plans for the Eugene project to make sure that it doesn't interfere with recreation, fish or wildlife resources.

State Engineer Lewis A. Stanley said he would grant a construction permit as soon as possible. Then the project would go before the water board.

A good share of the long meeting was spent in a discussion of whether the board has authority to review the Eugene project. The authority in the law is vague, but the board said it would assume that it has the authority.

Lightning Again Flashes Across Southern Oregon

Lightning flashed across Southern and Eastern Oregon again Thursday night as the fierce side of the state's cool air wave showed its teeth for the third straight night.

No major fires were reported in any of the state's range or forest areas despite the intense thunderstorm activity.

Smokejumpers and ground crews were battling some smaller blazes in Southern Oregon Friday morning. Patrol planes were to fly over woods and grazing areas to check for sleeper fires, as most lookouts have been fogged in.

The Rogue River Valley again bore the brunt of the storm, as high winds blew down trees and caused power and telephone line difficulties for the third night in a row. Only .02 inch of rain fell in Thursday night's storm.

67 Fires Set

A total of 67 known fires have been set by lightning in the valley in the three nights of storm.

Severe lightning storms were also reported in the Baker grazing area of Eastern Oregon and in the Deschutes forest areas of the central part of the state. No major fires were reported, however.

Fire control officers for the Bureau of Land Management and the Forest Service said showers with the lightning may have taken care of any fires. John Hunt of the BLM and Guy Johnson of the Forest Service said their crews were looking for additional trouble Friday night and Saturday with more thunderstorm activity predicted.

The Weather Bureau said the cool air wave which has provided morning cloudiness and lower temperatures for much of the state should continue to the end of the week. Light showers for Western Oregon and fair weather in Eastern Oregon were forecast for the early part of next week.

Pendleton topped the state Thursday with 99 degrees. It was 91 in Redmond, 90 in Baker, 84 in Grants Pass and 80 in Roseburg, Salem, Medford and Eugene. Lakeview recorded a 68 and 47 inch of rain.

Supplemental Bill Of Appropriations Gets By Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $3,131,097,797 supplemental appropriations bill was approved Friday by the House Appropriations Committee.

The bulk of the total, $2,605,401,000, was for the Atomic Energy Commission and included 45 million dollars to start work on a convertible plutonium reactor at The Hanford Atomic Works.

The measure now goes to the House floor for action next week.

The 45 million dollar appropriation for the Hanford reactor represented a victory for the Washington, which had pressed vigorously for funds to begin immediate construction.

The reactor, with a total cost of 145 million, had been opposed by President Eisenhower. It will produce plutonium, but can be converted to generate electric power, also.

Rep. Don Magnuson (D.Wash.), a member of the appropriations committee, led the fight to keep the item in the bill. It faces another hurdle in the Senate Appropriations Committee.

The measure provides supplemental funds for various federal agencies for the 1959 fiscal year. The total is $85,220,643 less than the President had asked.

Communists Resume Talks On Fliers' Release

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany said Friday that it has resumed secret talks with the United States on the release of the nine U. S. Army helicopter prisoners.

The East German Foreign Ministry said U. S. officials called at the ministry Wednesday and Thursday to reopen the stalemated negotiations.

The nine American prisoners—eight officers and a sergeant of the 3rd Armored Division in West Germany—were seized June 7 when their helicopter strayed across the border in a storm.

The State Department apparently decided to reopen talks with East Germany after Russia spurned a series of U. S. demands for intervention in the case.
