

Goldfine Departs Without Committee Learning If He Gained Favorable Treatment

WASHINGTON — Bernard Goldfine left Washington Friday in the same manner in which he arrived — on a note of controversy. And, as with his coming, it involved Presidential Aide Sherman Adams.

As the millionaire industrialist and his wife were taking off by plane for Boston, a reporter asked Mrs. Goldfine whether they had visited their old friends, the Adamses for dinner.

But at the White House, Press Secretary James Hagerty said there was some misunderstanding. "Mr. Goldfine was not at Gov. Adams house last Thursday night," said Hagerty.

Stopped At Hotel

Hagerty said Adams had stopped by Goldfine's hotel to tell him goodbye Friday morning. And he said Mrs. Goldfine had seen Mrs. Adams on several occasions during the Goldfine's stay in Washington for the congressional hearings.

PLAIN TRUTH

"For whosoever shall call on the name of the Lord shall be saved." This sounds like the conclusion to the whole matter of salvation to those who do not investigate further. What a comforting doctrine and what a simple way to please God. It requires no change of attitude nor living, only a mental assent to the reality of God. This is the kind of religion that most people want and there are those religious teachers willing to assist them in feeling secure in this belief.

As we follow the teaching of Paul as found in this tenth chapter of Romans we find him declaring in verse 14, "How shall they call on Him in whom they have not believed, and how shall they believe in Him of whom they have not heard, and how shall they hear without a preacher?" Thus we find that it is essential that we hear or read God's Word in order to know how to call on Him.

A study of God's Word reveals this startling truth to those who hold the above theory; James 1: 22-23, "But he who hears the Word and does not hearers only, deceiving his own self." Calling on the name of the Lord includes studying His Word that we might have faith and doing the things commanded therein.

Eisenhower Sends Message To U. S. Marines In Lebanon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower told U. S. forces in and near Lebanon Saturday that they are there with no hostile intent toward anyone.

He said they came as friends to help the Lebanese people remain free.

"You are there at their invitation," Eisenhower said in a recorded four-minute radio message.

He warned the men against propaganda by skillful, ambitious men and against attempts to involve them in incidents.

Eisenhower repeated the message just before taking off by Army helicopter for a 24-hour rest at his Gettysburg, Pa. farm.

The message was transmitted by radio to the flagships of the U. S. 6th Fleet, and to Adm. James L. Holloway's flagship the Taconic.

U. S., Britain Facing Hostile Moves Of U.A.R.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON — Winding up Middle East strategy talks, top U. S. and British diplomats faced today the possibility of hostile moves by the United Arab Republic against U. S. forces in Lebanon and British troops in Jordan.

In a diplomatic effort to head off any counteraction the United States has warned the Cairo government that an attack on U. S. forces by Egyptian-Syrian military units would have grave consequences.

Interrupting his marathon talks with British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, Secretary of State Dulles is reported to have told a Senate committee Friday that he thought the Soviet Union might make some move to encourage U. A. R. President Nasser to act.

But two of the senators said Eisenhower was told prospects are for getting more.

It was suggested the Senate might restore 400 to 500 millions but the House would likely balk.

The House had cut the figure by at least 600 million dollars.

President Sees Special Session On Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower is reported to have dropped a hint he may call a special fall session of Congress if he doesn't get all the foreign aid funds he thinks are needed to meet the present crisis.

A legislator who attended an emergency White House meeting Friday night said Eisenhower — with-out making a threat — told the group of eight Republican and Democratic senators he hoped he wouldn't have to call a special session. Congress is expected to adjourn next month.

Getting the Middle East crisis, Eisenhower told the group he urgently wants the 397½ million dollars which the House cut from the $3,675,000,000 foreign aid bill. The Senate has not acted.

The White House meeting came amid reports that the administration is seeking additional money because of the Middle East situation.

It was suggested the Senate might restore 400 to 500 millions but the House would likely balk.

Senate Passes Own Version Of Defense Setup

WASHINGTON — Unanimous Senate passage spurred administration hopes today for a congressional compromise that would give President Eisenhower most of the broad powers he wants to streamline the Pentagon.

The measure now returns to the House which earlier approved a version containing some features strongly objected to by the President.

Washington U. Rowing Team Beats Ruskies

MOSCOW (AP) — The University of Washington eight Saturday avenged its defeat of the Soviet crew by outrowing Leningrad's Trud crew by 1½ lengths in the first appearance of an American rowing crew in Soviet waters.

The Americans led most of the way and finished clearly ahead of a roar of cheers from a crowd of more than 4,000 Soviet fans.

The Leningers beat the Americans by more than a length at Henley two weeks ago.

The competition was marked by friendliness and hospitality, in marked contrast to the political tension around the American Embassy.

The single sculls Tom McDonough of Philadelphia, a military policeman on leave from the Army, finished fourth. The winner was Olympic Champion Vladimir Ivanov.

Official times for the main event were 8 minutes, 18.6 seconds for the Huskies, 6:34.2 for Trud.

A public address system played the regatta and the man at the controls said the music was tape recorded from Voice of America broadcasts.

U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson, his wife and most of the American Embassy staff turned out for the event. Foreigners rarely are permitted in the reservoir, the center of a military installation.

Shooting War Not Likely Now, Believes Nixon

MINNEAPOLIS — Vice President Nixon said today the possibility of a shooting war in the Middle East now appears "somewhat remote."

Nixon, arriving here by plane for a brief visit to the Aquatennial Minneapolis Summer Festival, told an airport news conference that if there was to have been reaction to the U. S. troop movement into Lebanon it would have occurred at the time the Marines were going into that country.

The vice president said the chance of a shooting war was one of many factors weighed when this country decided to send troops to aid Lebanon's government in its current crisis.

"While some of the opposition to President Chamoun of Lebanon, and King Hussein of Jordan was fanatical nationalism, it also was instigated and fomented by the Soviet Union," Nixon said.

"Had it not been for the Soviet Union giving militarily to Nasser and Syria, there would not have been the instantaneous coup in Iraq and the unsettled situations in Jordan and Lebanon."

He said the quick overthrow of Iraq's monarchy was a clear indication that outside forces had been at work.

Nixon said there is "a clear distinction" between American forces going into Lebanon and the British-French invasion of the Suez Canal zone. He said the Suez invasion violated the United Nations charter because it was a cause of aggression.

Air Force Atlas Blasted Apart After Launching

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A missile, three-engine Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile exploded with a violent roar Saturday 45 seconds after it blasted skyward from its launching pad.

Failure of the control system which caused the thundering war weapon to break into two pieces was blamed by the Air Force for the failure.

Debris showered into the Atlantic Ocean several miles offshore after the 85-foot long missile blew apart in a huge flash of orange flame several thousand feet up in the sky.

The Atlas was the first in a new series housing the three engines needed to travel the full 6,000-mile intercontinental range.

It was the ninth Atlas fired since the nation's critical ICBM flight development program began 12 months ago. In previous tests only the two boosters were used on limited range flights.

The blast Saturday climaxed a heart-breaking week for Convair astronauts technicians. They had failed in three previous attempts to launch the missile.

Goldfine's Son Tries Suicide

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — H. Maxwell Goldfine, son of Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine, locked himself in a motel bathroom here Saturday and slashed himself on the face and body with a double-edged razor blade.

Rushed to a hospital in a police car, Goldfine was reported in good condition. Doctors said most of the wounds were superficial.

Goldfine's wife called police at 4:06 a. m., reporting that he had locked himself in the bathroom and "I think he is committing suicide."

Patrolman Donald G. Elie responded to the call.

Elie called to Goldfine through the locked bathroom door. There was no answer at first but after five minutes of persuasion he said Goldfine unlocked the door and walked out.

He was dressed only in shorts and covered with blood. Elie said "he must have cut himself 80 or 100 times."

Police were unable to find a motive for Goldfine's act immediately.

It is reported to have been upset over difficulties in which his father has been involved.

Feller, Robbie Voice TV Views In Senate Probe

WASHINGTON — Senate sports investigators today faced a tough problem affecting sports fans who like their baseball free on television.

Should officials of the national pastime, all by themselves, be allowed to cut down on TV and radio broadcasts of major league games?

Or as Bob Feller, Cleveland's former pitching great, put it yesterday before the Senate anti-monopoly subcommittee:

"Who's to say how much, and if baseball is important enough to take it away from them?"

Feller is now a baseball broadcaster himself. He said the question is tough to answer, and the minor leagues as well as the majors should be in on the decision.

Feller and Jackie Robinson, star Dodger infielder when the Bums were still in Brooklyn, were the final baseball witnesses in Senate hearings on House-passed sports legislation. The subcommittee headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), turns to pro football next week.

The bill would exempt from antitrust laws many sports practices dealing with player procurement and contracts. Sports authorities, under the bill, could regulate broadcasting activity.

The minors, supported by baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, contend TV competition is demolishing them at the gate.

Rep. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY) told the senators they might want to write in to the bill a limitation on blanket authority. He called their attention to an old baseball rule — since eliminated on advice of the Justice Department — designed to keep major league telecasts out of minor league territory when minor clubs were playing home games.

Feller aimed his sharpest deliveries at the lavish bonuses big league clubs are paying young prospects. Frick had estimated these come-to-me payments have totaled more than three million dollars this year alone.

"Ridiculous," Feller snorted. He said baseball must "really be in bad shape" to fling such money around to build up teams.

Robinson and Feller supported baseball's reserve clause, although they questioned whether a ceiling on the number of players controlled by major league teams would help the game.

The minors, supported by baseball's reserve clause, as well as club owners, a voice in selecting baseball's commissioner.
