Oregon's GOP, Demo Heads Split Over Adams Rap

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Democratic and Republican party leaders split in Oregon the past weekend over presidential assistant Sherman Adams.

The Republican state central committee supported Adams by refusing 21-15 to pass a motion to censure him.

Adams has been under heavy fire for accepting gifts from old friend Bernard Goldfine, a millionaire Boston industrialist.

An hour-long debate preceded the vote, the last major item of business as GOP leaders finished two days of pep talks at Salem for the November election campaign.

State chairman James Short was re-elected unanimously.

The Democratic State Central Committee censured Adams at a Portland meeting.

The committee members re-elected David Epps of Sweet Home as state chairman. Epps had no opposition. Other officers also were elected without opposition.

State Rep. Beulah Hand, Milwaukie, was named vice chairman, and Baker County Judge Lloyd Rea was re-elected secretary. Mrs. Irma Lindquist, Aurora, is the new treasurer.

Retiring Treasurer Dexter Fairbank, Portland, said the state Democratic treasury has a balance of more than $1,100.

Demo Nominee Choice Awaiting Oklahoma Vote

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Oklahoma Democrats choose tomorrow between two political newcomers seeking their party's gubernatorial nomination.

Clashing in a runoff primary after a bitter three-week campaign are the men who led a field of 11 in the general primary July 1. Neither received a majority of the votes, forcing the runoff.

They are J. Howard Edmondson, 32-year-old Tulsa County attorney, and W. P. (Bill) Atkinson, 32, millionaire developer who built his home town of Midwest City. The winner will meet Republican Phil Ferguson of Woodward and independent D. A. Bryce, former FBI agent from Lawhuska, in the November election.

Oklahoma has never elected a Republican governor.

Edmondson has campaigned on a platform of reform in state government. Atkinson has promised to increase industrial activity. Both candidates have promised an early referendum on repeal of the constitution's prohibition of liquor sales.

Unset Tanker Righted; Nitric Acid Pumped

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—A Portland expert working with the Boise fire department succeeded late Friday in pumping nitric acid from a wrecked tanker truck safely into another vehicle.

The eight-hour job was finished about midnight under supervision of Louis F. Larsen, owner-manager of St. Johns Motor Express Co.

The tanker overturned where U.S. Highway 30 joins busy Capitol Boulevard here while bound for eastern Idaho. Its driver, Bill Collingsworth of Tacoma, Wash., said the vehicle went out of control on a curve. He and relief driver Clarence Johnson, Puyallup, Wash., were unharmed.

Both trucks started back to Portland Saturday, the damaged one under tow.

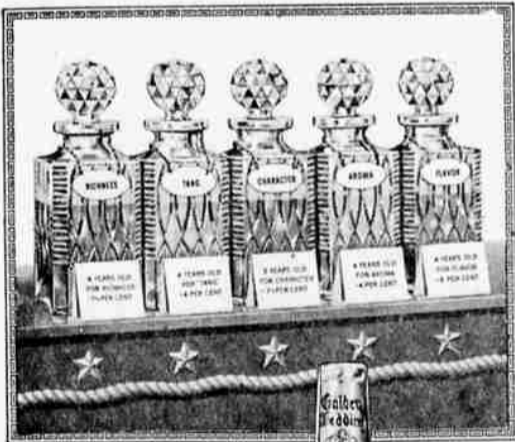

Chemists said the corrosive acid could have seriously injured eyes and skin on contact. It is used in making explosives, dyes, fertilizers and metal engravings.
