

Oregon's Temperature Will Remain High; No Fires Yet

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Oregon's thermometers—but not her forests—were still smoking Saturday, and the Weather Bureau said the state's only forecast was more sunshine for the next five days.

A bit of ocean air crept into Northwest Oregon early Saturday morning, bringing some clouds and a bit of relief. But the Pacific Northwest high pressure area remained strong and hot air took over.

Firefighters apparently controlled a sagebrush and grass fire Friday night in 1,200 acres of rugged range country near the Nevada-Oregon state line, two miles northwest of Denio, Nev.

High, gusty winds and high temperatures made firefighting difficult. The nearest communication to the fire area is a radio-telephone at a ranch 50 miles away.

John C. Hunt, state fire control officer for the Bureau of Land Management, said Saturday he had received no reports of new fires from Eastern Oregon.

Free From Fires
Guy Johnson, U.S. Forest Service dispatcher, reported that Oregon's national forest areas also were apparently free of new fires. More tinder-dry portions of the state were ordered closed as state and federal officials attempted to hold down burned acreage totals.

Gov. Robert Holmes has ordered closures of the Tillamook Burn of Northwest Oregon and of the Summer Lake area near Lakeview in Southeast Oregon.

Francis Van Sickle, forest manager for the Warm Springs Indian Reservation, Saturday announced that forest areas on the reservation would be closed effective Monday. He said the closure would affect campers and sportsmen, but not logging operations.

Logging operations in parts of the state have been shut down because of low humidity. Humidities of below 30 per cent were forecast for most of interior Oregon Saturday.

Medford and Grants Pass shared the state's Friday high at 97 degrees. It was 95 at Pendleton, 94 in Roseburg, 93 in Eugene and 92 in Salem. Newport had a cool 87.

NAMED BY IKE—Bertha S. Adkins, above, has been nominated by President Eisenhower to be Undersecretary of Health, Education and Welfare. At present assistant chairman of the Republican National Committee, she would succeed John A. Perkins, who resigned. Nomination is subject to confirmation by the Senate.

Air Force May Launch Rocket In Moon Probe

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Times said Saturday the Air Force will launch a three-stage rocket on a moon-probing mission about mid-August.

The story, quoting an authoritative source, said it is expected that timing of the launching from Cape Canaveral, Fla., will put the third stage in the vicinity of the moon Aug. 17 after a 2½-day flight.

The date is when the moon will reach its closest proximity to the earth during August, 221,463 miles, astronomers say.

The story said the lunar probe is not expected to impact on the moon but will make an orbit and return pictures of the moon's dark side. This would be done by pictures taken by automatic cameras on tape and returned electronically to earth receiving stations.

The story added the satellite would orbit the moon for several days, then be pulled back by the earth's gravitational field and be destroyed by vaporizing heat on reentry into the earth's atmosphere.

Crippled Plane Comes In Safely

ARGENTINA, N.D. (AP)—An airplane carrying 45 persons from New York to Lisbon landed safely here today after four harrowing hours after engine trouble almost forced a hazardous ditching in the north Atlantic.

The trouble in one of the Pan American DC 7's four engines developed suddenly 350 miles southeast of Newfoundland and 450 miles from the U. S. Naval Air Station at Argentia.

Capt. Robert P. Postlewaite, a 42-year-old veteran of some 20 years flying, radioed five hours after leaving New York's Idlewild Airport that his right inboard engine was running out of control at high speed.

Eight minutes later he reported an emergency and prepared to ditch in the icy Atlantic. A nearby Coast Guard vessel stood ready to search for survivors.

But then the big craft, which had dropped from 17,000 to 6,000 feet, began to regain altitude. Postlewaite decided he had a chance to nurse the plane back to Argentia.

Turkey Shrugs Off Russia Warning Against Attack

By WEBB MCKINLEY
ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—Turkey shrugged off as propaganda Saturday a Soviet Radio warning against attacking the new rebel regime in neighboring Iraq.

Turkey already has told Moscow Radio that it has no intention of attacking Iraq. The Soviet government considers it its duty to warn the Turkish government of its responsibility for the likely consequences of an armed conflict in this region.

Turkish officials said they had received no such note and furthermore Turkey already has told Moscow it will do nothing to cause tension to increase in the Middle East.

The only recent note from the Soviet Union on the subject of the Middle East was delivered early this week, officials said. This note mentioned Iraq. On the contrary, the Kremlin declared the Soviet Union was assured that Turkey was dedicated to peace.

Premier Adnan Menderes replied that his government was "happy that this fact is known to the Soviet government." Menderes added: "You may rest assured Turkey will not cause tension to increase in the Middle East and therefore measure Turkey takes will be only measures of defense."

Turkish authorities said this exchange was proof the Soviets were now merely beating the propaganda drums.

President Reaffirms Mid East Crisis Must Be Dealt With In U. N.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower reaffirmed in two statements Saturday the United States position that the Middle Eastern crisis should be dealt with in the United Nations and under its rules.

In a letter to President Juscelino Kubitschek of Brazil, Eisenhower said the United States believes the United Nations to be the only appropriate forum "in which to discuss the Soviet charge of a present threat to peace" in the Middle East.

Eisenhower agreed with Kubitschek, who had written him July 23, that Latin America should be represented at such a summit meeting. He noted that it is already represented on the Security Council. Panama and Colombia are members of the 11-nation council.

Earlier Eisenhower and Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana issued a joint statement saying they agreed that the solution of the Middle Eastern problems should be found within the U.N. framework in a manner which would preserve the independence and territorial integrity of both large or small nations.

The President repeated that the United States will withdraw its forces from Lebanon just as soon as the U.N. "can act effectively to assure the independence and territorial integrity of that state."

2 18-Year-Olds Plead Guilty To Grand Larceny

Two 18-year-old rural Roseburg boys pleaded guilty Friday to grand larceny before Circuit Judge Carl E. Wimberly.

Tony Estes Derryberry and Hersey Arnold McBroom were charged with similar informations: The theft of some cutting torch equipment and gasoline valued at more than $100 from Edward Miller, 682 Alameda Ave., Roseburg. A third youth, 17, faces the same citation in juvenile court early next week.

Both young men waived right to preliminary hearing earlier this week before District Judge Warren A. Woodruff and were held to answer. They were arrested by state police and booked in county jail July 22. Bail of $1,000 has been set in each case.

Youth Captured, Admits Holdup

WENATCHEE (AP)—A 18-year-old Seattle youth who sheriff's officers said admitted helping an older companion hold a Seattle family of four prisoners for six hours in their home early Friday was arrested several hours later at Entiat, north of here.

The youth was driving a station wagon stolen early Friday from Fritz Graebke. Graebke and his family were the victims of the holdup, staged by two leisured young men who were disguised with masks of nylon hose.

The State Patrol said the youth, who gave his name as William Boynton Monroe, admitted being one of the two who robbed the Graebkes and left them tied in the basement.

Officers said Monroe said his companion remained in Seattle.

The robbers took $48 in cash, two pistols, two rifles and Graebke's station wagon.

Feminine Shape To Be Taken Out Of Bag, Put Into Box

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—A lady of fashion looking ahead to her fall and winter wardrobe has a chance to turn her back on the sack.

Italian high fashion designers gave her the chance in their 1958 showings which ended in Florence Friday. By and large, they agreed that the sack and the chemise had been overdone and had to be all but abandoned.

To do this they adopted an elevated band around the ribs—with variations, naturally.

The presentations of fall-winter styles began 10 days ago in Rome, then moved to the baroque white room of the historic Pitti Palace in this Italian Renaissance city.

For the past five days 150 buyers and reporters watched a steady parade through the white room of some 1,500 examples of what the designers hope will be tripping down 5th Avenue in a few months.

Foremost In Italy
The models represented the foremost names in Italy's high fashion industry—Carosca, Simonetta, Faviani and Roberto Capucci.

Capucci, an exponent of creative courage in Italian design, introduced the "Cardboard Container Look." The entire torso seems to be boxed in. This has the effect of taking the feminine shape out of a bag and putting it into a box.

This solid geometry was applied to seven-eighths length jackets—with straight matching skirts continuing on to mid-knee—and pullover coats with wide middle necklines and slightly tapered sides.

Sometimes the result is like a fuzzy kite. Sometimes it is like an animated cartoon in appealing color. Either way, it is unique. And judging from sales reports, buyers found it seductive.

Senate Passes Revised Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—A top-heavy Senate vote revived prospects today that this session of Congress will pass a limited farm bill tailored to escape a presidential veto.

The compromise measure passed the Senate last night by a lopsided 62-11 margin after three days of debate. It now goes to the House, which earlier declined to consider a measure of broader proportions.

As passed by the Senate, the bill generally would provide for lower price supports and fewer government controls over farmers producing cotton, rice, corn and livestock feed grains. Larger output of those crops also would be authorized.

PLAIN TRUTH

By Glen W. Lundy: Gospel Evangelist

Why do a greater percent of the members of the Church of Christ attend regularly than do members of other religious organizations? I am not sure that I know the complete answer to this question but part of the answer is, that they are drawn together to the place of worship by the promise of Jesus, "Where two or three are met together in my name, there will I be in the midst of them." They are not drawn together by the promise of a fine chair, a super quartet, a novel orchestra or a world famous traveling entertainer. When a man is drawn by such as listed above he is going to scan the program of each meeting and attend only when the program meets his fancy. Members of the Church of Christ are drawn together by Christ and their desire to worship Him.

As a consequence of these things we find members of Christ's Body gathered together at every opportunity whether to study, sing, worship or meditate. We find a great attraction in "simply being with the Lord." Thus when the glamour and entertainments of religious establishments begin to lose their appeal and their members become indifferent, the Church of Christ shall continue to attract and hold its members.

"And I, if I be lifted up will draw all men unto Me." Jn. 12:32.

We urge and invite you to worship where Christ is the drawing power and abundance to the gospel is the saving power. Tune in over KYES, 950 on your dial, each Lord's Day morning at 9 o'clock.
