State Veterans Farm Loan Supervisor Retires
SALEM (AP) — Frederick L. Wiegand, state veterans' farm and home loan appraisal supervisor for the Portland area, will retire Thursday after 25 years of state service.

His successor will be Harry M. Holmes, West Linn, who has been an appraiser in the Portland office for five years.

Wiegand also is a retired brigadier general in the 41st Division, Oregon National Guard. He retired last January after serving as assistant commander of the division.

He was with the division on the Mexican border in 1916, and in France in 1917.

He went with the division in World War II as a lieutenant colonel commanding the 186th Infantry Regiment, but malaria forced him to return in 1944.

Sen. Ellender Predicts Ike Will Veto Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) predicted Wednesday President Eisenhower will veto a bill to provide a code of humane animal slaughtering practices.

But Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), who piloted the House-passed measure to an overwhelming 729 Senate victory Tuesday night, said in a separate interview he sees little danger of a veto "because the President is a very humane man."

Before it reaches Eisenhower, however, the House must act again. It can either accept Senate amendments or send the bill to a Senate-House conference committee.

The bill represents the fruit of a long fight by its supporters for federal regulation of slaughterhouse practices they contend are unnecessarily cruel.

Its most ardent backers, however, agreed with Humphrey that it is at best just a modest beginning toward reforms he said are many years overdue.

The bill carries no penal enforcement clauses but would forbid federal agencies to buy meat or meat products from slaughterhouses which failed to comply with federal standards.

Guatemala To Get Million To Build Vocation School

GUATEMALA (AP) — The United States is giving Guatemala a million dollars to build a vocational school.

Announcement of the grant was timed to coincide with the arrival late Wednesday of Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, brother of the U.S. President and his special fact-finding representative on a tour of Central America.

Anti-American students boycotted Dr. Eisenhower's visit, pledging however that they would refrain from any violent demonstrations. Communists who have returned from exile since the assassination of anti-Communist President Carlos Castillo Armas also were expected to refrain from violence.

Grand Jury Probe Ordered Into Grant County PUD

EPHRATA, Wash. (AP) — Acting on church, Grange and individual demands, Superior Judge B.J. McLean has ordered a grand jury investigation of the strife-ridden Grant County Public Utility District.

The probe will be the second into operations of the PUD, which got into "big business" with construction of the half-completed 166 million dollar Priest Rapids Dam on the Columbia River and plans to start the companion 200 million dollar Wanapum Dam next May.

Two state examiners have been sent here by State Auditor Cliff Yelle to check the district's books. Judge McLean acted late Tuesday.

Probe Accusations
The grand jury, first to be convened in the county since 1917, will look into a long list of accusations made against Glenn Smothers, who resigned Monday after 13 years' service as PUD manager.

State Sen. Nat Washington, fired last Friday as the PUD's lawyer, issued a 15-page letter a week ago accusing Smothers of irregularities and violations of state law in conduct of the PUD's business.

Smothers said in resigning Monday he was doing so for the "benefit of the district" and urged that a complete investigation be made.

The grand jury investigation was asked at Tuesday's court hearing by the Quincy and Ephrata-Soap Lake church councils, the Adrian Grange, the Quincy Farm Bureau and Washington.

Paul Klusen, county prosecutor, also recommended the probe. Church sources said their concern with operations of the PUD was heightened by a fatal fight in Smothers' hotel room at Las Vegas last Jan. 19. A model was slashed to death by another woman with a broken champagne glass in a quarrel Smothers said broke out shortly after he had invited a group of guests to his room for drinks.

Poles Stage Raid On Publications Of Catholic Church

WARSAW (AP) — The Polish prosecutor-general issued a statement Tuesday night accusing the Roman Catholic Church of circulating illegal publications.

These publications, the statement said, were issued from an office at Jasna Gora, the Czestochowa monastery which is Poland's national shrine.

A police raid on the office July 21 led to a fight between police and Catholics and church sources report a number of the monastery's Pauline monks still held for questioning.

The church has protested the raid on the monastery, which houses the vows of church allegiance by a million Poles.

Prolonged Heat Wave Reflected In Columbia R.

PORTLAND (AP) — The prolonged heat wave over the Pacific Northwest is reflected in the water temperature of the Columbia River at Bonneville Dam, where readings have reached 73.6 degrees, Army Engineers report.

This is the warmest reading for the river since 1941, when water temperature rose to 76 degrees.

It was feared the warm water might cause a heavy mortality rate among migrating blueback salmon as it did in 1941.

Army Engineers said warm water induces a more virulent strain of a fish disease called columnaris.

The 1941 mortality was reflected in the blueback salmon's progeny. Only 9,500 bluebacks were counted at the fish ladders four years later on their way back up the Columbia.

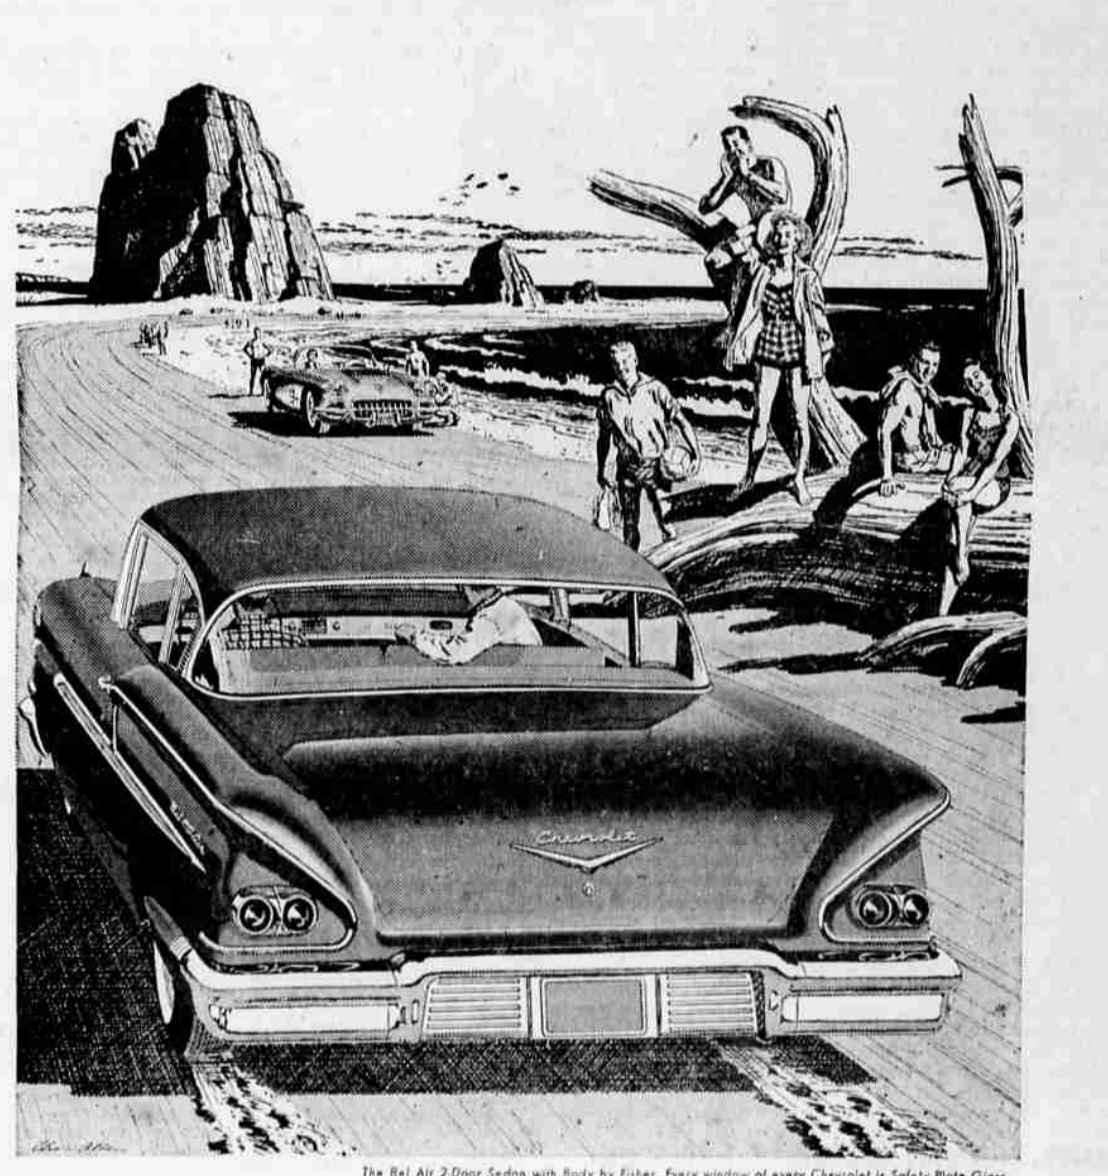

Engineers report the blueback count at Bonneville so far this year totals 121,000.
