WELCOME AUNT JEMIMA TIMBER DAYS
SUTHERLIN, OREGON

MRS. CHARLES E. (LAETITIA) EICHLER, 5206 Stevonn St., Torrance, Calif., is of interest to Roseburgers, because she is engaged in writing her first novel and part of the story takes place in Roseburg. She has been working on the novel for more than six months and will have the first draft of the book to her agent this month, after another visit to Roseburg. (Picture courtesy of Torrance Press).

Mrs. Eichler, mother of a two-year-old daughter, has done considerable "ghost" writing for magazines and newspapers. Her story has a religious theme in the background but is a romance of the desert and Roseburg. The major portion takes place in Roseburg. Mrs. Eichler reports she fell in love with Roseburg on a vacation trip. She had lived in Oregon as a child and her father still resides in Portland. The Roseburg Chamber of Commerce has been assisting Mrs. Eichler with the information she has requested.
