

Britain Welcomes Ike's Middle East Proposal

Hagerty Says Eisenhower More Curious Than Mad At Study Of Capitulation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said Thursday President Eisenhower was "mostly curious — rather than angry — when he heard the Pentagon was studying circumstances that might lead the United States to surrender in atomic war."

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen that Eisenhower ordered an immediate investigation of the report. But Hagerty added: "I would say the President's reaction was more one of curiosity than anger."

Hagerty characterized the reaction that way when told that a senator, who asked not to be identified, had said "I've never seen the President so mad."

The Defense Department was in no great hurry to start talking officially about the particular situation. But it was pointed out that standard military practice is to study all sorts of eventualities, including those considered quite unlikely to arise.

Report Revealed

Hagerty related that the report about such a Pentagon-sponsored study was brought to Eisenhower's attention 10 days ago at his regular weekly meeting with Republican congressional leaders.

The report was based on a news story (St. Louis Post-Dispatch) placed in the congressional record by Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.). Hagerty said the investigation ordered by Eisenhower disclosed the study was being made by research groups which work with the Pentagon.

Asked whether the inquiry resulted in stopping the study, Hagerty replied: "I haven't the slightest idea. You will have to ask the Pentagon about that."

The press secretary said Eisenhower had promised the GOP congressional leaders he would find out right away about the reported study and let them know what he found. Hagerty said he didn't know what report may have been made to the leaders.

By the senator's account Eisenhower "turned everything upside down in the Pentagon getting to the bottom of it."

Buildings Shattered By Explosions In Okanogan Valley

PENTICTON, B. C. (AP) — Three buildings were shattered by explosions in widely separated parts of the Okanogan Valley early Thursday. No injuries were reported.

Heavily damaged were post offices at Osyoos and Oliver and a professional building at Vernon. Osyoos is about 35 miles south of Penticton on the United States border. Oliver is 10 miles north of Osyoos. Vernon is towards the northern end of the valley, 50 miles north of Penticton.

Doukhobors Blamed
The explosions were the latest in a series that have occurred in the Okanogan and the Kootenays during the past six months. They are usually blamed on Sons of Freedom Doukhobors.

Plans are expected to be announced soon by which British Columbia and the federal government will share the cost of moving the Sons of Freedom back to Russia, their ancestral homeland. The fanatical sect numbers about 2,500.

The Freedomites have resisted integration into the Canadian community and have refused to send their children to Canadian schools, contending that the schools teach militarism.

The explosions apparently were planned to take place at about the same time.

Senate Committee OKs Social Security Raise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee Thursday approved the bill increasing social security benefits by 7 percent. It voted to keep in most of a public assistance provision objected to by President Eisenhower.

The bill passed the House 375-2 July 31. Along with increasing the payments to the 12 million persons on the social security rolls, it would raise payroll taxes to pay for the higher benefits.

Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming told the committee last Friday he would recommend a veto of the bill if the group retained a House provision boosting public assistance grants to the states by 288 million dollars a year.

"GOOD NEIGHBOR POLICY" in the area of NE Oakland Avenue is represented in this sign on the property of Mrs. Eva Stone in the 300 block, a dire warning to persons who might use a lane to the left of the sign. This includes George Zachary, a neighbor whose only legal access to his home is via the lane. The bottom picture shows debris and trash piled along the fence line. Because of this, Zachary signed a complaint against his neighbors. (Photos by Sheriff's Dept.)

Inconveniences In Getting Into Home Now In Court

By BRAD SLACK
News-Review Staff Writer

George Zachary, 60, said nothing when neighbors posted signs denying him ready access to his property off NE Oakland Avenue in North Roseburg.

Nor did he complain about the inconveniences in getting to and from his home where he lives alone.

But when the people next door piled rubbish and debris along his backyard fence, the quiet-speaking Zachary went to see the district attorney.

Late Wednesday arrest warrants were served on Mrs. Eva Stone, 70, and her daughter, Mrs. Elsie McGehehey of 333 NE Oakland Ave. The charges:

"Dumping rubbish on private property."

Faces Two Signs

poor freight car service and dirty cars delivered to shippers hereabouts.

They Like Roseburg
L. R. Smith, division superintendent, was flowery, but convincing, in describing SP's high regard of Douglas County as a customer.

"We like to feel we are members of the community. Roseburg is very dear to our hearts," Smith said.

"We are happy to have 1229 where it will be loved, revered and honored," he said. "It has been a gallant workhorse," he added in dramatizing the passage of steam-powered locomotives from the railroad scene. The engine was used in many yard duties between 1914 and early this decade.

Dr. John Doering, manager of the VA Hospital, introduced Harold Dahlen, San Francisco, regional director of administrative services of the VA. Dahlen also spoke of good relationships between the city and the federal agency.

Members of the City Council, Park Commission and service organizations were introduced by Fiegel, who spoofed his way as emcee through the snappy program. At one point, he called George Farrell "the best city manager in the country." Farrell has taken on the park development as his pet, and with fast, effective results.

The Roseburg High School band, gathering without previous practice during vacation, entertained the crowd before the program.

The Rev. Newell Morgan, pastor of the First Christian Church, gave the invocation, and the Rev. Edmund Hyland, pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, the benediction.

work he faces two signs on an old lane running to his house through the Stone property. One reads "Keep Out Or Get Shot," and the other, "Keep Out, Private Road."

So Zachary has to go to the west end of the Stone property and cross the land belonging to another neighbor to reach his dwelling. His land consists of a small parcel at the southwest corner of the Stone property. It is surrounded on the three other sides by private land, with no right of way.

Sheriff's deputies, serving the warrant Wednesday night were told by Mrs. McGehehey that Zachary "is a trouble maker. All we want is peace and quiet in the neighborhood."

Neighbors Don't Concur
Several other persons in the neighborhood don't concur in this opinion, however. They say Zachary lives quietly "and never bothers anybody."

The feud between the neighbors has been brewing a long time. Now it is coming to a head in district court.

This morning Judge Warren A. Woodruff arraigned the two defendants who pleaded innocent to the charges.

"I ain't a bit guilty," said Mrs. McGehehey when the judge asked how she wished to plead. Her mother-merely said, "Not guilty."

Zachary has alleged in his complaint the women have cluttered his back yard and fence line with boxes, old clothing, and other rubbish and refuse such as bedding, old machine parts, and cans, "all of which detracts from the appearance of the property and creates a stench that detracts from the cleanliness" of the place.

Judge Woodruff admitted both women to bail of $50, and set their trial dates for Monday afternoon, Sept. 8.

He explained they could request a jury trial if they so desired.

Teamsters' Settlement Hinges On Little 'It'

Francisco, general counsel for the Western Conference of Teamsters, filed the formal action before the National Labor Relations Board.

"This is just a start," a union spokesman said in announcing the five complaints filed against four trucking associations in California, Utah, Idaho, Washington and Oregon.

More Complaints Filed
The spokesman said more complaints would be filed against other trucking groups.

Federal mediators have been talking with both sides to the dispute. An employer spokesman insisted that "we are not going to negotiate in one area at a time and be whipsawed."

The spokesman said a "memorandum agreement" reached in San Francisco in May is binding on all Western Teamsters and if accepted the strike-lockout would end promptly.

Teamsters insist it applies only to areas where the union ratified it, which doesn't include the valley region.

In Washington, D.C., Teamster President James R. Hoffa said the May agreement was not binding, but predicted the strike would be settled soon. He said he is in constant contact with Western Teamsters.

Joint Council 38 is seeking parity with Teamsters in that area who recently gained a $4.57 daily package boost.

Full Support Thrown Behind Eisenhower

By MAX HARRELSON
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)

Britain Thursday welcomed President Eisenhower's Middle East peace plan as a solid foundation for "reconciling our points of view" and achieving constructive results.

The British position was outlined by Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd before the emergency session of the 81-nation General Assembly which was opened Wednesday by Eisenhower.

While throwing Britain's full support behind the President's 6-point plan for bringing political and economic stability to the Middle East, Lloyd expressed sharp disappointment over the tone adopted by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in the opening Soviet speech.

Close Consultation
Informed quarters said Britain and the United States were in close consultation on a resolution, dealing with part of the Eisenhower program. This was understood to cover some political aspects, including the establishing of conditions which would make possible the withdrawal of U.S. forces from Lebanon and British troops from Jordan.

Lloyd began his speech by referring to a remark by Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold that the U.N. can serve as an instrument of negotiations among governments.

The British foreign secretary warmly endorsed the Eisenhower proposal for a Middle East economic foundation to help raise the standards of living in the area. He called this proposal far sighted and pledged that Britain would give such help "as may be within our power to give and which is acceptable to the countries concerned."

Standby Force
On another main point in the Eisenhower plan — a standby peace force — Lloyd also agreed. Such a force, he said, "could make possible quick action in an emergency, quick action which would not be dependent upon the willingness of individual countries to act on their own."

He declared that Britain would be ready to withdraw her troops from Jordan "if the lawful government of Jordan requests it, or if suitable arrangements are made to preserve Jordan from external threat and to maintain its independence and integrity."

Teachers will meet in their respective buildings with their principals for orientation at 9 a.m. Thursday, Sept. 4.

A highlight of the week-long activities of the teachers will be a reception at the Fullerton school gymnasium. The reception, sponsored by the school board, will start at 7:30 p.m. and continue through 10 p.m.

District Judge Warren A. Woodruff sentenced a 21-year-old Independence housewife to six months in the county jail Wednesday for issuing an insufficient fund check.

Mrs. Patricia Stacy pleaded guilty to the charge when arraigned July 29 after being returned here from Eugene on a district court warrant.

She passed a $25 check June 24 at the B & R Grocery Store at Tenmile, where the woman, with her husband, stopped to buy gasoline.

The judge said Mrs. Stacy has previous bad check convictions in Marion and Lane counties and is on parole at the present time. He delayed sentence in July pending investigation into the case.

Judge Sentences Woman To Jail

Roseburg Man Draws Year In Pen For Forgery
A 21-year-old Roseburg man has been sentenced to a year in the state penitentiary by Circuit Judge Carl E. Wimberly after pleading guilty to forgery.

However, the sentence was deferred and probation allowed providing Franklin D. Koehn return to his home at Rich Hill, Mo., where his family has a farm.

On a motion by Dist. Attorney Avery W. Thompson, a second charge, larceny in a dwelling, was dismissed by the court. The two counts against Koehn were associated.

Judge Wimberly noted in allowing the dismissal that the defendant already has served three months in the county jail.

Koehn earlier admitted to taking a $34.39 federal income tax refund check and cashing it after forging the name of Delbert E. Barker on May 12. Koehn and his brother were living at the same Roseburg address as Barker at that time.

Charges against Koehn were the first of 15 regular and seven special indictments returned by the Douglas County Grand Jury last Friday.

The defendant was represented by court-appointed attorney Donald A. Dole.

ICC Examiner To Open Freight Rates Hearing
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An Interstate Commerce Commission examiner will open a hearing here Monday morning on the Southern Pacific Company's proposed reduction in freight rate shipments.

The reduction, on lumber shipped between Oregon, California and Arizona, was suspended by the ICC and the railroad then asked for a hearing.

A number of Oregon lumbermen are expected to support the Southern Pacific's proposal, which is opposed by Northern California lumbermen.

The hearing is expected to take several days.
