Alaska Statehood Vote Prediction At Least 2-1 'Yes'

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — A generation of debate on the merits of statehood for Alaska will be settled today at the polls.

A "yes" vote — on three separate referendum propositions — would mean creation of the new state probably in late December or early January. Actual admission will come with the issuance of a presidential proclamation after the results are in from a general election in November.

Most forecasts were that statehood would carry by at least a 2-1 majority of the more than 35,000 ballots that are expected to be cast. For the first time in Alaska, 19- and 20-year-old residents will be among those voting.

Opposition to the end of territorial status has come largely from residents who fear new and higher taxes to support a state government.

Many federal employees in the territory also have expressed fears that statehood would bring an end to a 25 per cent cost of living allowance they now receive for working in Alaska.

For the first time, Alaskans will be voting for officials seeking elective offices of governor and secretary of state. In addition, candidates will be nominated for two U. S. Senate seats and one seat in the U. S. House.

If statehood carries in the referendum, a general election to name the first state officials will be held Nov. 25.

Bloody Race Riots England's Worst Violence In Years

LONDON (AP) — Emergency squads of policemen patrolled sections of London and Nottingham today in the wake of Britain's worst race violence in years.

With trained police dogs at their sides, police moved to head off the stabbings, slashings, or beatings that terrorized two communities over the weekend.

Newspaper headlines mirrored how the savagery between the races staggered the British public.

More than 200 white men and women and West Indians, Africans and Pakistanis battled for 90 minutes Saturday night in Robin Hood's city of Nottingham.

The trouble spread Sunday to London's Notting Hill section. A carload of white youths toured the area, attacking West Indians. Three Negroes were hospitalized. Eight whites were arrested.

In Nottingham, an industrial city of 300,000, eight Englishmen were taken to a hospital, six of them with stab wounds. Dozens of others were cut and beaten.

Eight of the West Indians, Africans and Pakistanis were jailed "for their own safety," the police said.

Britain may be in for serious trouble between the races.

More than 40,000 West Indians arrive in the country annually to look for jobs. Hundreds also pour in from Africa and Pakistan. As citizens of the British Commonwealth, there is no restriction on their immigration.

Parliament members constantly ask if this unregulated immigration should not be halted.

As long as Britain has full employment, everything should be all right. But when unemployment comes and the British working man sees his jobs being held by foreigners, resentment builds up.
