The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white full-length gown of lace over taffeta en train. The bodice had a scoop neckline and long sleeves coming to points at the wrists. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a headpiece of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with a single white orchid atop a white Bible. Jane Rucker of Anderson, a friend of the bride, fashioned the full-skirted wedding gown.

Jeannine Conn Blanchard of Medford was matron of honor. She wore a pink taffeta and net dress with matching shoes and headband and carried a carnation bouquet. Bridesmaids were JoAnn Marcum of Medford, sister of the bride, wearing a pale green taffeta dress, and Miss Marty Trimble of Redding, sister of the bridegroom, wearing a pale orchid taffeta frock. Both wore matching shoes and headbands and carried bouquets of carnations.
