

Auto Industry Will Have Its Regular 1959 Cars On Market During This Week

By DAVID J. WILKIE
A.P. Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP)—The auto industry will have all its regular 1959 line cars on the market this week. Studebaker-Packard presents its smaller Lark series on Friday.

Still to come is an addition to the Ford line—the Galaxie. It is scheduled for dealer introduction early next month.

Public reaction to the Lark series will be industry-wide attention. Studebaker-Packard's hopes of remaining in the automobile business will ride in the Lark. To a significant degree the Lark, in several body styles and with six or eight cylinder engines, will disclose how great is the demand for smaller, more economical automobiles.

Imports Meet Demand

So far the growing demand for smaller, lower priced cars has been met by imported vehicles and American Motors. With its familiar series American Motors has been the only car maker to build and sell more cars this year than it did in 1957.

The Galaxie will be the top priced car in the Ford division line. Its price has not been disclosed, but many industry analysts regard it as designed to compete with Chevrolet's Impala series.

Expanded for 1959 to include a four-door sedan and a four-door hardtop, the Impala series carries suggested factory list prices ranging from $2,592 for the 6-cylinder four-door sedan to $2,967 for the V-8 convertible. The Galaxie borrows much of its styling from the Ford Thunderbird and the Continental Mark IV.

The Thunderbird introduced, initially as a single-seater, two-passenger car was redesigned to seat four passengers. It has been one of the hottest cars in the Ford line. Ford built 42,233 Thunderbirds in the first 10 months of 1958 against 14,010 in the similar 1957 period.

Discontinues Line
Studebaker-Packard has not had so much of the industry spotlight in many years. Concentrating mainly on the smaller Lark series, it has discontinued the Packard line and other models in the larger car series. The Silver Hawk series is being continued for 1959. S-P is continuing to import the Mercedes-Benz models.

The Lark brought favorable comment from industry chroniclers who drove various models in the S-P national press preview a few weeks ago.

Some experts say its reception may determine whether General Motors, Ford and Chrysler will bring out their planned smaller vehicles earlier than scheduled next year. Many believe the small car market still is far from its peak.

This is the view taken by Harold E. Churchill, Studebaker-Packard president. Those who share his view say the demand for the smaller cars is broad enough for both American Motors and Studebaker-Packard. They are not equally certain it is big enough for those two companies plus General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

1959 Legislature To Face Nine Different Problems

By PAUL W. HARVEY, Jr.

SALEM (AP)—The 1959 Legislature will face nine difficult problems when it meets here Jan. 12.

These touch all the bases, involving such subjects as finance, highways, power, education, unemployment compensation and government reorganization.

Here are the major problems to be faced by the Democratic Legislature and Republican Gov. elect Mark Hatfield:

1. The budget will have to be balanced, yet will have to be increased to take care of increased demands by schools, colleges and institutions. Neither party wants new taxes, but there probably will be some readjustment in the tax laws to make them more equitable.

2. Money will have to be provided for new college and institution buildings. The question will be whether to provide construction money within the budget, or to submit a bond issue to the people to provide a long-range construction program.

3. The Highway Commission says that in order to get enough state money to match federal construction funds, there must be a gasoline tax increase of one cent a gallon, and that the $10 motor vehicle license fee must be increased to $15.

4. The entire unemployment compensation law must be overhauled to provide enough payroll tax money to pay the benefits. There is a possibility that the Unemployment Compensation Commission might go broke during the legislative session, so the need for legislation is urgent.

Soldier Considered Deserter Honored For War Courage

SAN DIEGO, Tex. (AP)—Forty years ago Gabriel Garcia ran out into no man's land in France to save a wounded comrade. This week the Army, which had carried him as a deserter since 1919, honored him for his courage.

Garcia, 68, a farm laborer who speaks only Spanish, was the honor guest at San Antonio's Veterans Day celebration. A military plane flew him to San Antonio and back to his home here. A general pinned medals on his chest and spoke of his valor. He sat on a reviewing stand with the brass and watched troops march by.

When it was over, Garcia said through an interpreter: "What else is there to say but to thank my country and my government from the bottom of my heart?" Garcia was wounded by heavy enemy fire near St. Julien, France, Oct. 16, 1918, while rescuing a comrade. He was hospitalized at Ft. Sam Houston, San Antonio, from July to September, 1919, then told he could leave. Someone gave him some papers and Garcia assumed he was discharged. Later he lost the papers.

Last March he asked medical treatment at the Veterans Administration office here. There he learned he was carried as a deserter.

His record was straightened out and Tuesday Lt. Gen. G. S. Meley Jr., 4th Army commander, pinned on Garcia's chest the Distinguished Service Cross, the Purple Heart and the World War I Victory Medal with three battle clusters.

Hutcheson Re-elected Carpenters' President

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—President Maurice A. Hutcheson of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America was re-elected today without opposition at the union's national convention.

Hutcheson, of Indianapolis, became president in 1952, succeeding his father, Bill Hutcheson who died. He was re-elected in 1954. Hutcheson is under indictment in Indiana for allegedly conspiring to bribe a state right of way official in that state's highway scandals.

At the start of the convention Monday, he denied the bribery charge. He told the 2,000 delegates he was innocent.

Hutcheson also denied charges by Senate Rackets Committee investigators that the union maintained a so-called mystery fund of large proportions. He has been cited for contempt of Congress by that committee.

In Washington, Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), chairman of the Rackets Committee, declined comment on Hutcheson's re-election.

ing the legislative session, so the need for legislation is urgent.

5. Democrats will try to pass legislation to put the state into the power business. They might succeed, too, although Hatfield probably would veto it.

6. Educators again will ask for an increase in basic school aid to school districts. This aid was increased last year from $80 to $103 a year for each child on the school census, although the school people asked for $120. Now they want $150, saying that represents half the cost of education. Whether the money-short Legislature can afford an increase is a question.

OTI's Fate At Issue

7. The fate of Oregon Technical Institute at Klamath Falls will be settled. The choices are to rebuild it on a new site near Klamath Falls, keep it at the present site, or move it to Oregon State College. The Legislature also will decide whether to provide vocational technical education in other communities.

8. Gov. Robert D. Holmes' plan to require every automobile owner to have liability insurance will be submitted to the Legislature, but the insurance industry will wage a fight against it. Insurance men say being forced to carry poor risks will raise the cost of insurance—and so will higher jury awards they expect when jurors know that an insurance company will foot the bill.

9. A Democratic-controlled interim committee wants the governor to be given authority to reorganize the state government, subject only to a veto control by the Legislature. Now that a Republican will be governor, there is a question whether the Democrats would want him to have this authority. Another controversial item in this field is the proposed merger of the state Fish and Game commissions.

Russia, Poland Join Summit Confab Demand

MOSCOW (AP)—Russia and Poland have joined in a new demand for a summit conference. The two countries issued a joint communique after talks in the Soviet capital between Premier Nikita Khrushchev and Polish Communist Party Chief Wladyslaw Gomulka.

The communique said: "The delegation of the Polish Peoples' Republic decidedly supports the Soviet proposal for a summit conference to examine and solve the most pressing problems of disarmament and to decide on steps to be taken to strengthen the security of Europe and the rest of the world."

Conference Table Said Place To Settle Issue

SALEM (AP)—The conference table and not the state Legislature is the place to settle the controversy over the status of the state veterinarian in the Oregon Department of Agriculture, James F. Short, former director of the department, told Oregon Farm Bureau members here Tuesday afternoon.

Short, who summarized a panel on the "state vet problem," said he knew it was an awkward situation—with the veterinarian under the Division of Animal Industry. But he said he had studied the matter closely when he was director and had been satisfied with the setup.

Short noted that his successor, Albert Steward, had made no
