

Court Says Only So Much Can Be Hoped In Surgery

PARIS (AP)—A Paris civil court ruled here that a 36-year-old woman shouldn't demand the impossible from a plastic surgeon, and should be happy with any improvements he can make.

The suit was brought by Gita Leibman de Kessel, an American who lives in Mexico. She asked 50 million francs—$119,000—damages from France's famed plastic surgeon, Dr. Jean Voisin.

Court proceedings disclosed she came to Voisin with a request that he remove certain facial wrinkles, smooth pouches beneath her eyes, make her look more youthful and give her bosom a youthful line.

All but the last was successful, she admitted in her complaint, but that was a disaster. She claimed the surgery left her with scars which show when she wears low-cut evening dresses. She also claimed the scars adversely affected certain marriage plans, and contended the doctor had not warned her that lifting the bosom would cause some scars.

The court sided with Voisin, threw out the suit, and said: "At a certain age one should not demand the impossible."

COMEDY—Five Roseburg High School students enact a scene in the junior class play. They are, left to right, Mike Murphy, Bill Milne, Penny Bevans, Ila Batsch and Bernie Young. The three-act comedy will be presented in the high school auditorium. The play deals with the tribulations of being the father of a young lady who wants to get married, but to her father is still just a child and too young for marriage. (Paul Jenkins)

JUNIOR PLAY—Two Roseburg High School students portray a scene in the junior class play "Father of the Bride." The play will be presented tonight and Saturday night at 8 o'clock in the school auditorium. Shown are Penny Bevans and Dick Withnell.

Tuberculosis Program Slated For Douglas County Children

Parents of Douglas County school children in the first, seventh and twelfth grades will be asked by the Douglas County Health Department to allow their children to participate in a free tuberculin skin testing program.

The tuberculin used is being purchased by the Douglas County Tuberculosis and Health Assn.

Early detection and prompt application of new treatment methods are resulting in the first major gain in the fight against tuberculosis, whose germs today infect about 300,000 Oregon residents, 500 of whom will develop new active cases of the disease during each of the next 10 years.

Public health authorities point out that having weapons to fight tuberculosis is not enough without public cooperation. They recommend that everyone have a regular complete physical examination, preferably once a year, which should include either a skin test or chest X-ray.

A community tuberculosis detection campaign is being conducted for Douglas County school children with their parent's permissions.

The test is given with a drop or two of tuberculin, which is injected into the skin of the forearm. The tuberculin is a liquid which contains some of the proteins or protein-products of the tuberculosis germs, and it causes a small localized reaction on the skin of a person whose body has ever been infected with these germs.

"Readings" is usually done 48 to 72 hours later. If the reaction is of certain size, it indicates to the physician that the person at some time has harbored tuberculosis germs. A reaction does not necessarily mean the person has the disease, so further tests are necessary for anyone classified as positive to the skin test.

X-Ray Taken

The next step is a chest X-ray, which shows whether the germs have started an active infection, have at some time been active but are now dormant, or are merely temporarily in the person. If the X-ray shows activity, the State Board of Health is cooperating with other local health departments to have an X-ray unit available for all positive reactors. Upon the results of all this testing and evaluation, and not before, can a diagnosis of tuberculosis be made.

Local health departments gave 41,645 tuberculin skin tests in Oregon last year, and the State Board of Health X-ray vans provided screening to twice that many people. Additional thousands were tested or X-rayed through private physicians, hospitals, and programs of the state and local tuberculosis and health associations.

Second Sutherlin School Term To End Wednesday

By SUE SIKSTROM

The end of the second six weeks of school in Sutherlin will be Wednesday.

School will close at that time for the Thanksgiving vacation and start again Monday, Dec. 1.

Scotts Valley PTA was host to the annual Oregon Education Assn. dinner held at the Scotts Valley gym Wednesday.

Entertainment Presented

Entertainment for the annual dinner was provided by the music department of the Drain Union High School. A discussion on problem juveniles was given by Julian Helleck. Eight Sutherlin residents attended the meeting.

Sutherlin Junior High held its monthly skating party at the Roll-lets in Roseburg recently.

Mrs. Burnett's fifth grade class at East Elementary gave a program last week consisting of reports on the 13 original colonies and of the westward movement.

Some pupils told of famous early Americans and the entire class gave a choral number of "Western Wagons" and other pioneer songs. A mural, which extended across the front and side blackboard, done in free hand by the students, portrayed the story of the westward movement.

The Associated Business Women of Sutherlin discussed what could be done for the needy families in Sutherlin at a recent meeting. The club met again Wednesday.

Pendleton, Salem Firms Apparent Low Bidders

SEATTLE (AP)—Pendleton and Salem firms were apparent low bidders on two Montana projects on which the Army Engineers reported a bid opening this week.

McCormack Construction Co., Pendleton, bid $56,162 for construction of a water treatment plant at Lewistown. The government estimate was $63,750.

J. G. Watts Construction Co., Salem, bid $42,000 for additional water supply facilities at Kalispell Air Force Station. The government estimate was $53,162.

at 8 p.m. in the fire hall with representatives from several organizations present.

Return Home

Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Church and family have returned home to Olympia, Wash., after spending a week in Sutherlin visiting Church's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Church. They spent one day shopping in Eugene.

Mrs. D. C. Hood of Portland spent the past week in Sutherlin visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Archie McCrae and family.

of Cave Junction recently visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jacobson.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Smith and son, Donald, spent a recent weekend in Eugene with the Dick Firmans. They attended the Kingston Trio Show at McArthur Court while there.
