All That Glitters Not Gold, All You Hear On Radio Isn't McCoy Either, Says Truitt

By LEROY INMAN
News-Review Staff Writer

All's not gold that glitters, and all's not the real McCoy we hear on radio, and according to Raleigh Truitt, veteran baseball announcer over Radio Station KEX, Portland, it probably wouldn't be too interesting if it were.

Truitt, on a speaking tour of southern Oregon in company with representatives of his sponsoring brewing company, spoke to the Roseburg Lions Club Thursday night at their dinner meeting in the Umpqua Hotel. He gave a run-down on the Portland Beavers' prospects for this season and discussed his own trade, that of announcing sporting events.

Truitt, native of Oakland, Ore.,

described the process of recreating a baseball game for broadcast in the studio from teletype information relayed when the Portland team is playing away from home.

Baseball, essentially, is a slow game from an action standpoint, he said, describing all the antics pitchers, catchers and batters go through leading up to a pitch. So, he stated, it is necessary for the announcer to fill in and keep the radio listener interested during this lull. Broadcasting directly from the ball park is no trick, but recreating baseball games in the studio requires a bag of tricks. He enumerated a few.

For example, snapping a match box sounds like the ball hitting the bat. Slapping one's thigh with a cupped hand sounds like the ball hitting the catcher's glove. Sound effects on film provide reaction of the crowd to a single, a double, triple or home run, he stated.

Teletype information is very brief, such as the coded BIHO (ball one, high outside), SIC (strike one, called by umpire) or the bare sentence, "Littell (one of the Beavers' top hitters) lines a single to left field."

From this brief information, the announcer must give a running account of what is taking place, adding enough color to keep the broadcast interesting but factual, he said.

The Beavers' chances for the pennant are good, believes Truitt. He listed available material. An arrangement with Kansas City to secure the best players should keep the roster in top shape. He added, however, that there will be plenty of strength in the other Coast League ball clubs, and that last year's pennant winner, Phoenix, is plenty strong this year.

Spring Chinook Salmon Late

Spring chinook salmon are late this season, according to the twice monthly report from the Oregon Game Commission's Southwest Regional Office in Roseburg.

For six consecutive years previously, spring chinook salmon had been counted at the Winchester station by mid-March. No chinooks had been seen, however, this year by March 15.

The steelhead movement dropped off in tempo, although the total was near average.

Comparative figures through March 15 are reported as follows:

Vancouver Tops Beavers

YUMA, Ariz. (AP)—Vancouver rifled 13 hits and turned them in to an 8-3 baseball victory over the Portland Beavers here Friday night.

It was the first exhibition game of the spring training season for the two Pacific Coast League teams.

Vancouver tapped Vic Lombardi, Portland's starting pitcher, for two runs, and got six more off Ted Edmunds.

Jim Dyck slammed a three-run double for Vancouver in the seventh.

Portland's major uprising came in the sixth as George Fresse doubled home Bob DiPietro, and then scored on a sacrifice fly.

The Beavers go to Palm Springs today for an afternoon game with the Sacramento Solons.

Ron Delany Wins, Pressed By Rival

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ron Delany won his 33rd straight indoor mile race, but had a close call Friday night when Hungary's Istvan Rozsavolgyi pounded up to the finish line only a step or so behind.

The time of 4:06.5 disappointed the 9,320 fans at the Knights of Columbus track meet who had turned out in hopes of seeing Delany's world record time of 4:01.4 lowered.

But when the early pace was too slow, neither Rozy nor the Irishman from Villanova wanted to perk it up. Rozy led by a yard with two laps to go. They were abreast starting the gun lap. Then Delany opened up and grabbed a 10-yard lead.

But Rozy wasn't quitting and came back at Ron with a desperate burst of speed that just missed. Delany ran the last quarter in 39.4 seconds.

Castoff Pair Turn Trick For Orioles

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Baltimore's baseball brass today smiled over their wisdom in latching onto a pair of pitching hand-me-downs.

The castoffs—Hoyt Wilhelm and Ernie Johnson—have indicated by their clever hurling that at age 36 and 35, respectively, they still can be effective.

Wilhelm and Johnson both have been vital cogs for pennant-winning clubs in the past. Hoyt with the then New York Giants and Johnson with Milwaukee's Braves.

Kneuckleballer Wilhelm and speed-balling Johnson, who laid their claim to fame as relief specialists, combined to shut out St. Louis 3-0 Friday for the Orioles' fourth consecutive victory.

Two-time Braves
Meanwhile the world champion New York Yankees and the National League champion Milwaukee Braves engaged in a rare exhibition doubleheader. The Yanks hopped the Braves 6-3 and 5-4 in the day-night affair at Miami.

In other games, Los Angeles edged Cincinnati 3-2; Cleveland snipped Boston 5-4; Washington shaded Kansas City 3-2; Detroit beat Pittsburgh 5-3, and Chicago's Cubs subdued San Francisco 3-1.

Wilhelm and Johnson permitted the Cardinals only five hits and stranded 11 Redbird base-runners. The Orioles put it out of reach off Sam Jones as they scored twice in the first inning on a walk, singles by Chico Carrasquel and Gus Triandos and a throwing error.

Bill Skowron hit a three-run homer off Bob Buhl for the Yankees' first game victory. The nightcap was decided on an unearned ninth inning tally.

Fly To Havana
The Dodgers and Reds flew from rain-soaked Florida to Havana to get in their game. Duke Snider doubled home what proved to be the deciding run in the third off former Los Angeles pitcher Don Newcombe.

The Indians continued their mastery over the Boston club, now 10-2 in the standings. They scored two in the ninth to remain the only team that has beaten the Red Sox.

Roy Sievers and Bob Lemon drove in all of Washington's runs as Russ Kemmerer limited the A's to two hits in his five-inning stint.

Frank Lary, Paul Foytack and Jim Bunning combined to five hit Pittsburgh as the Tigers benefited from three Pirates miscues.

Right-hander Bob Anderson went the distance for the Cubs and held the Giants to four hits. Home runs by Chick King and Tony Taylor paced the Chicago attack.

BRIDGE UPSET
SEATTLE (AP)—A local team captained by J.L. Donnelly, Seattle, eliminated the third seeded team Friday night in a major upset in the 6th round of competition for the American Contract Bridge League's Vanderbilt Cup.

Donnelly's team, seeded 16th, won by the narrow margin of five International Match Points over the once-defeated team of Oswald Jacoby, Dallas, Tex.

MAKES WAY FOR BUSINESS — The large home of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Kaser on W. Harvard Ave. is being moved northward about four blocks to make way for a new building to house three businesses on its former site. Kaser's Rod and Reel Trailer Sales will occupy the north part, a drug store will be in the central point and a business yet to be named will be in the west section. (Paul Jenkins)

Home Moved To Provide For New Business Property

An 80-ton home in West Roseburg was being moved this week to make way for a new building to house a drug store, a business expansion and new offices.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Neil Kaser, adjoining their Rod Reel Trailer and Boat Sales business at 1145 W. Harvard Ave., is being moved north across Harvard. It will be moved north on Elizabeth St. to Neill Ave., and west on Neill to Ball St.

The Kaser's son, Phil, a druggist, and Mrs. M. E. Groshong will operate the new drug store on a partnership basis. Their business will occupy the central portion of a 74 by 80-foot structure to be erected on the former house site. Kaser will manage the business.

The drug store, which will also include a gift shop, will occupy a 28 by 80-foot portion of the building. It will be known as Kaser's Harvard Ave. Drug Center.

Includes Business Office
The west portion of the structure will house a business office, the occupant to be announced later.

The east side will join with Neil Kaser's Rod and Reel Trailer and Boat Sales to add additional space for their business.

The elder Kaser also announced that his son, Edward Neil Jr., of 459 W. Fair St. is joining him as a partner. An assumed business name was filed with the county clerk this week listing the father and son as owners. Neil Jr. has been employed at the Courthouse. He is married and has a daughter. Phil Kaser, with his wife and two daughters, are moving here from Prineville, where he has been employed as a druggist, about April 1. They were here last week-end seeking living quarters. Kaser worked for a time at McKay Drug Store while attending school. Upon graduation from college he was employed at Fullerton's Rexall Drug Store, then served two years in the service in Germany. He has been in Prineville the past three years.

Mrs. Groshong's late husband, Merrill, had operated drug stores in various Oregon towns, including Sutherlin and was a partner in Westside Pharmacy in Roseburg. After his death last fall, Mrs. Groshong disposed of that interest.

The 11-room, 40 by 60-foot Kaser home, which has two small apartments on the second floor, is being moved by Ahre and Richmond of Eugene. The basement and furnace will be left to become a part of the new building.

The house was built in 1909 by Peter Ball in what was then Ball Orchard Tracts. The land to the north was known as Horton Tracts. The place later became known as the Al Bashford home. He sold out to Marshall Pengra, then manager of radio KRNR, and the Kasers purchased the property in 1947.

'God' Theater Role Problem To Perform

NEW YORK (AP) — To attempt to portray God as a human being in the theater is difficult and controversial.

An intellectualized characterization of God currently is portrayed on Broadway in Archibald MacLeish's "J. B." Quite a different concept of God will be seen on television next Monday when "Hallmark Hall of Fame" offers a re-quest performance of Marc Connelly's "The Green Pastures" on NBC-TV.

William Warfield, who portrays De Lawd in the production, said the other day "This is not an adult, intellectual portrait of God. It represents what a little girl in a small Sunday School in the South some time ago conceives to be God."

Warfield, the noted baritone, played the same role in the 1958 "Hall of Fame" production of "The Green Pastures." Everyone in last year's all-Negro cast will appear again, except some of the Sunday School children who — as Warfield puts it, "just grew too big in one year."

Turns Down Othello

To appear on the TV program Warfield turned down an opportunity to play the lead in "Othello" at the Shakespeare Theater, Stratford-on-Avon, England.

"But there's always a chance of playing 'Othello' again," he said, "and there's not always the chance to play 'The Green Pastures.' It's a wonderful play. Those who have qualms about it just don't understand it."

He recalled that before last year's presentation the Negro press "took pot shots at the idea of doing 'The Green Pastures.' But after it received such universal critical and popular acclaim, nothing more was said. The criticism just died away."

I asked him if he believed television would have produced the play if it had been written as an original.

"I don't know," Warfield replied. "That's a pretty generalized question and it's always hard to say what might happen to something under other circumstances. But I imagine that television might have been worried about the reaction of the Negro intelligentsia. There might have been fears that it presented the Negro as ignorant."

"But to me it doesn't do that at all. It's child-like, but that's its charm. It's imaginative and beautiful."
