U. S. Leadership Needed: Belgian

WASHINGTON (AP)King Baudouin of Belgium told Congress today the free world looks to the United States for leadership in averting war.

"Where better can the free peoples of the free world look for the averting of war and death, than to your nation, so vibrant with the love of life?" he asked.

"It is unthinkable that those who spend so much to save life would ever think to destroy it!"

In an 800-word address to a joint session of the Senate and House, he said he had come to this country "to register the solidarity" between the people of Belgium and the United States.

Without mentioning communism by name, Baudouin in his prepared address warned against this new kind of imperialism.

"The older imperialism sought the conquest of lands; the new seeks the mastery of intellects," he said.

The King said his country is determined to permit the people of the Congo, Belgium's rich African colony, to choose their future destiny.

"As soon as they mature, as soon as they have received the loving care in education that we can give them, we shall launch them forth on their own enterprise and independent existence," Baudouin declared.

The King recalled U.S. assistance to Belgium in both world wars. "Time has not dimmed the gratitude of my people," he said.

Belgium, he said in conclusion, is confident the United States will succeed in maintaining peace.

"What is written on your coins, I have read in the hearts of the American people: 'In God We Trust,'" he said.

Schools Fete Oregon Music

Roseburg High School's vocal music groups, numbering nearly 250 students, combined for a presentation of "The Music of Oregon" at their annual spring choral concert Monday night in the High School auditorium.

Director Robert E. Robins was assisted by Dale W. Barker, of Portland, as guest director for a group of selections by the A Capella Choir, singing his original arrangements.

Featured also was the music of Milton Dieterich of the University of Oregon, faculty; L. Stanley Glarum of Lewis and Clark College choir director, and S. Clarence Trued, Roseburg music teacher, composer and director.

Seniors Feted

Especially honored during the evening were several senior students, who were presented autographed copies of music by the above listed composers.

The students, introduced by Robins, were Jeremy Halladay, Alice Hamilton, Sally Hill, member of the choir and accompanist; Tom Heinz, Bob Scott, and the senior girls trio, Nancy Stewart, Linda Strickling and Marilyn Todd.

Halladay, Heinz, Miss Stewart and Miss Todd were delegates to the all Northwest choir at Seattle, and Heinz was a two-year representative, also going to Boise last year. Miss Strickling was an all-state choice. The others have done outstanding work in chorus locally and in the school operettas. Miss Hamilton and Halladay both had solo parts with the choir in numbers arranged and directed by Barker. These were "Was'n' That a Wonder," soloed by Miss Hamilton, and "Fare Ye Well, My Darlin'," soloed by Halladay.

Opening the program the combined A Cappella Choir and the Girls' Glee Club sang "Down the Oregon Trail." The Girls' Glee next sang a group of selections, "The Beatitudes," by Glarum with Caroline Mahoney as soloist, and numbers by Dieterich. Betty Lou Yundt was accompanist.

Program Enlarged

The freshman, sophomore and junior-senior mixed choruses each sang numbers. The A Cappella Choir then took over for the major musical program, featuring music by Glarum, Dieterich, Barker and Trued. Trued's numbers were "On a Snowy Evening" and "Old Meg She was a Gypsy" (dedicated to the Oregon centennial).

For the finale, the combined choral groups sang "Oregon, My Oregon," arranged and directed by Barker.

A number of the selections from the evening's concert have been recorded on a 10-inch, long-playing, high-fidelity record by the choir and the Girls' Glee Club. The record, entitled, "The Music of Oregon," will soon be available at Ricketts or from chorus members.

Gravel, Concrete Companies Lock Doors Against Union

by THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Major suppliers of sand, gravel and ready-mix concrete in the mid-Willamette Valley shut down today in reply to Teamster union picketing of one plant at Corvallis.

And at Portland, another group of employers said they were going to sue for damages because pile drivers struck some 15 million dollars worth of construction work soon after the parent Carpenters Union signed a new contract with Associated General Contractors.

The sand and gravel shutdown followed a meeting of members of Cascade Employers Assn. at Salem Monday night at which it was decided that a strike against one was a strike against all, Pat Blair of Portland, manager of the employer association, said.

This morning the major Corvallis and Salem plants were closed. At mid-morning, Albany plants still were operating.

No Effect Felt Here

Spokesmen for the Ideal Concrete and Roseburg Paving concerns said today that there is so far no local effect in the dispute which has affected sand and gravel production in the Willamette Valley. In fact they hadn't heard any new developments late this morning.

The contract with the Teamsters local at Salem, covering Albany, Salem, Independence, Corvallis and Newport, expired Jan. 1.

Wage Hike Demanded

The union, Blair said, demanded an increase of 25 cents an hour each year for three years, three weeks of vacation after 10 years, and shift of the health and welfare fund from the association to the Teamsters Union.

The union began picketing Corvallis Sand & Gravel Co. Monday to enforce its demands. Other members of the Cascade Employers Assn. promptly prepared to shut down, Blair said.

He added that the threat of picketing, which would halt work, makes it not feasible to operate ready-mix concrete plants. Blair said the shutdown would affect 175 to 200 men directly. Salem sources said about half that number was in that city where four plants closed.

The pile drivers strike, under way for a week, has idled about 500 men in the Portland area. A meeting Monday with federal mediator George Walker failed to bring agreement. Instead, it was there that the employers, charging that the master contract with the Carpenters Union bound the pile drivers as well, said they were going to sue for damages.

Damages Not Set

William Hammond, chairman of the negotiating committee for the AGC, said the amount of damages to be sought had not yet been set. He said the international, as well as the local union, would be defendant.

Blair said that in the sand and gravel shutdown, only the area under the Salem local of the Teamsters is affected now, and that for today at least the plants in the Newport area would continue to operate. What will happen there later has not been decided, he said.

Eugene area contracts expired only last month, he said, and negotiations there are under way.

Agreement was reached recently in the Medford area, he said, on the basis of a 15-cent hourly increase this year and 10 cents next year, plus increases in welfare and health payments. Talks are just getting underway in the Pendleton area, Blair said.

In Portland, where a separate employer group negotiates, an undisclosed employer offer is before the Teamsters now, a spokesman said.

Blair said that in addition to the Teamster contract, the Cascade Employers Assn. contract with Operating Engineers is up for renewal. The issues there, he said, include a hiring hall as well as money.

Nicaraguan Official Critical Of Porter

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP)— Rep. Charles O. Porter (D-Ore) was criticized by a Nicaraguan official Monday for making unjust and impulsive statements about the government of the Central American country.

Vincente Urcuyo, the presidential press secretary, made the statement in reply to a letter which Porter had sent to U.S. Secretary of State Christian Herter. Porter said he had received an invitation to visit Nicaragua, but that he could not change his opinion that the Somoza government was born of a fraud.

Urcuyo said that a smear campaign against Nicaragua follows Communist plans. He added that Porter's remarks are explained by false statements spread by anti-Somoza circles in Washington.

Guardsmen Alerted In Textile Dispute

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Gov. Luther Hodges today ordered National Guard units into Henderson to maintain order at the strike torn Harriet-Henderson Cotton mills.

The order came after an emergency meeting with state law enforcement officers and Henderson officials about fresh outbreaks of violence at the mills' two plants.

Workers ran into a fusillade of rifle shots and a barrage of rocks as they left the plants Monday night. A dynamite blast ripped open an unoccupied nursery building at the North Henderson plant early this morning.

No injuries were reported but the incidents prompted Henderson authorities to request National Guardsmen.

Winter Wheat Estimate Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has forecast this year's winter wheat crop at 956,615,000 bushels.

This figure is 9,622,000 bushels less than last month's forecast of 966,236,000 bushels. It compares with last year's record high of 1,179,924,000 bushels and with the 10-year (1948-57) average of 814,784,000 bushels.

No forecast was given for spring wheat, which has just been seeded.

But assuming a spring crop of 254,000,000 bushels — the amount indicated at average yields on the indicated acreage — the total crop would be 1,210,614,000 bushels. Last year's total crop was 1,462,000,000, the largest of record. The 10-year average is 1,075,000,000.

Cattle Prices Range Widely

WASHINGTON (AP) — Average prices farmers received for cattle in 1958 ranged from a low of $15.10 a hundred pounds in Vermont to a high of $24.40 in Nebraska.

This difference largely reflected the difference in the character of cattle sold. Vermont sales were largely culled and older dairy cows. Nebraska sales were largely grain fed beef cattle. An Agriculture Department survey showed that prices tended to average highest in Mid-west and Rocky Mountain beef feeding areas and lowest in dairy areas.

Negro Housing Termed Poor

SEATTLE (AP) — Racial discrimination in housing in certain Washington state areas was likened by a civil rights group here to those prevailing in the deep South.

A report by Sam W. Tarshis, vice chairman of the Washington Advisory Committee to the U. S. Commission on Civil Rights, said conditions for Negroes ranged from "relatively good" in the Seattle area to "near-servitude" in Tri-City and vicinity.

"In Pasco and Kennewick, rigid bars against Negroes reminiscent of those which prevail in the deep southern tier of states seem to be the norm," the report said.

Negroes are deprived of decent housing, including apartments and of the opportunity to utilize recreational facilities by "various strategems and practices."

The committee is headed by former Seattle Mayor William F. Devin. It is a fact-finding body that reports to the national group.

The report noted that four Seattle residential districts — Broadmoor, The Highlands, the Sand Point Country Club and Windemere — have traditionally been barred to Jews.

Housing for Negroes in Spokane and Tacoma also were labeled as unfavorable and the report described conditions in Pasco as "ghetto-like."

Another report to the committee came from Lewis C. Watts, executive secretary of the Seattle Urban League who described racial discrimination in employment.

"There is not a single Negro bellhop or porter in hotels or motels, with one exception," Watts said. "Negro girls find it hard to secure work as waitresses. There is not a single Negro taxi driver in the state."

Low Bid Entered For Indian Road

PORTLAND (AP) — An apparent low bid of $212,292 for construction of a road on the Warm Springs Indian Reservation in Central Oregon was submitted here by a Walla Walla firm, the Clarence Braden Construction Co.

The Department of Interior said it would be the first adequate road on the southern edge of the reservation, replacing a trail. It will make possible mail delivery, farm market operations, logging and use of school buses.

Involved in the project would be grading and gravel surfacing of 8¾ miles of road. It will run from U.S. Highway 26 three miles up the Deschutes River then turn off toward the southwest to Seekseequa Canyon.

The Braden firm's bid was about $22,000 below the government estimate. There were 15 other bidders.

Washington ICBM Base To Be Built

MOSES LAKE, Wash. (AP) — A $46,000,000 intercontinental missile base will be built near here by the Air Force, Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash) told civic and business leaders.

Site of the installation is tentatively located about 18 miles southeast of Moses Lake near Warden, Jackson said.

Authorizing legislation for the base, to be equipped with Titan missiles, now is before Congress, the Senator said, and should be acted on by armed services subcommittee within a week.

The base here is expected to be similar to the one announced recently for Idaho's Mountain Home Air Force Base.

The Titan ICBMs would be located in underground, steel-lined, concrete bunkers, each of them about 60 feet deep and between 30 and 40 feet in diameter. Launching bases would be spread over a 30-mile area.

Larson AFB near here would house support facilities for the missile base. Larson recently was placed under the Strategic Air Command.

Population Gains Shown By Soviets

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's first census in 20 years discloses a huge increase of population in the Urals, eastern Siberia and central Asia.

The increases reflect the determined effort to transfer part of the Soviet population to eastern parts of the country and industrialize those areas. These parts have been thinly populated compared to neighboring Red China.

The census report did not give totals on the shift to the east. But it said the population in the Urals —which might be compared geographically to the Middle West of the United States—had increased 32 per cent since 1939.

Western Siberia's is up 24 per cent, eastern Siberia 34 and the population of the Far Eastern provinces has boomed 70 per cent.

The Soviet Union's population was reported at 208,800,000, an increase of 18,100,000 since the last census in 1939. By comparison, the United States population is estimated at 175,600,000, or 24½ million more than the last national census in 1950.

Myrtle Creek Woman To Head PTA Council

Mrs. Dale Sall of Myrtle Creek has taken over reins of the Douglas County Council of Parent-Teacher Assns. as the organization formally launched a two-pronged drive to set up a county health board and revive a program of child guidance clinics.

She was installed in office Saturday at ceremonies conducted by Mrs. Casey Morgan, outgoing president.

Serving with the Myrtle Creek housewife for the coming year are Mrs. Sam Crawford, vice president, also of Myrtle Creek, and Mrs. Bert Allenby of Glide, secretary.

The organization endorsed a resolution during its weekend meeting calling for establishment of a Douglas County Board of Health which would be responsible for administration of the public health department program.

Made up of physicians, dentists, laymen, a member of the County Court, the county school superintendent and mayor of the largest community, it would have power to hire a full time county health officer, according to the PTA council.

Support Noted For Clinic

Strong suppost also was given a plan to revise the program of child guidance clinics which was terminated last year. At that time the County Court, which earlier had budgeted $4,000 for the program turned down a state health request to hire a permanent psychiatric consultant for the staff. It would have required a large supplemental burget.

The action created a county-wide stir. Supporters of the guidance clinics, who called the program "good preventive medicine" in the area of mental health problems, pointed out that 75 children had already received consultive treatment, many needing follow up work. They said also about 137 cases had been recommended for treatment.

Mrs. Ernest Barker Jr. of Roseburg, among those spearheading the drive for resumption of clinics, said a proposal will be made to the court for a program costing around $14,000 in the coming fiscal year. The state would assume 60 per cent of this expense, enough to hire a full time consultant.

As an alternative, another $4,000 program could be set up for 1959-60, with the county contributing $1,000 and the state participating to the extent of $3,000. It would permit, for another year, the use of local psychiatrists at the clinics.

She reported a number of county officials had pledged support of the PTA Council's proposal. It has been endorsed by the Douglas County Inter-Agency Committee.

PTA Work Listed

The recent meeting brought out other work being done by the association of PTA councils.

Most groups participated in polio, dental and pre-school clinics, and have provided local and state elementary teacher scholarships. The program is aimed at instilling a desire on the part of students for neatness, good grades and correct social behavior, Mrs. Barker said.

The council participated also in science fairs, and held luncheons for teachers at the opening and closing of the school year. They sponsored 4-H, Camp Fire programs and Scouting during the last year, it was reported.

Hucrest, Fullerton and Melrose PTAs reported successful good citizen award projects.

Leaders in the four Douglas County PTA regions for the coming year are vice-presidents Mrs. Jean Olson, Riddle; Mrs. Elton Grass, Lookingglass; Mrs. Jack Cummings, Roseburg; and Mrs. Vern Little, Oakland.

Principal Representative to the Council is Martin League of Drain. Mrs. John Closson of Dillard is Council Treasurer.

Days Creek PTSA Tabs Prairie Prexy

Dick Prairie has been named president of the Days Creek Parent, Teacher and Student Assn. for the coming year, reports correspondent Edith Moore.

Carl Giles spoke to club members about the junior rifle club which is being organized in the Days Creek area.

Woman Recovers From Leukemia

CHICAGO (AP) — A New York woman, afflicted with the nearly always fatal blood cancer known as leukemia, has recovered and remained well for more than five years, her physician reports in the journal of the American Medical Assn.

Dr. Carl Reich of New York's Lenox Hill Hospital said he does not know why she recovered.

Dr. Reich said the woman, a native of Limerick, Ireland, fell ill in 1951 at the age of 52. Her weight dropped 40 pounds to 120, her face was pale and her gums bled.

The diagnosis was leukemia, which affects the blood stream's white cells. The disease is "invariably fatal," the physician said.

In 1953, after typical treatment which included blood transfusions and liver extract injections, the patient lost the symptoms of leukemia.

Dr. Reich said it is possible some factor in the blood of one of the transfusion donors may have had an effect in the recovery.

Contact Lenses Agent Changed

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (AP) — Barnes-Hind Laboratories, Inc., which recently recalled all its wetting solutions for contact lenses, says it has distributed a new one which will be pink, instead of green, and sterile.

The Food and Drug Administration two weeks ago warned against use of one lot of the old solutions, saying it contained a potentially dangerous form of bacteria.

Harry W. Hind, president of the drug firm, said no blindness or infection had resulted from use of the old solution.

Hind said the old product had been registered with the Department of Agriculture "on the previous advice of the FDA," which he said had never required sterility in the solution. There is no other difference from the old product, Hind said.
