'Outlaw' Tag Put On China As U.N. Mulls Admission

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States today described Red China as an outlaw which has made itself totally unfit for U.N. membership by mass murder, atrocities and aggression. In a slashing attack on the Peiping regime, former U.S. Asst. Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson told the U.N. General Assembly that the seating of the Chinese Communists would be a mockery of the U.N. Charter. "By every standard of national and international conduct," he asserted, "the Red regime of Peiping is an outlaw. "It has perpetrated mass mur-

Delay Granted In Blast Case

Circuit Judge Eldon Coley today granted Pacific Powder Co., Tenino, Wash., until Oct. 5 to plead to a manslaughter charge growing out of the Aug. 7 explosion and fire in Roseburg.

Lawyers representing the company appeared to tell Judge Coley that, in their opinion, no jurisdiction over Pacific Powder was obtained by the service of a summons on the firm and also an officer in Gerretsen Building Supply Co., Roseburg. Company attorney Edwin E. Allen, Eugene, told the court Gerretsen had resigned and his resignation had been accepted by the time he was served following the Douglas County Grand Jury findings on Sept. 8.

Although contending that no jurisdiction has been obtained in Douglas County, the company has elected to voluntarily submit itself to the jurisdiction so that the matter can be determined upon the applicable law and facts, Allen said.

The indictment was returned Sept. 8. The company is accused of being the owner and operator of the truck, loaded with 6 1/2 tons of explosive materials, which exploded Aug. 7, killing 13 and causing widespread property damage. Specifically the company is charged with inflicting injuries upon Harrison Carmichael which resulted in his death. Carmichael was one of the 13 victims of the blast. A maximum penalty upon conviction is $5,000. No company officials can receive prison sentences if the company is found guilty of the charge.

Oregon State Bar Cites N-R Editor

George Castillo, assistant editor of The News-Review, was cited by the Oregon State Bar for reporting and writing on legal affairs. The citation, an honorable mention, was given in connection with a statewide analysis of reporting excellence.

A first prize of $300 went to Walford Reed of The Oregon Journal for his analysis of the federal parole system. He was given unanimous commendation for "a complete and complete subject," reported in such a manner that "any layman could understand and appreciate it."

Castillo won honorable mention for his reporting and editorial comment connected with the juvenile court, the Youth Page in The News-Review and opinions concerning juvenile delinquency and youth work. Other honorable mentions were given to Ann Sullivan, The Oregonian, and Eric Allen Jr., The Medford Mail-Tribune.

Although presentations will not be made until the meeting of the Bar in Bend this weekend, announcements were made at a meeting of editorial writers at Timberline Lodge Saturday.

Kuala Lumpur Stricken

MALAYA LUMPUR, Malaya (AP)—Malaya's King is suffering from a heart attack, the government radio has announced. H. M. Tuanku Abdul Rahman, 64, is "progressing satisfactorily but his condition gives rise for anxiety," said a medical bulletin.

Warming Weather Outlook For County

Warming temperatures, some sunny skies and no rain until Friday is in prospect for residents of central Douglas County, the weatherman said today in his five-day forecast. Thermometer will read a little above normal between now and next weekend, with maximum temperatures in the 70s and lows in the mid-40s. Low clouds and some morning fog is expected tonight and Tuesday morning, clearing up tomorrow afternoon.

The weekend rains throughout southwestern Oregon have provided more than four-tenths of an inch of moisture above normal for this time of year, the U. S. Weather Bureau of Roseburg municipal airport reported today. The moisture has reduced fire danger throughout the area to a minimum. The weatherman hinted another wet weekend may be developing, but said it is too early to predict with certainty.

Traffic Toll Reaches 355 In Oregon

Oregon highway deaths continued to mount today, reaching 353 for the year and threatening to become the worst year on record. The latest victim was Ward William Robson, 48, a Vida logger whose motorcycle was struck by a logging truck on the McKenzie Highway 25 miles east of Eugene today.

Police said Robson turned left toward a driveway just as the truck started to pass him. Killed over the weekend were: Lee E. Boatman, 17, Colver, on Saturday. Fred Grom, 39, Klamath Falls, on Saturday. Ray Roy Hudson, 56, Days Creek, on Saturday.

Wymond Henderson, 43, Portland, on Sunday. Robson's death lifted the toll to 41 for the month, three more than were killed in the entire month of September last year. With the Associated Press list of highway deaths up to 353, a record number of deaths appears inevitable for the hazardous months of October through December are still to come.

The worst year on record was 1957. When the Associated Press counted 491 deaths. Grom died under the wheels of his own car. He was on his way to an archery hunting area in the Hart Mountain region east of Lakeview when his car hit a rock. He got underneath it to inspect the damage, and the car rolled onto him.

Robson didn't mind Portland's rain after Washington's heat. "I think people who complain about Oregon and its weather should spend some time in Washington," he said. "I don't think we really have capitalized on the wonderful tourist attractions of our state." He said that the failure of some persons to recognize the natural attractions of Oregon underlies opposition to the proposed establishment of the national park in the Dunes.

Neuberger is sponsoring a bill to establish such a park. Hearings are scheduled on it at Reedsport Oct. 5 and Eugene Oct. 7. It is opposed by some persons living near the proposed park site. Neuberger said he was relaxed about politics. "If I were defeated (or re-elected) the worst that could happen would be my return to Oregon where I could enjoy living and writing," he said.

Division Of Twins Draws Optimism

PORTLAND (AP)—A noted London surgeon is cautiously optimistic about the chances of success in separating the Stubbs-James twins. Dr. Ian Aird, who flew here from Los Angeles Saturday, said after examining the twins "there is sufficient expectation of some success to justify an operation."

None of the past few years' operations has been quite as complicated as this one appears," he added. This is because the girl twins, Jeannet Kim and Denett Linn, have a common liver. They are joined at the abdomen. He said he had consulted surgeons who separated Dutch-Swiss twins in 1954. These twins had a liver bridge similar to the Stubbs-James twins. The Dutch twins survived the operation.

The Stubbs-James twins were born June 29 to Mrs. James Stubbs-James of Parma, Idaho. Her husband is a farmer. The birth was at Nyssa, Ore. Shortly after they were born, the twins were flown to Portland where they have been cared for at the University of Oregon Medical School hospital.

The surgery to separate them will be performed there early in October. The department said 719,000 persons were working last month, only slightly over the all-time record set in August, 1956. Unemployment totaled 24,500 persons, compared with 41,900 in August, 1958.

The 719,000-employment figure was 18,800 more than a year earlier. The largest employment totals by industries, compared with a year earlier, include: Agriculture, 110,000, up 4,900; retail trade, 80,500, up 3,200; lumber and wood products, 79,100, up 3,300; transportation and utilities, 46,100, up 300; government, 88,200, up 1,500; service, 38,900, up 2,400. The average weekly wage in manufacturing industries in July was $97.98, or $6 higher than it was a year earlier.

Elderly Glendale Man Breaks Hip In Mishap

ARNOLD EZARD, 77, Glendale, was reported in good condition following an fractured Saturday afternoon in which he fractured his left hip. News-Review correspondent Mrs. Gerald Fox reported Ezard slipped on a wet path at the back of the E. W. Harris home and lay there for about 30 minutes before Mrs. Harris heard his calls for help.

He was taken to Forest Glen Hospital, Canyonville, by ambulance. A physician at the hospital told Mrs. Fox he put a steel plate in Ezard's hip. Ezard is doing fine, he indicated, except for some complications arising from an automobile accident injury the man received two years ago.

Argument Ends With Two Dead

KLAMATH FALLS (AP)—A quarrel between ranch hands erupted into gun play yesterday. Two men were killed on a ranch about 30 miles north of here. Sheriff's deputy Del Summers arrested Michael Joseph, 32, and accused him of shooting Harry Deman, 54, and Okey Eugene Richards, 56.

Joseph, an employe on the Delbert Lang Ranch, said he hired Deman to work there about a month ago, but later got into a quarrel and fired Deman. Summers said Joseph told him Deman kept coming back, and that he kicked him off the place several times. The last time was yesterday afternoon, when Deman was accompanied by Richards.

The deputy quoted Joseph as saying Deman had a knife in one hand, a wine bottle in the other, and that the men threatened "to get him."

The men were shot with a .30 caliber rifle. The two dead men recently had been working at Talana Farms, south of Klamath Falls. Richards listed Wilsonburg, W.Va., as his emergency address, and Deman, 1884 Harvest Moon Road, La Puente, Calif.

Oregon Employment Approaches Record

SALEM (AP)—Employment in Oregon reached almost a new record in August, the state Department of Employment reported today. The department said 719,000 persons were working last month, only slightly over the all-time record set in August, 1956.

Unemployment totaled 24,500 persons, compared with 41,900 in August, 1958. The 719,000-employment figure was 18,800 more than a year earlier. The largest employment totals by industries, compared with a year earlier, include: Agriculture, 110,000, up 4,900; retail trade, 80,500, up 3,200; lumber and wood products, 79,100, up 3,300; transportation and utilities, 46,100, up 300; government, 88,200, up 1,500; service, 38,900, up 2,400.

The average weekly wage in manufacturing industries in July was $97.98, or $6 higher than it was a year earlier.

3rd Try Convicts Suspect In Murder

OROVILLE, Calif. (AP)—The third jury to try William A. Cameron convicted him today of first degree murder in the knife slaying of Mrs. Vivian Malone. The Dec. 22 slaying in the woman's trailer followed a drinking party.

The same jury later will determine whether Cameron shall die in the gas chamber, or serve a prison term. Most of the nine women jurors wept as the verdict was read. Cameron, who had sat impassively through two previous trials, also broke into tears. Two previous juries were unable to agree.

The jury Sunday asked Superior Judge J. F. Good to reread instructions on general and specific intent. It also asked a repeat of instructions on manslaughter, second and first degree murder, and the testimony of pathologist Kenneth Popper. He made the autopsy on the body of Mrs. Malone.

Roseburg Market Loses Again During Burglary

Burglars struck Pearson's Eastside Market at 2595 NE Diamond Lake Blvd. Friday night and made off with some $100 in loot. The same market lost $1,000 in checks and about $30 in change in a similar occurrence only one week previously.

State police report the latest burglary was discovered at 7:25 a.m. Saturday. It occurred some time after 8 p.m. Friday. Entrance was gained by smashing a front window and the burglars took about $40 worth of wine, $50 to $60 worth of cigarettes and some candy.

Party Backs French

PARIS (AP)—Opposition to Premier Charles de Gaulle's plan for Algeria got under way over the weekend with formation of a new political party pledged to keep the whole territory French. The movement is called the Rally for French Algeria. Last week De Gaulle offered Algeria a three-way choice: integration with France; local autonomy or complete independence.

Wandering Khrush Sees S.F. Union Hall, Harbor

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev today flung off still more of the security restraints and fixed schedules of his American tour. A man who obviously doesn't like to be told what he can and can't do, the Soviet Premier swept into the discred planer for his start a tour of the San Francisco area with a visit to a supermarket.

Instead, he decided to go to the Longshoremen's Union Hall. This jolted a night of planning by security officials and left a lot of policemen idly staked out on a route that Khrushchev didn't use. It also had the security people jittery. After Khrushchev had seen the union hall, he boarded a 40-minute-tour of San Francisco harbor.

Khrushchev has been showing increasing irritation with security precautions ever since he reached the West Coast. He was little short of furious when overruled in Los Angeles on a desire to visit the Disneyland amusement park. Sunday, he spoke of himself as finally out of "house arrest." He popped out of a special train bringing him to San Francisco and mingled with people at stops along the way.

The Premier began today with a further show of independence from the planning and restrictions. He bounced out of his hotel at 7:30 a.m. and took an unscheduled two-block walk, pausing for a little sidewalk superintending of operations of a garbage truck, and waving at girls riding cable cars.

Khrushchev was disappointed if he had hoped to find cheers and applause at the longshoremen's hall. There wasn't anybody there except a gray-shirted union employe who told him, "We wish you peace."

Union leaders had sent the Premier an invitation to come down and see the day's crew assignment at 6 a.m. But that was all over long before Khrushchev arrived. With nothing much to see, the Premier left the hall and boarded a Coast Guard cutter for a tour of the harbor.

The cutter sailed down the bay and circled under the Golden Gate Bridge. A Navy aircraft carrier, planes bristling on its deck, preceded the cutter into the bay. This was Khrushchev's first look at one of these mighty U.S. naval weapons. Destroyers were flitting around the bay, too.

From Washington meantime came an assist for the behind-and-careful-with-Khrushchev campaign, being pushed by the U.S. officials traveling with the Premier. White House press secretary James C. Hagerty noted at a news conference that President Eisenhower and the Premier will have talks on East-West tensions at Camp David, Md., this coming weekend.

"This purpose of constructive meetings at Camp David is not served by any personal discourtesies extended to the Chairman (Khrushchev) during his visit," Hagerty said. In Des Moines, where Khrushchev goes Tuesday, word was his host was determined he would get to see and talk with ordinary people. One of his complaints has been that he wasn't getting to meet enough plain folks.

Some of that was on tap for the continuing San Francisco tour. His schedule called for a look at a housing development and the supermarket was still hopeful. "He sort of lost control of himself at this point," Reuther said. "It's a stupid question not worthy of discussion. He never answered."

Oregon GOP Boss Due In Roseburg

WASHINGTON (AP)—Abraham Flexner, founder and first director of the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton, N.J., died today at his home in suburban Falls Church, Va., after a brief illness. He was 92. During his long career as an educator, Flexner helped overhaul America's medical schools and had wide influence on the development of the modern university system in the United States, England and Germany.

As a member of the General Education Board of the Rockefeller Foundation, Flexner channeled millions of dollars from private philanthropies into education. The meeting is not an official central committee session, but is open to all Republicans in the county, Richmond noted. It precedes a statewide session in Salem Oct. 2-3 when National Chairman Thurston B. Morton will be present for a workshop with Oregon Republican leaders.

India Panic Toll 90

BOMBAY, India (AP)—The Times of India said today the death toll in Sunday's stampede at the village of Zinzaka has now risen to 90. The official total still stands at 49. The stampede started when a 17-year-old girl opened the door of her house to show herself to nearly 100,000 people who believed she was the reincarnation of the goddess Bhavani.

Labor Leaders Nettle Red Boss, Blast Soviet System

Drunk Charge Holds Driver; Toll Now 24

A broadside collision claimed Douglas County's 24th traffic victim of 1959 Saturday 3 1/2 miles east of Canyonville on state Highway 42. Ray Roy Hudson, 56, Box 55, Days Creek Rd., Days Creek, died of a crushed left chest and extreme shock, the Douglas County coroner's office reported.

Investigating state police said Hudson, the Oregon Motor Club representative in south Douglas County, was driving east on the road and his vehicle collided with a westbound car driven by Oscar Charles Erickson, 49, also of Days Creek Rd., Days Creek.

Erickson's car veered from the westbound lane and turned in the road so that its right side broadside the front end of Hudson's small foreign-made car, officers said. The pavement was dry, police indicated, and the impact occurred on a moderate curve.

Hudson was taken to Forest Glen Hospital and died about 9 p.m. Erickson was also taken to the hospital, but was released. He then was arrested by Canyonville police and charged with drunkenness in a public place.

Erickson told state police he didn't remember driving a car and having an accident, they told The News-Review. He voluntarily submitted to a blood test by the Canyonville police.

Saturday's traffic fatality places Douglas County's toll at 24 more than double the 19 recorded by this date in 1958. The 1958 year's total was 17.

Hudson was born April 13, 1909 in Minnesota. He was married to Leslie Grace Born in Sierra Madre, Calif., on June 19, 1934 and they had been residents of the Days Creek area since coming from La Puente, Calif., eight years ago.

He was a member of the Days Creek Community Methodist Church and the Myrtle Creek Elks. He was employed for the past five years as a salesman for the Oregon Motor Club.

Surviving are the widow and a son, William, both of Days Creek. Funeral services will be in the chapel of Ganz Mortuary, Myrtle Creek Wednesday at 2 p.m., with the Rev. Alice May Woolley of the Days Creek Community Methodist Church officiating. Interment will follow in a Canyonville cemetery.

Three CD Hospitals Planned For County

Three 200-bed emergency hospital units will be stored in Douglas County for use by Civil Defense disaster teams if space can be found to house them. Arthur Selby, county CD director, said today the town of Glendale currently is making arrangements for storing the equipment. Reedsport and Roseburg are the two other locations slated to receive the mobile hospital units.

The CD director and Vernon Martens, 55, coordinator, are presently seeking locations to store the medical equipment, much of it Korean War surplus field hospital units. Selby said today he needs some 3,000 square feet of space for the medical unit which includes a completely equipped surgical tent, standby generators and electrical unit, medicines, drugs and medical and surgical supplies as well as beds.

The Army Medical unit at Salem over the weekend demonstrated how to set up the emergency hospital unit in exercises scheduled for civil defense authorities from throughout the state. Murdock, who has directed the movement of supplies and material in two world wars, is in charge of transporting the units here when storage space becomes available.

Deer Seen Again In Roseburg Area

A prominent Russian called the people of New York "Dear Friends" when he left that city last week. If he were to visit Roseburg about now, he'd have to change that to "Deer Friends."

Lately, there seem to be enough of the forest creatures around town to merit it. J. E. Clark of 570 NW Garden Valley Blvd. reported he and his wife saw three deer on the riverbank near the west approach of the Oak Ave. bridge this morning.

That was only one of many recent sightings. A taxi driver said he saw a deer near SE Chadwick St. and Douglas Ave. a few days ago. And venison on the hoof also had been seen on the west side and in other areas around town.

Thief Takes Wire Levy Fact Rant

Glen Thielphi, Box 25, Whistler's Bend, Roseburg, reported to state police Sunday the theft of a roll of wire fence from his property. J. L. E. Clark of 570 NW Garden Valley Blvd. reported he and his wife saw three deer on the riverbank near the west approach of the Oak Ave. bridge this morning.

That was only one of many recent sightings. A taxi driver said he saw a deer near SE Chadwick St. and Douglas Ave. a few days ago. And venison on the hoof also had been seen on the west side and in other areas around town.

Khrushchev's implied warning of "ashes" as an alternative to world peace should be ranked alongside the boast of Attila the Hun ("Scourge of God"): "There where I have passed the grass will not grow again." Consult a psychiatrist, Khrush; Attila failed to make good.
