

GM Holds Prices On 1960 Autos

DETROIT (AP)—Ward's Automotive Reports said today a survey of the Big Three auto manufacturers indicates their prices "generally will not be increased" for 1960 model cars.

In some instances, Ward's said, the prices will be decreased from the 1959 models.

Ward's, a statistical service, said an industry "stand pat" policy on 1960 prices will be its answer to inflation.

The 1960 models being shipped to dealers are invoiced at 1959 prices, Ward's said. It added that while this is standard practice at the start of a model year, leaving the door open to later adjustment, the policy this year indicates no increase.

Ward's added: "Observers also are drawing encouragement from General Motors Corp.'s repeatedly stated policy that it sets its prices only 'once a year,' meaning that prices may remain at introductory levels regardless of the steel strike settlement."

LAOS ARRIVAL

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—A U.S. fact-finding team arrived today to investigate Laotian charges that Communist North Viet Nam has backed and participated in rebel infiltration of this little kingdom.

GARDENING TIPS

Peonies are best planted in early fall, though they can be set out satisfactorily as late as October. They need full sun and rich, well drained soil. If planted too deep, they may not flower, so be sure that the eyes, or growing points above the roots, are not more than an inch or so below the surface of the soil. The many peony varieties, available include white and numerous shades of pink and red, double, semi-double and single flowered.

Bleeding-heart, a lovely old favorite that's as valuable today as it was, is another spring flowering perennial that benefits from late summer or early fall planting. The same is true of summer flowering day-lilies, which have been greatly improved and have skyrocketed to popularity in recent years.

OAKLAND GARDEN CLUB FALL FLOWER SHOW

Theme of the Fall Flower Show, staged by Oakland Garden Club, will be "Vacation Land," Sept. 26-27 at Oakland American Legion Hall.

Saturday the show will be held from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m.

General show chairman is Mrs. Calvert (Luis) Bowles, who reports entries will be received from 1 to 4 p.m. Friday and judging will start at 4:30 p.m. by credited judges. She also stated that only one entry in each class may be made by an exhibitor. Sweepstake prize will be given to individuals receiving the most blue ribbons.

A blue ribbon will be awarded for first place; red ribbon for second, yellow for third, and white for honorable mention.

Ike's Nomination Record Shows Only 3 Withdrawals

WASHINGTON (AP)—Despite the furor this year over nominations, most of those submitted by President Eisenhower were confirmed by the Senate.

Aside from such specific individuals as Clare Boothe Luce and Lewis L. Strauss, the principal controversy centered around the lag by the Senate Judiciary Committee in acting on judicial nominations. Some Republicans assailed the committee as a roadblock.

However, by the time the session came to an end early Tuesday, all but four of the judges nominated by Eisenhower had been confirmed.

The only nomination rejected was that of Strauss, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, to be secretary of commerce. After one of the bitterest battles of the session, the Senate refused by a 49-46 vote to confirm Strauss for the Cabinet post in which he was already serving.

One Disappointment
At a news conference two days ago, Eisenhower said this was one of the biggest personal disappointments of the session to him.

Mrs. Luce was confirmed as ambassador to Brazil by a 79-11 vote but then refused the post, saying her usefulness had been impaired by the denunciations of her by Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore).

Altogether, the Senate confirmed more than 40,000 presidential nominations during the session. The great bulk of them were routine promotions in the military services.

Of 1,531 postmaster nominations received by the Democrat-confirmed, 3 were withdrawn, and 549 were not acted on. None was rejected.

Noted Specialist Consulted Prior To Twins Surgery

PORTLAND (AP)—A London physician came here for a consultation today with surgeons who will attempt to separate the Stubblefield Siamese twins next month.

The University of Oregon Medical School said Dr. Ian Aird flew here last night from Los Angeles. Following consultation here he will leave for New York en route home to London.

A university spokesman described Aird as one of the world's foremost authorities on Siamese twins.

Aird has performed several surgical separations of twins, the spokesman said, and has compiled much of the medical profession's literature on the subject.

Earlier this week, the medical school hospital announced that surgery would be performed on the twins, Jeanett Kim and Denett Linn Stubblefield, early in October, probably between Oct. 5-10.

The twins were born June 29 at Nyssa, Ore., to Mr. and Mrs. James Stubblefield, a Parma, Idaho, farm couple.

Doctors have said there is 5 chance the twins' livers are connected.

TEST PASSED

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP)—The Bomarc intercept missile passed its second test against a Regulus II jet drone target.

A Bomarc destroyed a radio-controlled Regulus far out over the Eglin Gulf test range Thursday. In the first of a series of tests against faster-than-sound simulated enemy bombers Sept. 5, a Bomarc scored a scheduled near miss on another Regulus.
