CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Methodists were told Methodism "cannot win the cities nor keep the countryside if we do not identify ourselves more fully with the so-called common people."

Dr. Walter G. Mueller, dean of the Boston University School of Theology, urged members of the Methodist Conference on Christian Education to make a concerted effort to reach the laboring classes, the families with small incomes, and persons of lower educational attainment for church enrollment.

"To this must be added," he said, "an intensified effort to reach more persons who are non-white in other ways than through segregated channels."

"The goal," he declared, "is adequate Christian experience and relatedness for all."

Symington Plans Family Farm Bill

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) told a nationwide farm organization he will introduce a six-point farm bill when Congress meets again in January.

The purpose of the bill, he told the National Grange, is to bring the "family-sized farmer" a return on his investment comparable to returns received in other segments of the economy.

"Since 1952," the senator told delegates to the Grange's 83rd annual convention, "while total national income has increased one third, farm income has declined one third."

He added "the theory behind the farm policy of the present administration is that lower price supports will reduce production."

And, he said, "we know that the program has been bad for the farmers, bad for the consumers and bad for the taxpayers."
