WASHINGTON (AP) — The Steelworkers Union has told the government it better get busy stockpiling steel for defense needs because the steel strike is likely to resume in late January.

Deputy Premier Boasts Of Soviet "Lead" Over U. S.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan says the Soviet Union is preparing to increase its space missile lead over the United States by launching a rocket "to visit the sun."

Mikoyan, the highest Soviet official ever to appear in a Latin-American country, told a dinner given in his honor by city officials Friday night that the Soviet Union has surpassed the United States both in the scientific and in economic areas.

"Who gave the United States a monopoly on occupying first place in the world?" he demanded in a shouting, hand-waving speech that drew frequent applause and shouts of "Viva."

Mikoyan said that when he first visited America in 1930, "they were very much ahead, no doubt about that. But we have overtaken them."

The Deputy said he was not trying to spread Communist propaganda. "We are not egotists," he declared. "We are proud of our success, as we are of the successes of other countries."

"U.S. Surpassed" Boast
Mikoyan, here for a 10-day visit during which he is expected to push for more trade with Mexico, implied that Latin-American countries no longer have to follow U.S. leadership.

"We have surpassed the level of the United States," he boasted, apparently referring to the economic field.

Mikoyan did not elaborate on his announcement that Soviet scientists are prepared to launch a missile to the sun.

There have been reports from non-Communist sources in Moscow, however, that the Soviet Union will send up another rocket, either to the moon or Mars.

Today Mikoyan is opening a big Soviet scientific and cultural exposition, the announced purpose of his visit.

Khrushch Allows Children To Join Parents In U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev apparently is keeping at least one personal promise to allow some Lithuanians to join their American relatives here. Other Khrushchev pledges may still be honored.

Paulius Leonas, a Chicago real estate broker, said today he has heard from his son and daughter that they will be allowed to come to America.

Two other Americans also were able to make personal pleas to Khrushchev during his visit.

Miss Donna Armonas, 24, Wickliffe, Ohio, caught Khrushchev in Pittsburgh and asked him to allow her mother and 19-year-old brother to leave Lithuania.

She says the Premier told her, "Little girl, expect your mother very soon."

But Miss Armonas says she had no word of any action on Khrushchev's promise. Some of her mother's letters are not reaching the family here, she said, and those that do are heavily censored.

The Rev. Dr. Joseph Pruskis of Chicago, a Roman Catholic priest who fled Lithuania in 1940, saw both Khrushchev and his wife in Washington the day before they left to return to Moscow.

He asked that his 71-year-old mother, who lives in Kaunas, Lithuania, be restored to him. "I asked him to permit her to come," Father Pruskis said, "and he told me 'I will do that.'"

The priest said he has been getting letters from his mother, who soon learned of the Khrushchev promise and looked forward to joining her son. "She's contacting institutions in Lithuania," he said, "but there has been nothing definite."

partment handles government acquisitions such as steel. The union struck most of the nation's steel plants for 116 days. Early this month they were forced back to work by a court order under the Taft-Hartley law. After 80 days they are free to strike again if a settlement is not reached.

Goldberg wrote, "While I have not abandoned hope that a settlement will be reached before the 80-day injunction expires, I must advise you in all candor that at the present writing no settlement is in prospect."

"Surely the defense of this country should not rest on a gamble that hopes for a settlement in the 80-day injunction period will be realized."

Future Needs Ignored
Goldberg said a Nov. 17 order to steel companies to give priority to defense steel was completely inadequate. The order, he said, merely covers current orders for steel, and makes no provision to ensure that essential steel "not currently needed, but required in the reasonably foreseeable future for defense purposes, will not be used for civilian production."

If no steps are taken, Goldberg added, defense steel "will be permitted to slip through the hands of the steel industry into the hands of private, nondefense consumers."

"In all likelihood, therefore, the government will face upon dissolution of the injunction exactly the same problems that you pointed out in the court case."

The government had argued in support of the 80-day injunction that lack of steel was threatening defense production and thus menacing the safety of the nation.

Queen Liz Braves Highway Hazard As Infant Nears

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II, expecting her third child early next year, celebrated her 12th wedding anniversary with a drive along Britain's new motorway, which has been dubbed both a "dream highway" and "death trap."

The queen's chauffeur was her husband, Prince Philip. Numerous accidents, several of them causing fatalities, have marred the six-lane, no-speed-limit highway linking London and Birmingham since it opened earlier this month.

Dusk was falling Friday as the Queen rode alongside the prince in the sleek green Landau, which can reach 100 miles an hour. The speed-loving Prince took it easy, never topping 50 miles an hour.

Traffic was heavy as usual and apparently the royal motorists weren't recognized. They decided on the spur of the moment to take the new highway. No special arrangements were made for the drive. Palace officials, police and motorway authorities said they knew nothing about it beforehand.

Thanks Offered For PTA's Help

A letter of acknowledgment and appreciation from Oregon College of Education President Ljeuallen was read regarding a Drain PTA scholarship given to a 1959 Drain High School graduate, at the November PTA meeting.

The Cub Scouts under direction of Cubmaster John Ensel presented and retired the colors and led the flag salute. The Rev. Willard Norman of the Drain Methodist Church gave the invocation.

A report on the November PTA executive meeting, reported the resignation of Harry Cool Jr., as Ways and Means chairman. Mrs. T. Henry, membership chairman, also resigned, and Mrs. George Baker was appointed to take her place.

Grant Levins, president, urged parents to join the PTA organization and also called attention to the PTA magazine. Membership in the local organization is smaller than usual.

Dr. Neil Diess was speaker of the evening on the subject of hepatitis. At the close of his talk he answered questions regarding the care and characteristics of the disease.

Musical numbers on the program were a piano solo by Judith Brown and a trumpet solo by Stephen Cole, accompanied by Mrs. William Gasser.

At the close of the program open house gave parents the opportunity of visiting the various rooms to be come familiar with high school work and with the faculty.

Venerable Diseases Up, State Health Board Says

PORTLAND (AP) — Venerable disease is on the increase in Oregon, the state Board of Health said.

More syphilis has been encountered in the past four months than in all of last year. The cases now total 605 this year.

The board also reported 856 cases of gonorrhea in the first 10 months of the year, compared to 611 for the entire year of 1957 and only slightly under the 916 reported in all of 1958.

So far there have been 1,443 cases of venereal disease this year compared to 1,416 a year ago.

Snowfalls Cover Canadian Wheat

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada's 1959 wheat production has been officially estimated at 413,500,000 bushels. The Bureau of Statistics said more than one-quarter of it—112,000,000 bushels—remained unthreshed on the prairies because of early snowfalls.

The bureau's report, based on conditions on Nov. 1 put Prairie wheat production at 395,000,000 bushels.

That included crops still in the fields and the Bureau said much of this will remain out all winter, though some harvesting has been done since the survey was made.

The estimate represented a drop of 7,600,000 bushels from an Oct. 1 forecast of 421,100,000 bushels. The estimate of Prairie production was scaled down by 8,000,000 bushels.

Erupting Volcano Expected To Reach Fissure Base Today

HONOLULU (AP) — A rapidly filling lake of molten lava in Kilauea crater was expected to reach the base of the fissure in the erupting volcano early today.

When that happens, the spectacular fountain of flowing lava may be reduced to a steady series of giant bubbles with occasional spurts.

The fiery fountain was still shooting as high as 800 feet on the eighth day of its eruption. U.S. Geological Survey officials measuring the lava level at the bottom of the crater—which spread into a 100-acre lake—said the lake is nearly 300 feet deep.

The lowest point of the 150-foot wide fissure is estimated a little above 300 feet from the crater floor.

Officials estimate between 25 and 35 million cubic yards of lava have been hurled out of the fiery furnace thus far. Some 150 million cubic yards were spewed out of Kilauea during an eruption in 1955, which lasted 90 days.

The rising lake of lava may choke off the fountain, officials said, but the volcano also could wall itself off from the lake with a new cone, keeping its vent above the lake level.

If buried in its own lava, the flow probably would continue, but instead of skyrocketing fountains the volcano would produce a steady bubbling stream." one official said.

Kilauea Iki crater measures about 650 feet high from the bottom of the pit.

Auto Accidents List Cow As One Of Casualties

A heifer cow and a 16-year-old boy both chose inopportune times to involve themselves in auto accidents Friday night.

The cow was squashed by a car in an accident on Garden Valley Rd., four miles west of U. S. Highway 99 at 5:15 p. m. and the boy, Jack Perry Wilcox of Riddle, backed into the Roseburg City Police Chief's vehicle at a stop sign at SE Stephens St. and Oak Ave. at 10 p. m.

Chief Vernon M. Murdoch Jr. said he had pulled to a stop behind Wilcox, who then backed into the front end of his car. Both cars received minor damage.

The young boy met his fate when it collided with a car driven by Kenneth Graham Evans, 27, of Roseburg.

Evens told state police he was eastbound on Garden Valley Rd. and was partially blinded by headlights of a car parked on the north shoulder of the road. As he passed the parked vehicle, the cow jumped out in front of him, Evens told police.

Phone Calls Sparks Heroism Ex-Resident Of Roseburg Distinguishes Himself Saving Baby From Fire

One of the dreams of the average news reporter is that he be on hand when an accident happens. When a former Roseburg resident played the hero in a fire in North Hollywood recently, a reporter, while not present, was in the next best spot. He was on the telephone.

Lee Ritchie formerly lived in Roseburg. Now he is manager of the International Harvester store in North Hollywood.

Nelson McIninch is a reporter for Radio Station KNX. He handles a program for farmers, citrus growers, ranchers and other. In preparing his program, he normally has a tape-recorded interview with some person connected with the agricultural industry.

A few days ago he called Ritchie. Ritchie arrived at the telephone breathless, choking.

Then it developed that a woman had run screaming into the store that an apartment house across the street was afire, that a baby was trapped on the second floor.

Ritchie dashed into the burning building, groped his way through smoke, led by the baby's cries, rescued the 10-months old tot and delivered him into the mother's arms, then ran back to his store when told someone was waiting for him on the telephone line.

After newspapers had offered a reward of $100 to the "hero" and had been begged in a letter to identify himself, the reason for his breathlessness on the radio interview was revealed.

Perjury Charged In Cohabitation Case Testimony

A Roseburg woman was arrested Friday evening by the sheriff's office on a perjury charge arising from a district court lowd cohabitation case tried by a jury Tuesday. It was reported by the district attorney's office today.

Mrs. Hope Steinkuehler, 29, sister of David Sheets, 23, who was convicted Tuesday in district court on the cohabitation charge, gave Deputy Dist. Atty. George Weigum a full statement of her false testimony Friday following her arrest. Weigum stated.

Mrs. Steinkuehler was confined in the county jail on $1,500 bail, awaiting a court appearance before Judge Warren A. Woodruff.

Other arrests are contemplated arising from the Sheets case, Weigum stated today.

While testifying in the trial, Mrs. Steinkuehler stated that she had resided at the Sheets home at 644 NE Meadow Ln. all during the period of alleged cohabitation of Sheets and Nancy Williams, the other party.

Weigum said he has affidavits proving that Mrs. Steinkuehler was in different homes during the cohabitation case tried by a jury Tuesday. "We can't tolerate people lying in court," was the comment submitted by Dist. Atty. Avery W. Thompson. "This office intends to take action in any case where false testimony is given," he said.

PLAIN TRUTH

By Gian W. Lundy: Gospel Evangelist
"What is written in the law? How readest thou?" Lk. 10:26. Last week we called your attention to the first of these questions; today we would consider the second. "How readest thou?" The attitude in which we approach the Bible will determine, to a large extent, what we find there. Friend, when you set down to read the Bible are you SEARCHING for TRUTH or evidence to bolster a PRECONCEIVED IDEA? Are you a CASUAL READER who opens the Bible promiscuously, reads until you find something that satisfies your feelings then stops at that point. Do you read the Bible in order to demonstrate your piety by quoting choice bits to suit your fancy? "How readest thou?"

Handle the Word of the Lord with respect. Approach it with AWE. Search it with diligence. Determine who is speaking, to whom the language is directed, for what purpose and when or in what era of time it was spoken. He who uses COMMON SENSE rules and approaches the Bible in SEARCH OF TRUTH will be rewarded. How TALK TO YOU. Study to show YOURSELF approved of GOD not to see IF YOU APPROVE OF GOD. 2 Tim. 2:15. Listen to KYES each Lord's Day morning at 8:30. Visit the Church of Christ near you tomorrow and study God's Word with those meeting there.
