Gene Baker Back On Feet

MYERS, Fla. (AP) —It was a hot Sunday afternoon in July, 1958. The scene was Busch Stadium in St. Louis. The Cards were battling the Pittsburgh Pirates.

A St. Louis batter laid down a neat bunt. Pirate third baseman Gene Baker charged the ball. Suddenly he collapsed.

Baker tore the cartilage and muscle matter in his left knee. Doctors said Baker might never play baseball again, Gene thought that way, too.

But today, Gene is under contract with the Pirates again.

"At first I thought I'd never play ball again," related Baker. "Heck, before they put my knee back where it should be, I could move the kneecap around like a checkerboard."

Once Baker was back on his feet though, he decided he wanted to play baseball again.

"I did a lot of work on the knee during the winter, but none of the work that is connected with playing ball," said the 34-year-old Baker.

Baker gives a lot of credit for his dramatic comeback to Dr. Jay Bender of Carbondale, Ill. He visited Dr. Bender last January and was given exercises with weights, wires and pulleys to strengthen the knee.

Following the treatments, he went to the Pirates' training camp here to give his knee the test. It held up and now he's playing.

Baker, who served as a coach and a scout for the Pirates last year, will be the team's No. 1 utility infielder this season, according to Manager Danny Murtaugh.

Changes Seen In Nixon Strategy Following Illinois Primary Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — New pressure built up on Vice President Richard M. Nixon today to open up with political campaigning before the Republican presidential nominating convention.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, said Nixon's showing in Tuesday's Illinois primary conceivably may bring some changes in the vice president's strategy.

Running unopposed in the GOP presidential primary, Nixon collected 725,000 votes with nearly 300 precincts unreported. This approached but still fell below the 781,710 President Eisenhower got in the 1956 primary.

Possibly more significant, however, the vice president fell more than 150,000 votes short of the total rolled up by Sen. Paul Douglas, a Democratic liberal who was unopposed for renomination to the Senate.

Goldwater said this outcome could be discounted somewhat because Douglas had done what he called a good job of campaigning and no special Republican drive was put on for Nixon.

"But it suggests that maybe the vice president ought to take another look at his determination not to campaign until after the convention," Goldwater said.

Nixon's lieutenants don't agree with this assessment, of course. They have plenty of precedent for their view that how a candidate runs in an unopposed primary has little to do with his final showing in November.

Nevertheless, they could be disturbed by the failure of nearly 100,000 Republicans who voted in the Illinois GOP governor's race to take the trouble to cast a ballot for Nixon, even through he was unopposed.

They obviously recognize this, and Nixon's failure to keep pace with potential Democratic presidential rivals in Wisconsin, as encouraging to those Republicans who still hope to draft Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York for the nomination.

Blister Rust Control Will Be Demonstrated

A public demonstration featuring the use of antibiotics in the control of blister rust in western white pine will be held on April 16, at 9 a.m., at the Peavy Arboretum, six miles north of Corvallis.

This program is being jointly sponsored by the U.S. Forest Service, the Oregon State Board of Forestry, and the Oregon State College School of Forestry.

Ben Howard, from the U.S. Forest Service regional office in Portland, will demonstrate and discuss the use of the antibiotics, "Actidione" and "Phytoactin," in controlling blister rust. The antibiotics, when applied as a basal spray to an infected tree are picked up by the sap stream and carried throughout the tree killing cankers whenever they occur. Individual trees can be treated at a cost of only a few cents each.

Howard said, "The use of antibiotics represents a major breakthrough in forest disease control. They will have a tremendous impact on white pine management."
