CLASS TO MEET

The Ladies Bible Class of the Oakland Community Presbyterian Church will meet at the home of Mrs. J. F. Howard Friday at 2 p.m., reports Edith Dunn, correspondent.

Meet Covers Wide Range

Approximately 1,900 Oregon 4-H club members will arrive at Oregon State College June 12 for the 46th annual 4-H Club Summer School one of the largest of its kind in the country.

Youths will spend five days at OSC where they'll attend special classes and participate in summer school government.

Cal Monroe, acting state 4-H leader, says the purpose of the school is to supplement regular 4-H projects in agriculture and home economics with visits to OSC research labs. Members also get a broader view of career opportunities, a taste of campus life, and a chance to develop leadership talents.

Forenoons will be devoted to classes presented by OSC staff members and representatives of commercial firms. Youths will attend classes according to their age and previous attendance at the 4-H school. Delegates 15 and older will be offered a choice of subjects including leadership, forestry, town and country business, animal science, camp counselling, money management, horsemanship careers in home economics, communications, Plant science and engineering-food science.

Girls Class

Girls' classes include lamb cookery, use of color, modeling, lighting the home, nutrition, child development, and demonstration techniques. Boys will take a variety of courses including photography, marketing, entomology, hunter safety, livestock, bacteriology, soils, forestry, tractor and auto mechanics, gymnastics, plant diseases and highway safety.

A special co-ed class called "Dating Data" will be conducted for 14 and 15-year olds by Mrs. Roberta Frasier, extension family life specialist.

To be eligible to attend 4-H Summer School, a club member must have been 12 years old before Jan. 1, have completed a year of 4-H work, and be presently enrolled in 4-H. All youths attend on scholarships provided by local and state businesses, organizations, and interested individuals. College age counsellors, county extension agents and 4-H club leaders supervise the 4-H'ers and their activities during the session.

Aide Says Ike's Brother Informed On Tractor Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—An aide says Milton Eisenhower was fully informed about other members of the Tractors-for-Freedom Committee before agreeing to help in the drive to ransom 1,200 Cuban rebel prisoners.

The statement by Eisenhower aide Keith Spalding recently came in response to Republican charges Eisenhower was enlisted by President Kennedy without telling him who other members of the committee would be.

His brother, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, is reported by associates to oppose the exchange of 500 tractors for the prisoners captured when an invasion attempt was crushed by Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

The former president has made no public statement on the matter.

Other members of the committee are Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Walter Reuther, United Auto Workers Union president.

Richard N. Goodwin, assistant special counsel to Kennedy, also said the President made it clear that Eisenhower would be asked to work with Mrs. Roosevelt and Reuther in the fund-raising drive.

Spalding declined to comment on reports the former president was not pleased with his brother's participation. Milton Eisenhower was unavailable for comment.
