

The Dalles Dam Said Beneficial To Salmon Run

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Fishermen consider big dam the enemies of fish. The Dalles Dam is different.
Since The Dalles Dam went into operation, thousands more fish have gone up the Columbia River. Take the most valuable of all the fish in the Columbia—the spring Chinook salmon.
In the three years before The Dalles Dam went into operation late in 1956, about 100,000 Chinook got as far upstream as McNary Dam.
In the three years thereafter, 225,000 spring Chinook swam past McNary.
Fish biologists say it is because The Dalles Dam flooded Indian fishing points and commercial fishing was closed when The Dalles Dam was completed.
Before the dam was built, the fish were forced into narrow passages through the rock rapids at Ceillo, Indians, standing on the rocks, used to scoop out thousands of fish in dip nets. All this now is deep beneath the surface of the pool behind The Dalles Dam. Commercial fishing above Bonneville Dam also ended when the dam was completed.
Army Engineers say the spring Chinook run this year totaled nearly 100,000 at Bonneville Dam, downstream from The Dalles. Seven per cent of them went on past The Dalles and McNary dams.
In the years just before the dam was completed, only 27 per cent of the spring Chinook were able to get past Ceillo and up to McNary.
Since the dam has been completed 440,000 spring Chinook have been counted at Bonneville. At McNary the count has been 350,000. That means 79 per cent of the fish got upstream.
The records are similar for fall Chinook and steelhead, said Philip F. Moon, chief of the district fish planning section for the Army Engineers.

Sheep Feeder Sale Slated

The Douglas County Livestock Association will sponsor a sheep feeder sale July 22, it was announced today by Wayne Mosher, secretary.
Plans were completed at a committee meeting Tuesday night and details will be mailed to shepherds in the county in a few days. The sale will take place at the Douglas Livestock Market at Wilbur, using their facilities.
Lambs will be sorted into uniform classes for sale on an auction basis.
Mosher emphasized that owners must have lambs in by 10 a.m. PST the date of the sale. Receiving will be from 5:30 to 10 a.m. It is to the owner's advantage to bring his lambs early since they will be sorted and weighed immediately. Those received near deadline time would have to take the chance of "shrinkage."
Anyone desiring to participate in the sale should contact the secretary at PO Box 1165, Roseburg.

Hot Weather Hurts Oregon's Pea Crop

PENDLETON (AP) — Umatilla County green pea processors have completed, or are nearing completion of their season's operation, most of them on a bleak note.
Some say the present crop is the poorest since they began growing peas. Others say 1955 was worse. Extremely hot weather is blamed.
Extreme temperatures in June particularly hurt the crop. It knocked the blooms off and literally cooked the peas in the pod.
For four consecutive days in the middle of June the mercury was above 100 degrees. Ninety degrees is considered the breaking point for peas. One processor, apparently hardest hit, said the yield probably would be 40 per cent less than anticipated at the season's beginning.

Multnomah Leaders Rapped By Hatfield

SALEM (AP) Gov. Mark O. Hatfield said today that the Multnomah County commissioners have given a "horrible example of playing politics with the misery of people."
He denied their charges that food standards have to be cut in the county and that the foster care program for children is in jeopardy.
"I do not favor cutting food standards," he said. "Nobody will go hungry. If Multnomah County had moved ahead with the food surplus plan, there would be no problem."
He said the county could take advantage of a new legislative act allowing welfare money to be transferred from one category to another.
"The state welfare Commission is working closely with the Multnomah County Welfare Commission," he said. "There is close harmony."
As to the foster care program, he said, "no child will go neglected or turned into the streets. That is a false and malicious statement."

High County Lakes Get Many Visitors

The Diamond Lake District had the expected heavy recreation use over the recent four-day holiday, reports Mrs. Arthur Selby, Glade correspondent.
The peak day was July 2, with a total of 4,740 people in the district. The total for all four days was 15,330. It is estimated that the average visitor stays two days, which results in 7,665 people visiting the area over the holiday.
The greatest concentration of population was at the Diamond Lake camp ground and other areas adjacent to the lake, although Lemolo Lake and other areas in the district were also very popular over the holiday.
On July 2, the U.S. Forest Service counted 1,250 cars and 410 trailers in the district, according to Donald J. Tandy, district ranger.

Heavy Flow Of Refugees Indicates Stepped-Up Pressure In E. Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said today the heavy flow of refugees into West Berlin indicates the Communist East Germany regime was stepping up pressure on its citizens.
"The refugee situation proves that conditions over there have become unbearable," the West German leader told a news conference. "A panic seems to have broken out."
Refugees cross easily from East Berlin to West Berlin and are flown to West Germany. Soviet threats to hand over more authority to East Germany have encouraged the Red regime there to demand control over air corridors to West Berlin. This would close the refugee escape hatch. West Berlin is 100 miles inside East Germany.

Adenauer rejected direct negotiations between West Germany and Communist East Germany, as urged by Soviet Premier Khrushchev. He also turned down West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt's suggestion for a 32-nation conference on Germany, made up of Germany's wartime enemies.
The chancellor said again that a German settlement must be based on self-determination of the entire German people.
He complimented Secretary of State Dean Rusk for setting "a pattern of restraint" in the Berlin negotiations.

Adenauer held the news conference at the close of a two-day stay in Berlin, his first visit to the isolated city in 18 months. He then flew through rainy weather back to Bonn in a U.S. Air Force plane. West German planes are not permitted in the corridors over East Germany.

Eichmann Says Slaying Of Jews Was A 'Hideous, Heinous Crime'

JERUSALEM (AP) — Adolf Eichmann, clinging grimly to his "honor" as an SS officer, refused today to admit that any Nazi who killed Jews was a criminal.
The former Gestapo colonel would only concede that the slaughter of six million Jews he is charged with helping to administer was "heinous, hideous."
Israel Atty. Gen. Gideon Aulombr cracked Eichmann's aplomb again after four days of blistering cross-examination. He extracted a flood of justifications on how a man could follow Hitler's murderous orders and still live with himself. In sum, Eichmann's explanation was that no matter how horrible, orders had to be followed because of the SS oaths of loyalty.

Eichmann Shaken
Finally shaken, Eichmann begged the Israeli court—regardless of the sentence—to permit him to write a book on the pogrom "as a deterrent to the generations to come." It was an outright plea for his life.
Presiding Judge Moshe Landau sternly rebuked Eichmann and told him that regardless of what he would write in such a book, "You will have to say it first here."
The prosecution assault had Eichmann leaping to his feet and firing back his replies. The courtroom audience erupted in such frequent outbursts that the court threatened to eject the spectators.
The SS oath, Eichmann pointed out, was: "My honor means loyalty."

Church Building School
WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — A Mennonite educational center, including the sect's first high school in Ohio, is rising on a 30-acre campus about 50 miles south of Cleveland.
The high school will open this fall. Plans call eventually for a junior college. The Mennonites have several elementary schools in Ohio.
Mennonites came to Ohio from Switzerland, Alsace and Germany almost 150 years ago. Basic beliefs in the sect include simplicity in life and worship, fundamentalism and conscientious objection to military service.

HANGED IN EFFIGY — It once was coaches. Now it's weighmasters who were hanged in effigy. Glendale weighmaster Claude Humphreys was greeted with this sight this week when he came to work. It had been raised by unidentified persons, apparently in protest to his closing a Cow Creek swimming hole on property he owns because of Vandalism. A hand-printed badge on the dummy reads "Clad, Ruiner of Recreation." (G. B. Fox Photo)
