

Water Safety Methods Course Due At The 'Y'

Instruction in simple reach rescues and mouth-to-mouth resuscitation will be given to all YMCA swimming classes during the week of July 24-29.

John T. Johnson, program secretary of the Roseburg YMCA says instructions will educate swimmers in some of the fundamentals of water safety and what to do in case of emergency.

The mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and simple reach methods which will be taught are among the ways the YMCA and its aquatic program are designed to protect the 90 per cent of the American population participating in aquatic activities as unskilled swimmers.

According to a recent nationwide study made by B. W. Gabrielson, professor of education and swimming coach at the University of Georgia, the leading cause of drownings is swimming alone or swimming with someone unable to assist in an emergency. The seventh highest cause of drownings is someone attempting a rescue beyond his ability to overcome by the victim. The simple reaches will be taught to help alleviate these causes of drowning.

In the simple reaches, the rescuer stays on solid ground in his attempt to help the swimmer in trouble. By being familiar with the reaches a swimmer or non-swimmer will be able to give much more assistance to swimmers in trouble.

Many lives could have been saved had rescuers employed immediate mouth-to-mouth resuscitation instead of wasting time running for help. Time is most essential in getting new air into the lungs of the drowned victim. Chances for a comeback after breathing has stopped and artificial respiration is started is 98 out of 100 after one minute and reduced to one out of 100 after 10 minutes without air.

Some other reasons for drowning are as follows: non-swimmer in a boat; child left unattended; intoxicated while swimming or boating; trying to swim beyond one's capacity; trying to rescue someone, non-swimmer on some floating object; and going into cold water when overheated. These reasons have been mentioned to make the swimmer and non-swimmer conscious of some ways that they may become drowning fatalities and added to the list of 7,000 or over who drown in the United States each year.

Meanwhile, the fishing at Diamond Lake has been improving steadily throughout the week after two weeks of poor angling.

With warm and sunny weather forecast for this weekend, many limit catches are expected.

Early this week, many anglers had taken their limits at the lake, with the largest Kamloops caught to date being 8 pounds, 11 ounces.

Most of the fish are being taken on dark colored flies, according to a report from the Diamond Lake Resort.

A special attraction is being planned at the resort for the week-end of July 28-29. Bill Borchert and his Oregon Jazz Band will perform.

Good fishing is expected both at Diamond Lake and Winchester Bay over the weekend.

Harry Ludwig, Salmon Harbor manager, said the weekend at the coast "looks promising."

He said the weather was beautiful Thursday and looks good again today, although it was a little foggy in the early morning.

He said catches now at the bay are mostly silvers, with a few Chinooks mixed in. He noted that County Commissioner Ray Doerner and his party Thursday caught five salmon, including a 28-pound chinook.

Ludwig said Chinooks were averaging about 20 pounds.

U.S. Harriers Hit By Injuries

LONDON (AP)—"How," mused Jumbo Jim Elliott today, "can one track team wind up with so many injuries? I'm just amazed."

Elliott, head coach of the United States track team that took on Great Britain at White City Stadium today and Saturday in its third international meet in a week, had to make four substitutions for his injured men going against Great Britain.

Improvement Necessary

"When I took the job," he said, "I thought I would just have to send the boys into their specialties and be called a genius if they won. Now I'm improvising all over the place."

The hospital list reads like this: 1. John Fromm, javelin thrower from Seattle — out with a pull in his side.

2. Bill Sharpe, hop, step and jumper from Philadelphia — out with a bad leg.

3. John Uelses, pole vaulter from the Quantico Marines — out with a bad leg.

4. Paul Drayton, sprinter from Villanova — out with a pull in his leg.

5. Jerry Siebert, half-miler of Santa Clara, Calif. — ailing with a cold and a bad knee but ready to start the half-mile.

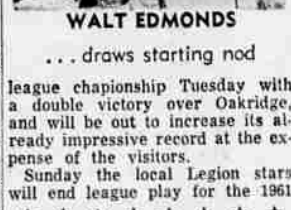

Sharpe Hurt

"Sharpe is the most seriously hurt," said Elliott. "He can hardly stand and is finished until next year. The others I hope will be all right for the meet against Poland they're not, we're in trouble."

Elliott was not particularly worried about the British. But he was looking ahead to Poland, which has beaten the Russians in a dual meet. The U.S. team meets the Poles in Warsaw on July 29-30.

Dave Edstrom will take the place of Fromm in the javelin, Chuck Frazier will substitute for Drayton in the 100 and Earl Young for Drayton in the 220; Ralph Boston or Cliff Cushman will replace Sharpe in the hop, step and jump, and Paul Herman will take over for Uelses in the pole vault.

Siebert, with all his ills, is the choice in the half-mile.
