Linder-Hansen Wedding June 29

The Seventh-day Adventist Church on Garden Valley Boulevard was the setting Thursday evening, June 29, for an impressive ceremony that united Janice Kay Hansen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hansen, and Robert Linder, son of Mrs. Ann Poland and Kenneth Linder (all of Roseburg) in the holy bonds of matrimony in the presence of more than 200 guests. Elder A. P. Ritz, pastor of the church, was the officiating minister.

Large bouquets of white gladioli and orchid rhododendron and candelabra flanked the altar. There were flowers and candles in the windows and flower sprays on the ends of the pews that bordered the bridal path. Mrs. Hubert Denton and Arthur Burroway were the decorators.

Patricia Casper, organist, provided traditional wedding music. Soloists were Phil Wildt who sang "No Other Love" and Mrs. Dan Blehm, who sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Lila Oleis and the bride's brother, Bruce, acted as candlelighters. Their orchid candles were decorated with orchid net and ribbon streamers. Karen and Kim Matula, small twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Matula, scattered rose petals in the path of the bride. Ricky Poland, nephew of the bridegroom, carried the minister's Bible.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, was lovely in a tiered full-skirted floor-length white lace gown and an illusion veil. She carried a sheaf bouquet of white gladioli, ribbon and lace.

Joyce McNabb, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Christine and Sue Linder, sisters of the bridegroom. They wore identical dresses of white lace over orchid taffeta with matching headbands. Their bouquets were of orchid rhododendrons and white gladioli arranged with net and ribbon streamers.

The bridegroom's attendants were Robert Lane, who served as best man, and Floyd Matula and Aaron White.

Mrs. Hansen chose a sand-colored lace frock for her daughter's wedding while Mrs. Poland's gown was of blue lace. Both wore corsages of white gladioli.

At the reception in the Adventist auditorium, Mrs. Blehm sang "Because."

The beautiful four-tiered tower wedding cake had been made by the bride's mother and decorated by Mrs. Gordon Larson, a long-time friend, as a gift to the bride. A miniature bride and bridegroom graced its top. The cake was cut and served by Miss Christine Johnson, Robert's aunt, and by Mrs. John Warren. Fruit punch was poured by Mrs. Edward Stevens, great-aunt of the bridegroom, and Mrs. William Casper. Sondra Christenson presented the guest book while Lynda Cook and Lillian Graves had charge of the many lovely gifts. Among these was a family heirloom sterling silver service for 12 from Robert's mother.

Robert expects to enter college this fall to prepare for ministry in the Seventh-day Adventist denomination.

Out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stevens, Seattle, Wash.; Mrs. Anna Marie Draper, Willwood, Wash.; Mrs. William Wilson Edmonds, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. Otto Johnson, Seattle; Miss Christine Johnson, Edmonds; Ray McNabb and daughter, Joyce; Mrs. John Warren and Roger and Alice Young, all from Portland; and Mr. and Mrs. John Casper and Patricia from Myrtle Point.

OUT FOR A SUNDAY STROLL, Floyd Graham, Lebanon construction man, and his triplet granddaughters, Peggy Lee, Le Anne and Nancy Lynn Corstens, got many an admiring glance from over the weekend window shoppers. The triplets, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. William Carstens of Roseburg, weighed four pounds each at birth last Sept. 24. They were born at Douglas Community Hospital, Mrs. Carstens, a former school teacher, claims to have little trouble organizing the routine of her triplets and a son, Henry. The babies are dressed in pink, yellow and blue for identification purposes these days. Graham was a proud but weary grandfather after his joust. He confessed that he sometimes forgets who's who.
