Queen Visits Badoura Club

Queen Bea Feiock of Nydia Temple No. 4, Daughters of the Nile, made her official visit with the local Badoura Club at a noon luncheon at Ruth Bradley's Oak Tree Inn. She was accompanied by Violet Lang, who is princess royal. Mrs. A. J. Ellison, president, was in charge.

Mrs. Feiock and Mrs. Lang gave reports on the Supreme Session held in Denver in June. Mrs. Hal Simpson of Portland was elected supreme princess Badoura at the session. The 1965 Supreme Session will be held in Portland.

The Daughters of the Nile sew for the Shrine Hospital and give many benefits and sponsor projects to earn money for the care of the children in the hospital. The 121 temples all over the United States and Canada, gave a total of $330,788.00. Of this sum Nydia Temple in Portland contributed $26,853.00 in cash, sewing or mending.

Each week Nile members mend about 250 garments or items at the Shrine Hospital. Once a month a birthday party is given for the children. There are 88 beds in the hospital, which are reported to be always filled. Daughters of the Nile make all the garments for each child.

The local Badoura Club presented a check to the Queen to be used for her project at the hospital.

The luncheon tables were beautifully decorated with cacti dahlias in autumn shades from the gardens of Mrs. Ellison and Mrs. A. F. Micelli. Gladioli formed the basket bouquets about the rooms. Mrs. C. B. Wade arranged the decorations and the luncheon committee included Mrs. M. C. Cassel, Mrs. George K. Quine and Mrs. M. L. Veatch.

Honored

Golden Wedding Observed Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Haines of Elkton celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at the Kellogg Grange Hall Sunday, commemorating their one-half century of married life.

The festivities began with a picnic lunch served at noon for guests who came from a distance. In the afternoon a reception was held. A host of friends and neighbors dropped in to pay their respects.

The bride of 50 years was dressed in a lovely gown of pink lace over taffeta, harmonizing with a beautiful creamy white orchid corsage.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Haines are descendants of well-known pioneer families of Elkton and Hedden Bluff communities. They were united in marriage at Roseburg in 1911 by the Rev. K. Mears, pastor of the South Methodist Church of Roseburg.

When Mrs. Haines was asked where they spent their honeymoon her answer was: "We just went to Roseburg and got married and came home. It took us a day and one-half each way to make the trip. We met two automobiles, one driven by Art Denny."

Their present home is on a portion of the Harrison B. Hart donation land claim one mile west of Elkton on Highway 38. They own several hundred acres adjoining which Haines farmed for 50 years.

The first of the Haines clan, Joseph and William, who were twins, arrived in Oregon in 1851 and located at Scottsburg. They came from Whiteside County, Ill. In 1860, Alfred Benton Haines, Oliver's father, came west at the age of 16 and joined his brothers. Two years later, Alfred Haines, their father, came to Elkton and bought the Stoddard land two miles southeast of Elkton. Alfred Benton made his home with his parents until 1864 when he enlisted in Co. K, 1st Oregon Inft., and did service with his regiment in the Indian uprisings. After his discharge and two more years of service for the government on the Klamath Indian reservation, he returned home and in 1873 was married to Miss Marietta Ransom, daughter of Dr. William Clark Ransom, a distant relative of Capt. William Clark of the Lewis and Clark expedition. After his marriage he bought the present Haines homestead where his son, Oliver, was born and reared. Alfred Benton was the fifth postmaster at Elkton, serving from 1871 to 1876.

Mary Bunch Haines is the daughter of James and Flora Bunch, both natives of Missouri. They came to Oregon in 1880 on a railroad emigrant train to San Francisco, then by boat to Portland, and again by train to Oakland. Bunch went to Scottsburg for a while but soon came back up the river and rented the Gotlieb-Mehl donation land claim, then owned by John Hedden. He later bought land adjacent to the Mehl place which was always referred to as the home place where Mary was born. In 1905, the Bunch family moved to the Henry Beckley ranch about two miles west of Elkton on the Mehl Creek road. They resided here until 1911 when they moved back to the home place. Upon Bunch's retirement, they went to Oakland to live. Bunch died in October, 1924. Mrs. Bunch followed him in death 10 years later.

The Oliver Haines' have four children, two daughters and two sons: Bernice Solomon, Elkton; Marie Beaman, Whittier, Calif.; James, Elkton; and Claude, Mesa, Wash. The seven grandchildren are: Joy Palmer and Merrit Solomon, Chester Beaman, Diane Hansen and Gloria Haines.

Of the 12 brothers and sisters of Mr. Haines, six are still living. They include: one brother, Ivan of Drain; Mrs. Nannie Cox, Drain; Mrs. Agnes Jones, Elkton; Mrs. Edith Wright, Drain; and Mrs. Jean Johnson, Eugene. All were present except Mrs. Wright.

An appropriate program was presented before refreshments were served. Grant Levins, who has a splendid baritone voice was accompanied at the piano by his wife as he sang the old familiar ballad, "Silver Threads Among the Gold."

Family albums provided pictures of the bride and bridegroom from out of the past. As each picture was described, characters dressed in costume of the period stood behind a large picture frame. Events were depicted from a babe in arms until the marriage vows were taken. The program was concluded by another song by Mr. Levins, "Love's Old Sweet Song."

Refreshments were served to approximately 125 guests. The delicious cake was a five-tiered affair, furnished by Mrs. Josephine Bloodgood a niece of Oliver Haines. It was baked and decorated by Mrs. Bloodgood and her husband, who operate a bakery on SE Belmont St. Portland. Mrs. Bloodgood delivered the cake and officiated in the serving.

Among other special guests present were Mrs. Haines' two sisters, Mrs. Maud McClay of Klamath Falls and Mrs. Jennie Haines of Oakland; and her brother, William Bunch, Elkton. One coincident that merits observation was the presence of one of Mr. and Mrs. Haines' school teachers, Mrs. Anna Minter McCulloch, now 78, who taught school in old Dist. 66 in 1902, and in the Hedden Bluff Dist. in 1903. Twelve of her scholars at that time stood with her for pictures. Oliver was then 14 and Mary 8.

Those who poured were Mrs. William Bunch, Gladys Foster, Mrs. Jean Johnson, Mrs. Grover Cox and Mrs. Lula Townsend.

One interesting feature of the afternoon festivities was the wearing of Mrs. Haines' wedding gown by her granddaughter, Diane Hansen. Marie Beaman wore the dress in which her aunt, Mrs. Jennie Haines, was married. Both gowns were similar in design and color, not much different than wedding gowns of today.

The occasion was genuinely enjoyed by all present who wished the guests of honor many happy returns of the day.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED—Mrs. Harold Baxter of Roseburg announced the engagement of her daughter, Bonnie Holmes, to Donald Vannice, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Kenneth Vannice of Huntington, Ore. Miss Holmes was graduated from Roseburg High School and is a sophomore at Southern Oregon College. Mr. Vannice is a senior at Southern Oregon College. No date has been set for the wedding.
