

New Soviet Plan Lacking Say U. S. Officials Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. officials said today Premier Khrushchev's latest package proposal for a German settlement failed to advance the prospects of East-West agreement to end the Berlin crisis.

They also found nothing encouraging in the Soviet leader's declaration of readiness to attend a summit meeting to achieve a peaceful solution of the crisis. A summit conference, U. S. leaders say, should come only at the end of lower-level negotiations which would assure success at the summit.

Moscow Radio reported Thursday night that Khrushchev had written two letters on current East-West tensions, one to a group of labor members of the British Parliament, the other to the chairman of the Japanese Council Against Nuclear Tests.

In both he asserted the willingness of the Soviet government to enter into negotiations with the Western powers. In the letter to Chairman Kaoru Yasui of the Japanese council, he declared his personal readiness to meet Western leaders "in order to find a way out of the present difficult situation."

Some of the points of his proposed Berlin-German settlement may be negotiable from the Western point of view. However, all are believed to have been covered in recent talks by President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko. And Kennedy summarized those talks this week by saying that they had failed to provide a basis for negotiations.

It does appear that at present the Western policy position in responding to the Soviet Union on specific issues is severely handicapped by lack of agreement among the United States, Britain, France and West Germany. They are divided over what, if any, concessions they can make to Moscow if Khrushchev will modify his basic demand for a change in the status of West Berlin.

Khrushchev based his package proposal on the proposition that only a German peace treaty — by which he means a treaty signed separately with East and West Germany — "can remove the danger of a new war."

U. S. officials say that there is nothing Western powers can do to prevent Khrushchev from signing a separate peace treaty with East Germany. But they have no intention of participating in a pact which would formalize the division of Germany. Basic Western policy still calls for ultimate German unification.

Doctors To Attend Portland Meeting

Drs. A. N. Johnson and Donald M. Jeppesen from Roseburg are delegates to the meetings. The other attendees, Dr. Roy E. Hanford and J. E. Campbell, will also attend. Dr. Warren Kadas of Sutherlin has also indicated he will go.

The meetings began Thursday and will continue through Saturday at the Sheraton-Portland Hotel. The annual scientific program, featuring a number of guest lectures, is aimed at providing postgraduate education for Oregon's family doctors. Doctors who attend receive credits from the American Academy of General Practice.

U. S. Army Has Apparently Scored Hit With Kennedy

FT. BRAGG, N. C. (AP)—The Army apparently has scored big with President Kennedy in its close-up look at its proud paratroopers, skilled antiguerrilla forces and sharpshooting weapons.

The impact that Thursday's four-hour demonstration made on the President could yield important dividends to the Army in the shaping of the new defense budget.

Gen. George H. Decker, Army chief of staff, who sat beside the President through much of the afternoon, told a reporter Kennedy was "tremendously impressed" with the accuracy and the efficiency of the artillery pieces and missiles.

Maj. Gen. Theodore Conway, commanding general of the elite, all-volunteer 82nd Airborne Division, said the President remarked to him that the paratroopers' pride and spirit "stand out all over them."

This dovetailed with a statement by the White House press secretary, Pierre Salinger, that the President was very impressed by the firing and other exhibitions as well as by the quality, caliber and spirit of the men.

By this, Kennedy obviously meant not only the paratroopers but the highly trained antiguerrilla forces and rangers.

The Army wheeled up a series of small and large weapons, some conventional artillery and some rockets capable of firing atomic warheads. No atomic projectiles were fired.

Chick said the emergency equipment was in good order, and he stressed the importance of keeping it that way during the current tense international situation.

He stated also that in the recent four-state effectiveness test conducted three weeks ago, Oregon scored a grade of 92 per cent. Grading was by regular Air Force officers from Hamilton Air Base.

Two Navy Bombers Collide; All Six Men Aboard Perish

SANFORD, Fla. (AP)—Two Navy twin-engine attack bombers collided Thursday over Sanford Naval Air Station. All six men aboard were killed.

Flaming wreckage of the jets fell within 200 feet of Seminole High School but no one on the ground was injured. Pupils had been dismissed for the day but 20 teachers were attending a meeting in the school's administration building when the accident occurred.

One of the planes was on ground control approach for a landing and the other was practicing field maneuvers. Wreckage of both planes fell within 200 yards of each other, one in a cleared area near the school and the other in a pine woods. Pieces of flaming wreckage set a small building afire but no other damage was done.

The ground control approach involved radar guidance for an instrument landing. The other plane was practicing over land, a carrier-landing technique in which the pilot judges altitude and position by watching a beam of light reflected on a large mirror on the deck.

Famed Negro Baritone Will Open Concert Series Here

Lawrence Winters, famed Negro baritone, will open the Roseburg Community Concert series here next Wednesday when he makes his appearance in the auditorium of Joseph Lane Junior High School. Starting time is 8:15 p.m.

Several seasons ago, Winters was dubbed "a singing actor of the highest powers" by the New York Herald Tribune. At that time his reputation as a "show stopper" had been firmly planted in the minds of musical audiences on two continents.

He was already known as the leading Rigoletto of the New York City Center Opera and star of 27 other operatic works in that company's repertoire. He had won several great successes on Broadway, and he was a distinguished member of that group of young Americans, who, in the early 1930's, achieved stardom in the opera houses of Europe.

He became much sought after by the Philadelphia Orchestra, Berlin Philharmonic, the National Symphony and many others. He has been increasingly in demand for concert tours, which have taken him to all parts of the United States, Central and South America and every country in Western Europe.

Winters' versatility is noted by the fact he reportedly can give a German Lieder recital, including works by Brahms, Schumann and Schubert, or help fill the musical gap left by the cultural isolation of Germany during the 20's and 40's with radio-casts devoted to American favorites such as "Daddy Boy," "Old Man River" and "Siboney."

He pointed out that Rotary clubs are not allowed behind the Iron Curtain.
