

Nigerian Students, Peace Corps Now On Friendly Terms

IBADAN Nigeria (AP) — Nigerian students at Ibadan University College, where the row started over the Margery Michelmore postcard, have now resumed friendly relations with U.S. Peace Corps members.

Miss Michelmore left Nigeria Oct. 18 to return to the United States after dropping a postcard she had written home and containing comments about living conditions in this country. The remaining 36 Peace Corps members continued the special training at Ibadan University College. They will take up teaching appointments throughout Nigeria early in the new year.

Abidoye Babalola, the new president of the student body, said Sunday: "The students have resumed friendly and cordial relations with the Peace Corps."

Babalola was addressing the students' Representative Council, the supreme governing body of the Student Union.

Miss Michelmore, 23, of Foxboro, Mass., offered to resign from the Peace Corps after her postcard was found near the university campus. She was urged by President Kennedy to remain in the Peace Corps program and she did so, accepting an appointment in the organization's Washington headquarters.

Washington Leads In Power Output

OLYMPIA (AP) — Washington generated more than three times as much electric power as Oregon last year, the Washington Department of Conservation reports.

The agency said 36 million kilowatt hours, or 65 per cent of the total for the Pacific Northwest, were generated in Washington. Of that amount 4.3 million was turned out by private utilities.

Oregon generated 11.7 million kilowatt hours, or 21 per cent of the total, the agency said. The amount included 4.2 million kilowatt hours from private sources.

Idaho generated 9 per cent and Montana 5 per cent of the Pacific Northwest total of 55 million kilowatt hours.

The agency also released a comparison to show that electric rates charged by mutuals and co-operatives average 1.27 cents a kilowatt hour, rates of private utilities average 1.22 cents, public utility districts 1 cent, municipal utilities 96 mills and irrigation districts 75 mills.

Truman P. Price, supervisor of power resources, said the main reason cooperatives charge relatively high rates is that they serve mostly rural areas with high distribution costs.

The lowest charge in a comparison of typical electric bills for 1,000 kilowatt hours a month was $6.40 at Coulee Dam.

On the same basis, Lakeview Light & Power ranked lowest among cooperatives and mutuals at $7.57 a month. Cowlitz county among public utility districts at $8.10 and Puget Sound Power and Light Co. among private utilities at $10.28.

More Conferences Due On Snake Dam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department says there will be more conferences with agencies concerned before anything is done about Reclamation Bureau studies relating to the proposed Pleasant Valley Dam on the middle Snake River.

James Carr, undersecretary of the interior, said the action reaffirms Secretary Stewart Udall's letter of March 15 to the Federal Power Commission. Udall asked that any decision on licensing dams on that part of the Snake be withheld until problems of getting fish past the dams are solved.

Dr. Gerald E. Collins of the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries' research laboratory in Seattle is conducting the study.

Carr said Monday, "It may be that interests of the Pacific Northwest and the nation can best be served by conducting studies of high Pleasant Valley Dam concurrently with the fish studies."

"The department, however, wants to make a careful evaluation of this possibility before reaching a decision."

Carr said the decision will be affected by the department's review of the recent report of the Army Engineers dealing with the Columbia River Basin.

The report includes recommendations for alternative projects in the same part of the middle Snake.
