

Youthful Peace Pickets Seek End To Test Of Nuclear Arms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Youthful pickets for peace marched in front of the White House today, seeking disarmament and an end to nuclear testing by the United States and Russia.

Leaders of the represented groups estimated that some 1,500 high school and college students took part in the demonstration Friday and through the early morning hours today. They were hopeful the number would reach 3,000 by the end of the day.

Most of the youths, working in relays, trudged in sub-freezing weather through snow and slush in front of the White House and the Russian Embassy to dramatize their views. Many carried signs reading, "We challenge the Soviet Union to join in a peace race" and "We condemn both Soviet and U.S. testing."

U. S. Will Remain Neutral Bob Kennedy Tells Students

BANDUNG, Indonesia (AP) — Robert F. Kennedy bluntly told Indonesians today they would be crazy to think the United States would toss aside its neutral attitude and oppose the Dutch in Indonesia's claim to West New Guinea.

The attacks were aimed at Kennedy. In his toughest statement so far on the Indonesian government's demand for West New Guinea, the 36-year-old brother of the President said the United States was proud of its relationships with the Netherlands.

"If you don't like our attitude there is no point in your getting upset or angry about it," he told Bandung University students on a delayed visit to this West Java capital.

Insisting the United States, however, retains a neutral attitude, Kennedy said, "We are devoting all our efforts and will continue to devote our efforts to get Indonesia and the Netherlands around the conference table."

The U.S. attorney general made his remarks in reply to repeated questions from the students on why the United States would not support the Indonesian claim to the territory.

Other reports said the students that if the United States were to take sides in the dispute chances for a settlement were lessened.

The United States, he said, is friendly to both Indonesia and the Dutch. Asking the students to take a mature approach, Kennedy declared, "If you upset us we are not going to tell our people to get out of Indonesia. We will not say it to hell with you. And do not say it to us."

Goldmark said the State Department meeting consisted of five lectures laced with brief question-and-answer sessions. He said the lecturers "treated us as if we were very, very young and totally in the dark" about the cold war.

The students reacted to Kennedy's remarks with surprising calm and later good-humoredly surrounded him as he walked to his car.

State Department officials said the students seemed to feel they already had all the answers to world problems.

But in the Communist stronghold of Surabaya, capital of East Java, mobs attacked and damaged U.S. buildings and diplomats' homes. The attack apparently was in protest against troop-carrying Dutch commercial airliners refueling on U.S. territory en route to Dutch New Guinea. There were no signs

Spokesmen for the demonstrators said the students came from colleges ranging from Seattle University to Dartmouth, Hanover, N.H. They said they paid their own way to Washington, with other expenses being paid by private donations.

Elizabeth G. Dailey Services will be held Monday at 11 a. m. at the Unger Funeral Chapel, Reedsport, for Elizabeth Gertrude Dailey, wife of Douglas Dailey, Smith River rancher and member of a pioneer family.

Officers report that a Legion "birthday party" is set for March 20 with a spaghetti-meat ball dinner planned for Legionnaires, auxiliary members and wives of Legionnaires. Special highlight of this event will be the presentation of lapel pins and membership cards in recognition of extended Legion service.

Mrs. Dailey died in Seattle, Wash., Thursday after an illness of many months.

A special induction service is also scheduled in connection with this event.

Mrs. Dailey was born at Vallejo, Calif., Nov. 20, 1897. Her maiden name was Elizabeth Gertrude Hoffman. In 1918 she came to the western Douglas County area to teach school in one of the Smith River district schools. She and Douglas Dailey were married shortly afterward.

On April 17 a dinner meeting will be held jointly with the auxiliary. Past commanders and presidents of the Umpqua post and auxiliary will be honored.

They later settled on the ranch named the Head-O-Tide Ranch.

Officers reported that the post has reached its designated quota of 400 members, as result of a membership campaign, and the organization anticipates a final membership total of 425 by March 20. It is the only post in southern Oregon of equivalent size to reach its membership goal, it was noted.

With her husband, Mrs. Dailey was closely identified with Smith River farming and ranching. She took an active interest in the problems of land and forest protection. She was also active with the Grange, the Red Cross, and other civic and community matters.

The Sheriff's Department Friday investigated a burglary of Ross's Grocery, located just north of Drain. The place is a combination service station and grocery store with living quarters in the rear.

Surviving besides her husband, are a daughter, Mrs. Clayton Malory of Alderwood Manor, Seattle, Wash.; and two sons, Paul Martin and Douglas Allen, both residents of Smith River.

The burglary took place sometime during Thursday night, and a long list of grocery and other items were reported missing.

Burial will be in the Scottsburg Cemetery.

The new cardinals included three Italians, two South Americans, one Irishman, one Spaniard, one Portuguese and one Belgian and one Syrian.

The new cardinals are: Juan Landazuri Ricketts, archbishop of Lima, Peru; Raul Silva Henriquez, archbishop of Santiago, Chile; Leo Jozef Suenens, archbishop of Malines-Brussels; Father Michael Browne, Irish, superior of the Dominican Order; Msgr. Jose da Costa Nunes, Portuguese, vice chamberlain of the Roman Catholic Church.

The Consistory will be the fifth that Pope John has held for creation of cardinals since he became pontiff on Oct. 28, 1958.

He named his first cardinals only a few days after his election, creating 23 of them on Dec. 15, 1958, to bolster the college for its increasing work in administering the church.

The Consistory brought the college's membership to 74, breaking for the first time the limit of 70 set by Pope Sixtus

U. S., Dominican Republic Reach Agreement On $25 Million Credits

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The United States and the Dominican Republic have reached agreement on $25 million worth of Alliance for Progress credits to help ease this nation's economic burden.

The government has been moving along on a near cashless basis. It has started an interim $5-million public works program in an attempt to lessen the unemployment load estimated at nearly 400,000 or roughly one-third of the nation's labor force.

The nation's debt had been estimated at $146 million and more than $40 million in short- and long-term foreign obligations.

The reported agreement came after nearly a month of negotiations on the terms of the credits. Original conditions set down by the United States were called harsh and unacceptable in some government quarters and openly denounced in left-wing circles.

Conditions Not Learned The conditions of the agreement, reported by the government sources could not be learned. But it was understood they were more lenient than the previous ones.

There have been persistent rumblings of discontent in commercial circles over the delay in agreement on the $25-million credit, which some describe as insufficient in relation to over-all requirements.

A left-wing newspaper claimed a few days ago that the previous conditions called for a 4 per cent interest, restriction of use of the credits to the U. S. market, exclusive use of U. S. shipping for transportation of purchases and partial American supervision of expenditures.

The U. S. Embassy declined comment. Negotiations for the credits have been going on during growing criticism here of Fred A. Somerford, U. S. Embassy labor attaché, on charges of meddling in Dominican labor affairs. About 300 university students and other youths demonstrated Thursday.

Wilson warned persons not to attempt walking into the slide area since it still is quite dangerous, reports Mrs. Milton Hamgers, correspondent.

The U. S. credits are considered only a part of the projected aid.

Wilson today said trees were still crashing down and boulders were tumbling down the mountainside. Also, cracks keep forming under foot, the sliding earth yet remaining in a state of imbalance.

Realizing that the slide is of wide interest, Wilson said spectators can view the slide from two vantage points.

Only Part of Aid The U. S. credits are considered only a part of the projected aid.

The first may be gained by driving past Tiller on the South Umpqua Highway for about three miles to the Pickett Butte Rd. The road is a Forest Service road and is passable for sedans. After traveling on the road for a mile, the slide—can be seen to the north.

The family's furniture has been moved to the Fisher ranch. The decision to leave the canyon, was made when it was feared the slide might block Dompier Creek and flood the house.

Smith Gets Additional Time To Perfect Appeal

Bernard Frank Smith, now serving time in the Oregon State Penitentiary on charges of assault with a dangerous weapon and escape from the Douglas County jail, was granted authority by the Circuit Court to have another 60 days in which to perfect an appeal from his jury trial conviction for escape. His request for the time extension was on the grounds he had not yet received a transcript and records of the case.

George Franklin Cooper, 24, of Salt Lake City, Utah, was allowed to go free on continued probation and to return to Utah, after he appeared in Circuit Court Friday.

He was picked up on a Douglas County bench warrant and ordered to appear and show cause why his probation from a five-year sentence in the Oregon State Penitentiary should not be revoked. He was sentenced on Aug. 14, 1959, on a felony complaint but granted probation.

Downtown Parking District Committee Names Ramberg

Roseburg downtown merchants and property owners, in a meeting Friday noon at the Umpqua Hotel, designated authority to a committee to make a study for the consideration of forming a downtown parking district.

A committee of seven named to make the preliminary survey selected Emil Ramberg, partner and manager of the Umpqua Hotel as chairman. Others include George West, Hans Hansen, Horace Berg, Dr. E. B. Stewart, Ray Sims and Philip Quisenberry.

The group proposes to turn the downtown Roseburg area into a shopping center, by providing free off-street parking for customers if such a plan proves feasible from a financial standpoint.

In discussion, members pointed out that if the city core is to compete with out-of-town shopping centers, it is going to have to provide parking for the public close to the city center.

George Neuner, local attorney, volunteered his services to check into some of the legal aspects of forming a parking district, which was made possible by the last legislature. He said there were several possible financing plans but that he would have to make a more thorough study before recommending procedure.

Tentatively, it is proposed to acquire property along the east side of SE Rose St. which does not now have buildings. This would extend from near SE Douglas Ave. to Oak, and then with possible acquisition of buildings continue to Cass and possibly further. Eventually other areas might be acquired as the need arose.

No cost figures on such a plan have as yet been ascertained. The function of the committee will be to look into the matter thoroughly, determine costs, method of financing, legal phases and other details. Until this information is obtained it will not be possible to proceed further.

Police Nix Support

Roseburg Chief of Police John Truett today advised that the police department is not supporting any police magazine companies insofar as advertisement solicitation is concerned.
