

Liz Returns Home Alone From Date With Burton

ROME (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor went home alone from a night club date with Richard Burton early today and an onlooker said the film beauty had tears in her eyes.

An unidentified friend escorted the actress to her car, while Burton remained at their table. Later the actor, who has been Miss Taylor's leading man both on and off the movie set since she parted from singer Eddie Fisher, walked out of the club alone and went to a nearby bar.

One photographer said Burton had a bruise and swelling on his forehead which had not been seen there the night before.

Through a studio spokesman, Burton denied he had suffered any injury to his forehead. The spokesman also quoted Burton as saying there had been no spat between him and Miss Taylor.

The couple arrived separately earlier in the evening at a hotel cocktail lounge and then went on to the night club together. Miss Taylor, 30, brought two of her pet Yorkshire terriers along. The dogs went home with her.

Burton today was reported at work on the set of "Cleopatra," in which he plays Marc Antony to Miss Taylor's Cleopatra.

The studio said Miss Taylor was not at work but might be on the set this afternoon.

A Vatican weekly newspaper meanwhile attacked Miss Taylor for her marital record and warned that she may end up an "erotic wanderer, forever without a safe haven."

A studio spokesman said the actress would not comment on the editorial lashing given her by L'Osservatore Della Domenica — the Sunday Observer. Miss Taylor was reared a Christian Scientist but converted to Judaism after the death of her third husband, producer Mike Todd.

Five Counties Make Switch To Daylight Time April 29

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Five counties in Northwest Oregon officially switch to Daylight Saving Time April 29.

And many other areas of the state, as they did last summer, will make the switch unofficially, either at the same time or a little later.

Multnomah County and the four that surround it — Washington, Clackamas, Hood River and Columbia — were authorized by the 1961 legislature to switch to the fast time if they wanted to.

But many other places, mostly on action by chambers of commerce or city councils, have decided to move their clocks ahead one hour, or to switch work schedules one hour.

Here is the way this summer's situation looks now over the state:

The five counties officially authorized to switch to fast time have done so for the period from April 29 to Sept. 29.

Malheur On Mountain Time

Malheur County in Eastern Oregon is on Mountain Standard Time, the same as Pacific Daylight Time. Baker is the only Eastern Oregon community to adopt unofficial daylight time. The Baker Chamber of Commerce voted for the fast time from May 27 to Sept. 3.

In Central Oregon, daylight saving time has been approved for Jefferson, Deschutes and Crook counties by a vote of the chamber of commerce. Clocks will be changed in all but government offices, where employees will go on an early-start, early-finish basis.

No Southwestern Oregon areas have decided to change the clock, but on the Northern Coast and in the Willamette Valley, the time map looks like a patchwork quilt.

Astoria and Seaside chambers of commerce have decided to adopt DST from April 29 to Sept. 29.

The Oceanlake City Council decided to set the clocks ahead an hour, but Newport — in the same county — voted to stay on standard time.

Salem and Marion County, it appears, will be a standard time island.

McMinnville's Chamber of Commerce voted for daylight time, and the rest of Yamhill County was expected to go along.

The Corvallis School Board decided Wednesday to advance its school schedule one hour after April 29, after the city council and chamber of commerce had voted for daylight time.

Albany, by a 5-1 vote Wednesday of the city council, will be on fast time. The chamber of commerce had asked the council to vote for the change.

The situation in Eugene was still undecided this week. The Eugene City Council, meeting as a committee of the whole, recommended that city employees be permitted to adopt "summertime hours" starting April 29, without changing the clocks.

But the council declined to endorse the fast time for the entire community. The committee recommendation will be considered by the council on April 23, its next regular meeting.

After last summer's time confusion, efforts were made to have either a special legislative session or a measure on the May primary ballot to establish uniform time throughout the state. But those efforts failed. The voters will have a chance to decide on the November ballot.
