

Gen. Clay Isn't Happy With Air Corridor Plan

BERLIN (AP)—Lucius D. Clay, President Kennedy's special representative in Berlin, says he is not happy over a U.S. proposal to include East German Communists on an international authority to control Berlin's lifelines.

Reservists Head Home In August

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some 110,000 reservists and national guardsmen will head for home and civilian life between Aug. 1 and 11, ending hitches of cold war active duty that began last October.

The Army announced this demobilization schedule Friday for the more than 400 units it called up because of the Berlin crisis.

Many of the men will go back to service as part-time soldiers, attending weekly or monthly Reserve drills. All were called to active duty for up to one year.

Castro Foes Wreck Cuban News Agency

NEW YORK (AP)—Six anti-Castroes invaded the Cuban government news agency on Fifth Avenue Friday, pistol-whipped employees, wrecked the offices and forced one worker to type a message to Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Four employees of Prensa Latina, the news agency, were hospitalized. Their conditions were described as fair.

The ninth-floor office was a shambles when police arrived. The furniture was smashed and the four employees, all male, were bound and gagged and splattered with red ink.

Bishop Carman To Visit St. George's Church

The Rt. Rev. James W. F. Carman, Bishop of Oregon, will visit St. George's Episcopal Church of Roseburg Sunday for the service of confirmation at 11 a.m. service.

A class of candidates has been prepared by the rector, the Rev. Alfred S. Tyson, and will be presented by him. Following the service, a reception will be held in the parish house for the bishop and the newly confirmed members of the church.

Seven Hurt In Raid

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Communist guerrillas ambushed a train only 12 miles from a U.S. Army helicopter base near the South China Sea Coast, the government reported today. Seven passengers were wounded in the raid.

the Communists began building the wall through Berlin last August.

Clay reportedly often advocated a tougher line toward the East Germans and their Soviet allies than officials in Washington would permit. Clay, now winding up his duties here, gave substance to these reports while speaking in a televised forum with German editors Friday night.

He said on some issues he went directly to Kennedy and the President always backed him up.

"There were instances, however, where I did not consider the proposals I had to make of sufficient importance to go directly to the President and of course these proposals then had to be measured against the recommendations and views of others," he said.

In such instances there was usually a compromise answer, one a lot stronger than might have been the case, but quite frequently not as strong as I would like to have seen done," he said.

Clay did not cite any examples of these exchanges with Washington.

Clay said the West would reject anything that is a loss in the current U.S.-Soviet negotiations on Berlin. But he said the West must try to find something that removes Berlin as a possible cause of war.

West German officials have been critical of a tentative U.S. proposal to include East German and East Berlin representatives on an authority to control access routes between Berlin and West Germany.

The Navy has announced it will release 8,000 reservists and their 40 ships and 18 air squadrons on Aug. 1. The Air Force has not yet set release dates for the 27,000 men it mustered.

Wisconsin's 2nd Infantry Division, now at Ft. Lewis, Wash., will leave Aug. 1, and is expected to be back in Wisconsin by the 5th.

The 49th Armored Division of Texas, the other National Guard division called up, is due to leave Ft. Polk, La., Aug. 5 for the 24-hour trip back to Texas.

The Army said it planned to release reservists within two days after their units get home from active duty stations.

Reserve drills will resume immediately, the Army said. But it added that the activated Reservists won't have to put in the usual 15-day tour at summer training camps this year.

The Army said in cases where release early in August would create a hardship, the men involved can remain in full-time service for one full year from the date they began active duty.

Father, Son Killed In Highway Crash

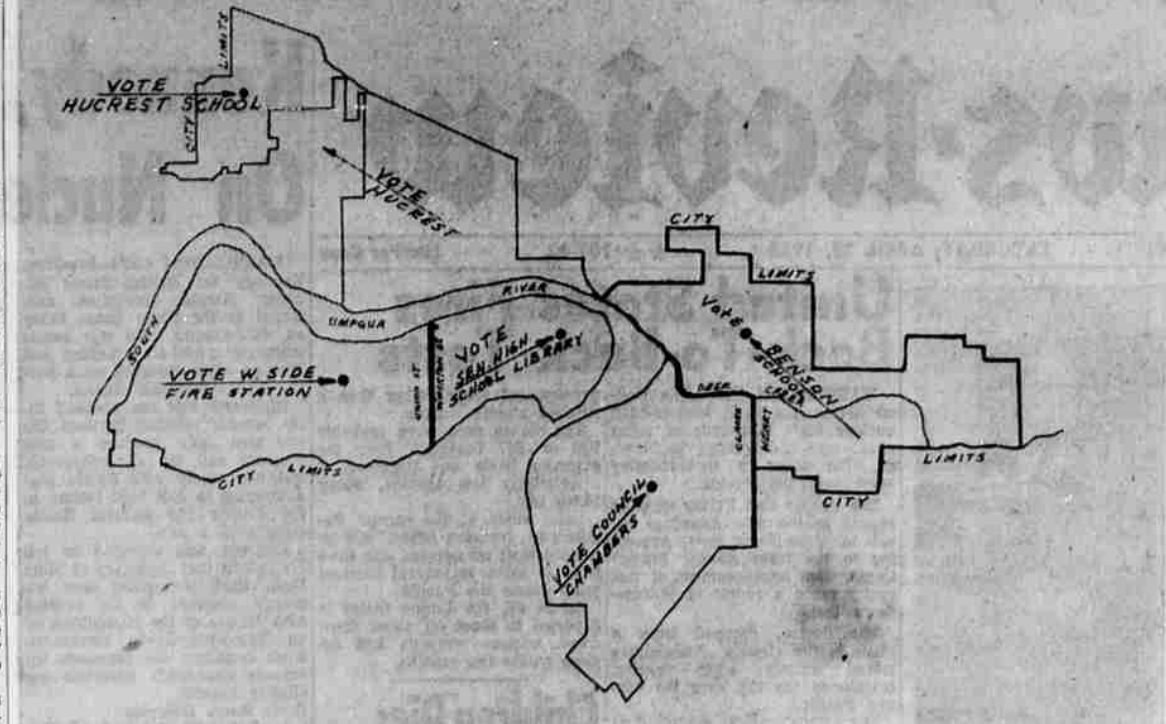

EUREKA, Calif. (AP)—A father and son from Aldergrove, B.C. were killed Friday in the head-on collision of their northbound station wagon and a truck and trailer driven by an Oregonian.

The California Highway Patrol identified the victims as Jack L. Bradford, about 40, and his son, Bruce, about nine.

The truck driver was William E. Kelly, Milwaukie, Ore., officers said. He was treated for head injuries and released from a Crescent City, Calif., hospital.

The accident happened about 60 miles north of Eureka near Klamath, Calif., on U.S. 101.

Patrolman said Bradford's wife, Eileen, 32, and the couple's daughter, Valerie, six years old, were in critical condition at Seaside Hospital in Crescent City.

POLLING Places for the city election on the amount of the 1962-63 levy over the 6 per cent limitations are shown on this map of the city. Voters will use these spots Tuesday from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. Voters are being asked to approve a special levy of $288,621.07 over the limitation.

Hit-Run Raiders Strike In Paris

PARIS (AP)—Hit-and-run raiders machine gunned and bombed a police station and blew up a newspaper office near Paris early today.

The attacks were the first of their kind in several weeks in France. Officials feared they may signal a new Secret Army Organization terror campaign in France.

Both the police station and newspaper office were heavily damaged in the nearly simultaneous raids in the town of Estampes, 25 miles west of Paris. One woman was injured slightly, and several police officers narrowly missed death.

The terrorists hit the police station as the guard was being changed. Machine gunners in a car sprayed the front of the building, shattering windows on the second floor.

Seconds later, a grenade exploded against a bottom floor window, damaging the station's interior. Police who rushed to the windows were driven back by another burst of machine gun fire as the terrorist car sped off in the direction of Paris.

Almost at the same moment, a plastic bomb exploded in a doorway of the "Marseillaise de Seine et Oise" newspaper. The front of the building, recently repaired following another terrorist attack, was heavily damaged.

The secret army terrorist campaign to keep Algeria French has continued unabated in the North African territory, despite the loss of the outlawed organization's key leaders. But terrorist attacks in France had dwindled under police crackdowns.

In Tunis, sharp differences in the Algerian rebel hierarchy have come to light.

The first indications of trouble came last Wednesday when the rebels' official press agency published a communique reporting an apparently minor military incident between the French and rebels near the Tunisian-Algerian frontier.

A similar incident occurred Friday. The rebel press agency, operated by the Ministry of Information, released a commentary on terrorist activity in Algeria, saying the situation "is getting worse."

Idaho Man Planning Long Swim To Coast

BOISE (AP)—A 25-year-old Orofino man who hopes to swim from his far-inland home to the Pacific Ocean has received the best wishes of Gov. Robert E. Smylie.

Spencer Campbell hopes to wind up at Astoria, Ore., at the mouth of the Columbia River, 357 miles from Orofino.

Campbell called on Smylie at the governor's office here Friday. Campbell said he is being sponsored by Orofino merchants and an Orofino public relations firm.

He said he expects to begin the swim July 4, taking 25 to 30 days to reach Astoria.

School bus drivers about the county will be heading for school themselves next week.

Man, Wife In Stalled Pickup Saved From Blizzard Snow

OREGON CITY (AP)—A man and his wife were rescued this morning from their stalled pickup truck by a Clackamas County sheriff's deputy and U.S. forest rangers who drove through a blizzard near Mt. Hood.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tate said they feared the rescuers, in their four-wheel drive vehicle, would not see the snow-covered headlights of their truck or hear their horn because of the whistling snowstorm.

As it turned out, deputy Larry Kezal and the rangers almost ran into the truck on a back road near Timothy Lake. The Tates had kept warm with the heater.

Tate said he had been in a similar fix a few hours earlier with a companion. He said he and Robert Walker of Portland had been on a fishing trip Friday afternoon when their car went into a ditch.

Tate left Walker behind and walked about nine miles to Highway 26. There he hitchhiked to a telephone and called his wife.

Meanwhile Walker got tired of waiting and walked to Government Camp. He called a tow truck and rode with it to the stalled car, which was towed out.

All the while Tate and his wife continued their search for the ditched car. They got stuck on the back road and the storm hit. They tried to walk out and were within four miles of Government Camp when darkness forced them to return to the stalled truck.

After the couple failed to return during the night, Tate's relatives in Oregon City notified the sheriff's office, and the search began.

Ballot Marking Nets Criticism

Some ballot marking by a candidate for nomination in the Democratic party has caused a rift of criticism from some other candidates.

It was reported from the northern end of the county that sample ballots were being passed out on which the names of Wayne Morse for U.S. senator, Robert Duncan for U.S. representative and Richard Yost for county clerk had been marked.

Both Democratic Central Committee Chairman Sidney Leiken and County Clerk G. D. Mylenbeck said they could find nothing illegal about the practice, but it has stopped anyway.

The ballot marking was apparently done by Yost, who was authorized by Leiken to pick up the party's ballots from the clerk, Leiken said.

The method of the clerk's office is to give a third of the sample ballots printed to each party, a third to the sheriff for distribution at some public place in each precinct and a third for distribution at the polling places.

Yost allegedly marked some of the ballots he distributed in the Drain and Reedsport areas. When some of the other candidates for office orders to stop the practice.

"The vast majority of the party's ballots are still unmarked and available to any Democratic candidates," Leiken said.

Mylenbeck said his office had nothing to do with the matter. He said Yost had been authorized to pick up the ballots and his office had honored the authorization.

"We disclaim any responsibility," Mylenbeck concluded.

Local Timber Operators Hear Road Report

The U. S. Forest Service now has more than 1,200 miles of road to maintain in Douglas County and the mileage is increasing, so road maintenance will become an increasingly important factor on timber sales in coming years.

This was the report by Howard Emrich, representing the U.S. Forest Service at a meeting of the Douglas Timber Operators at the Bamboo House in Roseburg this week.

Emrich said the mileage is expected to ultimately reach 4,000 miles. He outlined the plans for each district for road improvement this year. He explained that the timber sale purchasers maintenance money is used exclusively on logging roads and that the money for maintaining recreational roads is appropriated by Congress.

Emrich was one of a group of four panelists at the meeting. Others were Clifford Bryden of Roseburg Lumber Co. and Larry Duncan of the Bureau of Land Management. Bud Lowell of Woolly Logging Co. was moderator.

Duncan reported that the Roseburg BLM District now has 420 miles of road, and this figure will be increased to 3,500 miles. He said the BLM's roads are maintained by the Bureau of Public Roads. He indicated this sometimes causes a problem in communications between the two bureaus.

Oregon Welfare Budget Okayed

MEDFORD (AP)—A budget of $45,904,673 for fiscal 1962-63 was approved by the State Public Welfare Commission Friday.

Of this, almost half will be supplied by the federal government, welfare officials said. The state will provide about $16 million and the counties, some $7 million.

The state's contribution was appropriated by the 1961 legislature. In other action Friday, the commission approved two plans that would revise programs for hospitalization of those on welfare.

The first eliminated the present 60 per cent minimum payment to hospitals for welfare cases. It changes hospital payment percentages to a sliding scale, based on a monthly comparison of money allocated for the purposes and hospital bills received.

The other plan adopted would separate categories of welfare patients for hospital payment purposes, to allow for the greater average cost incurred in treating old-age patients.

Aid to dependent children and old-age hospitalization currently are figured on the same basis.

State Secretary Group Elects Laura Cummings

Mrs. Laura Cummings, of the County Schools Office, has been elected vice president of the County Superintendents' Secretaries Association.

Mrs. Cummings was elected to the post during the association's meeting April 23 and 24 in Salem. She and Mrs. Verna Delaney, also of the county office, attended the session. Theme of the meeting was "Solution Solving Seminar for School Secretaries."

Dr. Leon Minear, state superintendent of public instruction, spoke during the meeting.

Roseburg Lions Slate Mother's Day Banquet

The Roseburg Lions Club announces it will hold its annual Mother's Day banquet May 13 from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Stewart Park. Roy Hebard is chairman in charge. The Knights of Pythias, Girls Drum and Bugle Corps and the Civil Air Patrol cadets will assist the club in its advance ticket sales. Each will share in the proceeds of the tickets they sell. The Lions will use their share for sight conservation.

Children Should Take Shots, Says Donnelly

Children due to receive Salk polio shots through school inoculation programs are urged to continue the shot series, Dr. John Donnelly, county health officer, said.

Donnelly made the statement in light of the vaccinations in May in which the Douglas County Medical Society will give Sabin oral vaccine.

The health officer said the Salk series or boosters should not be interrupted since they will provide individual protection from polio when completed. The Sabin vaccine will give individual protection and community protection for Type 1.

Types II and III will be given later.

Donnelly prefaced his remarks by noting an inoculation clinic is set Wednesday at Joseph Lane Junior High School—the last time for the next four years. He noted that in the past week at Roseburg High School, many students scheduled for polio shots did not appear for them.

Candidate On Tour

Roy O. Cox, Democratic candidate for county assessor, is planning to do some campaigning in the Camas Valley area Monday.

Friday he took a campaign tour through the southern end of the county, including Myrtle Creek, Canbyville and Winston, and earlier in the week, he was campaigning in the Glide area.

Oregon's Mountain Passes Clogged By Late Snowfall

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A late snow storm clogged Oregon's mountain passes today and travel through the Cascade Range became hazardous.

State police reported the Willamette Pass, southeast of Eugene, was closed this morning as vehicles became stuck in the snow. More than eight inches of snow fell overnight.

Chains were advised for all mountain routes.

At Government Camp on the Mt. Hood Highway more than 11 inches of snow fell overnight. Traffic was going through—occasional-ally delayed by a stuck vehicle. Cars were moving slowly.

It still was snowing on Mt. Hood this morning with the temperature hovering around the freezing level.

One big freight truck skidded off the road and went down an embankment near Government Camp, but the driver escaped injury.

It was the second consecutive day of weather troubles for Oregon. Yesterday a wind storm with gusts up to 110 miles an hour pounded the state, sinking several boats at moorages on the Oregon coast, and causing widespread telephone and power failures.

Moose Lodge Sets Second Bicycle Safety Campaign

For the second successive year, students at elementary schools in the area may have their bicycles checked for safety.

The check will take place next week at eight elementary schools.

The program has been set up by the Loyal Order of Moose, in cooperation with the Roseburg Police Department and the schools.

Through Check Due

James Waterfield, representing the Moose Lodge, said members of the organization will check bicycles for general condition with emphasis on steering mechanism, brakes and chains. Those whose bikes are adjudged to be in safe condition will receive reflector stickers for the rear fender, Waterfield said.

While lodge members are making the check, students will hear safety talks by members of the police department.

The following schedule has been set up for the safety check:

Monday — Fir Grove at 10:30 a.m. and Fullerton IV at 2:30 p.m.; Tuesday—Rose at 10:30 a.m.; Wednesday — Eastwood at 10:30 a.m. and Benson at 2:30 p.m.; Thursday — Riverside at 10:30 a.m. and Wilbur-Winchester at 2:30 p.m.; Friday — Green at 1 p.m.

Hatfield To Preside At Promotional Meet

SALEM (AP)—Gov. Mark Hatfield will preside Monday over a sell Oregon promotional meeting.

He called the meeting, aimed at providing a central theme for tourist promotion this summer.

Tuesday, Hatfield will be present for the American Legion patriotism award presentation to Dr. Leon P. Minear, state superintendent of public instruction.

Hatfield will lunch with the Jefferson Lions Club Tuesday noon.

On Wednesday he will speak to the Boys League, Sunset High School, Beaverton. He will greet Portland Life Underwriters at a noon luncheon in Portland. He will join in a 5 p.m. conference telephone call to homesick Oregonians in Los Angeles.

Maintenance Problem Noted

He also explained that in order to keep maintenance equipment and crews in this area, it is prohibitive to allow private operators to maintain roads on some of the sales.

Bryden explained the problems of private industry using government roads and pointed out that most companies prefer to do their own maintenance to assure themselves of adequate roads.

In a discussion period after the panel discussion, it was the general consensus that the mainline roads such as the South Umpqua Highway should be taken over by the county because of heavy use by the general public.

It was indicated that feeling was against the BLM holding the operator responsible for maintaining logging roads after the sale area is logged and before the expiration of the contract.

Coca-Cola Bottling Co. Announces $150,000 SWEEPSTAKES

Some lucky Roseburg family could win $25,000 — enough for a fabulous trip around the world for the entire family — as a guest of the Coca-Cola Bottlers.

The local Coca-Cola bottling company, in conjunction with other participating Coca-Cola Bottlers all across the nation, have launched a gigantic "Tour the World" Sweepstakes to run through May 31.

Top prize is $25,000 in American Express Travelers Cheques, with 1,057 other prizes being offered, all totaling some $150,000. Second prize is two trips for two to Europe plus $5,000 in travelers cheques. Other vacation prizes are trips to the Caribbean, and Hawaii.

All you have to do to compete is to fill in a simple entry blank, or write on a plain piece of paper, your name, address and favorite retail store, and send it, with three Coca-Cola bottle caps or three hand-lettered copies of the trade-mark "Coca-Cola", to the "Tour-the-World Sweepstakes", Box 468, New York 46, New York. Drawing for all prizes will be held after the May 31 deadline for entries.

For purpose of this sweepstakes, a special bottle cap has been designed and is now in use here. The design features a World globe on top and one of 100 different illustrations underneath, each representing a country where Coca-Cola is bottled.

These new crowns not only tie-in with the travel theme of the sweepstakes, but also are of wide appeal to youngsters as a collector's item. Each different design is interesting and educational.
