

Motor Sound Blamed In Fatal Plane Crash

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — A high-pitched twitter, comparable to the sound of crickets in late summer, may have caused the 1960 crash of an airliner in Boston.

The Federal Aviation Agency's Civil Aeromedical Research Institute here has reached that conclusion after a two-year study of the apparent affinity between starlings and Lockheed Electra aircraft.

The crash Oct. 4, 1960 killed 62 persons. Starlings — small birds that fly in flocks and feast on crickets — were found in the Electra's turbo-prop engines.

It wasn't the first time Electras had been bothered by starlings, the institute said. Several times before the Boston crash, Electras were forced to abort flights because of ingestion of the birds.

After the Boston crash institute researchers began to think there was something in the aircraft engines attracting the starlings, said Dr. Stanley Mohler, director, and researcher John Swearingen in their report.

The whine produced by the aircraft's engines contains a high-pitched twitter that sounds like a swarm of crickets, the investigators said.

Investigators made tape recordings of cricket sounds and the sounds of various aircraft engines, including the Electra.

The sound frequencies were analyzed on oscilloscopes.

"The only similar sounds were those of the crickets and the Electra engines," report Mohler and Swearingen.

This is the reason, said the researchers, the starlings flock behind Electras as they taxi prior to takeoff.

Glendale School Board To Fill Three Openings

Three positions are open on the School Board of the Glendale District, reports Mrs. Gerald B. Fox, correspondent.

Petitioning for the posts are Hubert Fonfara and Glen Gilmore, both running for the one-year term; Don Snyder, four-year five-year term.

Bernie Halverson, five-year term incumbent, is not running for re-election. The four-year and one-year term positions are the result of the resignation of Ronald Mille and William A. Vaughn.

The school election will be May 7. Glendale precinct will vote in the high school library. Cow Creek precinct will vote in the Azalea Grange hall.

It has been noted that the dividing line between the precincts falls at the Ed Burgoyne property on Old Highway 99, all residents north of that line voting at the Grange hall. The dividing line on Highway 99 itself is on the Chester Smith Jr. property, all those living north of that residence voting at the Grange hall. Those living south of these lines will vote at the high school.

May Fellowship Breakfast Due At Christian Church

The Roseburg United Church Women's May Fellowship Breakfast is scheduled Friday at 10 a.m. in the First Christian Church.

The public is invited to the annual event sponsored by the United Church Women. A light breakfast will be served by members of the organization dressed in international costumes.

The theme of the day is "One Family Under God." Guest speaker for the occasion will be Mrs. E. A. Danielson of Eugene.

The special program will include organ music and vocal numbers by local singers.

Mrs. Danielson is a member of the First Congregational Church with an imposing activity background.

A graduate of Oregon College of Education and University of Oregon, she was Lane County School superintendent from 1945 to 1957 and is currently an instructor of classroom psychology in the General Extension Division.

She is also a member of the Selection, recruitment and retention of Rural Teachers Committee and director of the Department of Rural Education for the National Education Association.

She has written educational articles for many education magazines and has done research in both classroom work. Presently, she is studying the psychological effect of news paper publicity on youth involving more than 1,000 young people.

DAR GOOD CITIZEN — Brooke Young, a Roseburg High School senior, second from right, is shown receiving a certificate as a reward for her selection as Roseburg's annual "good citizen." The award was made by Mrs. L. E. Adams, vice regent and regent elect of the Umpqua chapter of the DAR. Adding their pride to the occasion Saturday were Mrs. Bernard Young, left, mother of the Roseburg girl, and Miss Beth Randall, RHS dean of girls. Miss Young was chosen on the basis of scholarship, patriotism, character and citizenship. She was chosen by her classmates and school administrators and had to write an essay-type test on the theme of citizenship. The award is made annually by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Sweden Week Opens Today At Fair

SEATTLE (AP) — Sweden Week opened Monday at the Seattle World's Fair.

Herman Kling, Sweden's minister of justice, was billed as the honor guest at an opening ceremony in the Plaza of States.

Gunnar Jarring, Swedish ambassador to the United States, was to introduce Kling.

A highlight of the week will be a series of performances by the Royal Dramatic Theater of Stockholm, opening its first United States tour.

The series will begin Monday night with a performance of "Miss Julie," by the 19th Century Swedish dramatist August Strindberg. "The Father," by Strindberg and "A Long Day's Journey into Night," by the late American playwright Eugene O'Neill, will also be presented. The troupe will play in New York later.

A cannon from the Swedish warship Vada, sunk in Stockholm Harbor in 1828 and recovered in 1960, was brought to Seattle to be fired by two men dressed in 17th Century military uniforms as part of Monday's ceremonies.

Sunday was Arkansas Day and Portland, Ore., Day at the fair. State Sen. Merrill Peterson, Dumas, Ark., represented Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus. He noted that Faubus worked in the Washington state woods during the depression year of 1936 and has a sister, Mrs. Cressie Poole, in Brewster, Wash.

Tractor Mishap Fatal

DAYTON, Ore. (AP) — Jack Richard Halleman, 16, Dayton, was killed Sunday in a dairy farm accident about 15 miles northwest of Salem.

He apparently drove a tractor too high up a pile of manure, and tipped over backwards, crushing him.

Jaycees Charter Prison Inmates

MOUNDSVILLE, W.Va. (AP) — Dressed in white dinner jackets and black ties, 36 inmates of the West Virginia Penitentiary proudly received Sunday night the first Junior Chamber of Commerce charter ever granted behind prison walls.

They heard talks by Gov. W. W. Barron, state institutions commissioner Joseph Hodgson and Doug Blankenship of Atlanta, Ga., national Jaycee vice president, who presented the charter.

Accepting the charter was James T. Cantrell, president of the unit, organized under the sponsorship of the Marshall County Jaycee organization. Cantrell is serving a life sentence for murder.

Measles Hit Patients

SALEM (AP) — Fifty-four cases of measles were reported last week at Fairview Home for mentally retarded persons.

AMAZING PSORIASIS STORY

Jan. 10, 1960 — Pittsburgh, Pa. "Doctored for psoriasis 30 years. Spent much money to no avail. Then used GHP Ointment and Tablets for 2 weeks. Scales disappeared as if by magic. In 6 weeks skin completely cleared and clean. First time in 30 years. Thanks for your marvelous products." This much abbreviated report tells of a user's success with a dual treatment for psoriasis now made available to all sufferers. Full information and details of a 14 day trial plan from Canam Co., Dept. 279K, Rockport, Mass.
