

Mark Reveals Program To Welcome Tourists

SALEM (AP)—Green carpet treatment complete with a catchy tune, decals, lapel buttons and signs aimed at making Oregon the new "fun-tier" for tourists were advocated Monday by Gov. Mark Hatfield.

JFK, Medics Talk Aged Care; Accord Lacking

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and the high command of the American Medical Association met today on the issue of medical care for the aged and made no headway whatsoever toward an agreement or compromise.

The only agreement was that there was disagreement, and this was emphasized both by the head of the organization of doctors, Dr. Leonard W. Larson, and Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff.

A seven-man delegation of top officials of the AMA spent some time less than an hour with Kennedy.

Larson said afterward that various medical and health problems were brought up, some by them, some by the chief executive.

Larson reported that Kennedy spoke up for the administration program of caring for the elderly through the Social Security system, and Dr. Edward R. Annis, chairman of the AMA Speakers Bureau, presented the AMA case in opposition.

No, Larson reported, there was no switch in positions on either side, nothing in the way of a compromise suggested or reached, and no evidence of the opening up of what a reporter called an avenue of accommodation of opposing views.

Ribicoff, who sat in on the meeting, went along with this diagnosis.

And he cleared up one thing, that the meeting between the chief executive and the AMA delegation was at Kennedy's initiative.

"The President," Ribicoff said, "indicated to the AMA that all responsible groups have a right to come in and talk with the President, whether they agree or disagree with him."

The secretary said that Kennedy left no doubt that he expects the King-Anderson bill, embracing the administration medical care program, to win out in Congress.

Judge Attends Meet At Eugene

Gerald R. Hayes, Douglas County district judge, last Thursday attended a meeting of the Oregon District Judges Association in Eugene.

Judge Hayes, who is chairman of a committee on revising the Oregon preliminary hearing law, reported on this committee's studies and recommendations.

Judge Frank Almeron of Eugene reported on court rules as they are applied in the various district courts through the state. Sixteen district judges from 15 counties attended.

The Douglas County jurist also attended a traffic conference held Thursday night and Friday.

called on all Oregonians to make them feel at home.

Hatfield said the state police have been given extensive instructions in aiding the tourist.

Glenn Jackson, Medford, Highway Commission chairman, said tourists spent $186 million in Oregon last year, making it the state's third largest industry.

He said an educational program among Highway Department employees who meet the traveling public is designed to teach them how to handle these tourists—"and I might add selfishly—how to extract the last dollar from them."

Hatfield said the travel division is adding a full-time coordinator to implement this program.

Gerald Frank, Salem, Planning and Development chairman, said a decision to establish new industry is a personal decision, and a person made welcome is more likely to decide for Oregon.

He said 110 tourists per day spending $10 per day in a community are equal to an industrial payroll of $450,000 a year.

Richard Turner, Portland advertising executive, introduced the nearly 500 present from throughout Oregon to a work-kit for the program.

It provided the information about decals, lapel pins, welcome mats, signs, cloth flags and car bumper stickers—all in green and all crying "Welcome to Oregon."

Hatfield added a final call for each community to "paint up, dress up and spruce up" and to avoid price gouging.

Boucock Appointed To Yoncalla Board

Harold R. Boucock was appointed to fill out the unexpired term of Mrs. Herschel Phillips on the Yoncalla School Board at the board's meeting at the grade school, reports Mrs. George Edes, correspondent. Mrs. Phillips resigned recently.

A report was given on the budget hearing.

The need of a fire extinguisher was reported for the boiler room of the high school and the board voted to have one purchased. Taylor Young, insurance man from Cottage Grove, has recently made an appraisal of the school buildings.

At the last examination of the water at the Scotts Valley School, the water was reported uncontaminated. A chlorinator was installed earlier in the year.

Jean C. Davis, supervisor of the school lunch program from the state Department of Education at Salem, spent two days recently at the Scotts Valley and Yoncalla elementary schools. She reported to Supt. Don Dick that both lunch rooms were in good shape.

Maintenance work for the summer was discussed, including painting, fence building and work to be done on the Yoncalla Grade School gym. The board plans to inspect various types of power lawn mowers for price and quality.

At the present time a riding power mower is rented for use on the ball fields and other large areas. The board is investigating the price and type of various school buses.

The light domes at the Scotts Valley School have been tinted to cut down heat and bright light. It was reported.

Lucia Ingles, 87, of Roseburg, died this morning at a local hospital following a short illness.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Wilson's Chapel of the Roses.

Hart Found Innocent

A jury found William Harvey Hart, 767 NE Alameda Ave., innocent of drunken driving at the conclusion of an all-day trial in the District Court of Gerald R. Hayes Monday. The jury took the case around 5 p.m. and returned its verdict at 9 p.m. Hart had been arrested by state police.

SMILING as he leaves the cockpit of the X15 which he took Monday to a record 48 1/2 miles, is test pilot Joe Walker. The mark is the highest altitude ever reached in a man-controlled airplane. The record is 40,000 feet higher than the previous X15 altitude mark. (UPI Telephoto)

Record Flight Is Only Beginning For Winged Craft, Pilot Believes

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—To grinning, rump-haired test pilot Joe Walker, his record 48-mile-high flight in the X15 rocket plane Monday is "only the beginning" for winged aircraft.

Judging from the stresses he withstood in his 3,443 m.p.h. dash to the edge of space, Walker said he could "take orbit with no strain at all."

He doesn't think either he or the X15 will ever go into orbit. The X15 isn't built for it, and

Hit-Run Accident Reported To Police

Three automobiles, parked on SE Spring St., were struck and damaged by a car reported to be traveling at a high speed and which drove on to SE Stephens and turned north without stopping, Roseburg City Police report.

Dolores Britenbacher, 1303 SE Pine St., called the police and said her car and the cars of Chester Bennett and Floyd Norris, who have the same address, all suffered rear-end damage.

This occurred about 6:30 p.m. A description of the hit-and-run car was given to the police, and city and state police made a search for it.

About 9 p.m. a woman, who gave her name and address called and told officers that she was the one who had hit the cars and knew she was wanted, but declined to say where she was, said the officers.

Later she told her address and an officer brought her to the police station. She was released after being questioned, and no complaint has been filed.

Henry Ruckel

Funeral services for Henry W. Ruckel, 68, of Shoestring Rd., Riddle, will be held in the Chapel of Gatz Mortuary in Myrtle Creek Wednesday at 2 p.m. The Rev. Novis Thompson of the Church of the Open Bible in Riddle will officiate.

Ruckel died suddenly at his home April 28.

He was born March 16, 1894, at Andover, Kan. He was married to Ida Elizabeth Leake Oct. 21, 1917, at Stillwater, Okla. He has been a resident of the Riddle area for the last nine years, moving here from Merced, Calif. He was employed by Harbor Plywood as a fireman until his retirement a few years ago.

Survivors besides his wife of Riddle include two sons, Francis of Riddle and Johnny of Woodland, Wash.; four daughters, Mrs. Clover Anderson, of Cobina, Calif., Mrs. Margie Truitt of Merced, Calif., Mrs. Allene Coffman of Pary, Ind., and Mrs. Patricia Gibson of Woodland, Wash.; 17 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren; one brother, Ira, of Wichita, Kan.; two sisters, Mrs. Ethel Rogers of Yates Center, Kan., and Mrs. Blanche Seckman of Wichita, Kan.

Charles W. Smith

Charles W. Smith, resident of Elkton for over 38 years died April 28, in Coquille of a heart attack.

Services will be held Wednesday at 10 a.m. at the Elkton Christian Church with interment following at the Scottsburg Cemetery.

He was born in Kennett, Mo., Oct. 8, 1905. He is survived by his wife, Inez; three sons, Harold of Tidewater, William of Reedsport and Hal Dean of Alpena, Mich.; three daughters, Isabelle Kessler of Eugene, Myrtle Lewey of Elkton and Betty Shellhammer of Coquille; 10 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

CG Recruiter Due

Coast Guard Recruiter M. L. Wheeler will be at the Navy recruiting station in the Douglas County Courthouse in Roseburg Wednesday from 8 a.m. to noon.

Chief Sonarman Wheeler said openings now exist for young men between the ages of 17 and 26 who want a career in the Coast Guard.

He also reported openings are available for ex-servicemen up to 40 years of age.

It will be on hand to explain the service's programs.

Walker, 41, is going to be tied up for the next two years seeing just how high the rocket plane can go and get back safely.

But Walker said he would like to.

"There is no question," Walker said at a news conference after his flight, "that we can put a winged vehicle in orbit and land it as I did today."

The concept of using a winged controllable craft instead of a parachuting capsule to return from space, Walker said, has been proved practical. "All we have to do is build the plane."

Just such a plane, the missile-boosted Dynasoar space glider, is under construction. The lessons Walker and other X15 pilots learn will be cranked into Dynasoar's design.

Before the year is out the X15 will fly higher and higher, perhaps to 400,000 feet—75 miles.

Altitude is no problem to the X15. Engineers said it probably has enough power to reach an orbital altitude of 100 miles. The tough part is coming down in one piece.

Walker withstood forces four times normal gravity—four G's the pilots call it—in his steep climb and five G's when he pulled out of the dive back into the atmosphere.

Determining the proper angles and speeds for safe re-entry into the atmosphere will be X15's main job for the next two years.

Walker has been preparing for this job for 17 years. An Air Force fighter pilot in World War II, he joined the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (then called the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics) in 1945 as a physicist and later became a test pilot.

Transferring to NASA's center here in 1951, he test flew several experimental aircraft, including the X1E, the X3 and the X5. When the X15 was proposed it became one of his major interests.

Walker and Air Force Maj. Bob White, have broken record after record in the X15.

The X15 has exceeded contract specifications in both speed and altitude. It was guaranteed to fly at least 250,000 feet and Monday's flight topped that by 5,000 feet. Maj. White streaked 4,093 m.p.h. last Nov. 8—93 m.p.h. faster than it was designed to fly.

Coast Guard Seeks Former Sub Chaser

EUREKA, Calif. (AP)—Coast Guard planes searched again Tuesday for a 107-foot converted World War II sub chaser, reported overdue on a voyage from Grays Harbor, Wash., to San Francisco.

Aboard the craft were the owner, Jeff L. Hodges, and his daughter, Sandra, 13.

A Coast Guard spokesman here said Monday the wooden-hulled craft, recently purchased by Hodges, had not been out of port for 7 years until its current voyage.

Hodges sailed the boat out of the harbor April 22. It was reported overdue by his wife, Vivian, who said she expected her husband and daughter to arrive in San Francisco by last Tuesday.

The Coast Guard said there was a radio aboard the craft.

Court Studies Bids On Courthouse Heat

Bids on air conditioning and heating revisions of the Douglas County Courthouse have been opened and are now under study by the County Court and a Medford architect hired to aid in the work.

Three bids were received Friday for the work.

They are C. P. Yount Jr., Roseburg $97,783; Hansen's Plumbing & Heating, Winston, $88,350; and Temp Control Corp., Portland, $86,624.

While Hansen is apparent low bidder on the overall work, the court is deferring decision on the bids.

Earlier last week the court opened bids on civil defense insurance on $38,828.38 worth of civil defense equipment in the county.

Ray Puckett Insurance Agency was apparent low bidder with $388.28. Commercial Insurance Agency bid $563.01.

Equipment covered includes the civil defense radio system, surplus property, radio equipment in the sheriff's cars and disaster truck, and the fixed radio equipment on Mt. Nebo and Mt. Scott.

Russ Astronaut Says New York Is Too Crowded

NEW YORK (AP)—Russian spaceman Gherman S. Titov complained today of a lack of space in New York City.

He said on a television program he was having difficulty in seeing the sights because of crowds that gathered around him.

But he predicted the day would come when there would be more space in space capsules.

"The time is not far away when we will be walking around in the capsule," Maj. Titov said on the CBS "Calendar" program.

He made this comment when questioned about differences between his ship and that of Col. John H. Glenn Jr., American orbiter.

Titov said his ship was more powerful and therefore techniques had to be different. He said he could stand up in his ship but could not walk in it.

The Russian and his wife spoke through interpreters on the program.

In discussing crowds in the city, Titov said the people have treated his wife and him very cordially and that "many have greeted us in Russian."

The 27-year-old Russian spaceman, who on Aug. 6 completed 17 orbits of the earth, arrived Sunday from Moscow with his pretty wife, Tamara, 24.

Wednesday morning they go to Washington, where Titov will address a meeting of the Committee on Space Research, and meet American astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., who orbited the earth three times.

The spacemen will participate in an hour-long panel discussion about space exploration, to be telecast at 5:30 p.m., EST, Sunday by the National Broadcasting Co.

Ordination Service Scheduled Sunday

Barney D. Wimer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Wimer of Roseburg, will be ordained to the Christian ministry at morning services, Sunday, May 6, at the First Christian Church, Dr. William Richardson, Professor of New Testament

BARNEY D. WIMER . . . to be ordained and Bible Doctrine at Northwest Christian College, Eugene, will bring the ordination sermon.

Barney was born in Roseburg and attended schools here, graduating in 1957. After a year of studies at Oregon State University, he enrolled at Northwest Christian College from which he will be graduated in June.

While in college he has assisted with youth work in Portland churches and was youth minister at the Milwaukee Church of Christ last year. Early this year he joined with another graduating student to form a Youth Evangelism Team and this summer they plan a national tour.

Active in campus life, Barney served as president of Crusader House from 1958-1961 and was candidate for student body president last year.

Barney will make his response to the ordination charge in a sermon at the evening services and will be honored at a reception following in Fellowship Hall.

He is the fifth person from the congregation to be set apart for specialized Christian service and is the first since Sue Hahn Johnson was commissioned as a missionary to Africa in 1957, according to the Rev. James C. Smith, minister.

Woman Pleads Innocent Of Assault And Battery

Betty Hiney, North Myrtle Rd., Myrtle Creek, pleaded innocent to assault and battery on arraignment in the Municipal Court of Warren Woodruff Monday. Her trial was set for 9:30 a.m. May 23, and she was released in bail of $50.

She was arrested by city police on a private complaint filed by Charlotte Ziessler, 724 W. Rainbow St., who claims she was struck in the face, police said.

Car Said Stolen

Neal Gilbert Smith, 1952 SE Douglas Ave., reported to Roseburg City Police that his car had been stolen from John's Mobile Station on W. Harvard Ave.

He said he had left the car there about 3:30 p.m. Monday and went to Camas Valley with another man. When they returned at 9:30 the car was gone. It was described as a 1952 Studebaker 2-door sedan.

Porter Refutes Duncan's Statement On Dunes Area

Charles O. Porter, Eugene attorney, reports complete disagreement with Rep. Robert B. Duncan, Medford, concerning the proposed boundaries of the so-called Oregon Sand Dunes Recreational Park. Both men are seeking the Democratic nomination for Congress from Oregon's 4th Congressional District.

The area in question embraces the northern part of Coos County and the coastal areas of Douglas and Lane counties.

Proposal Outlined

The original proposal, which was made by the late Sen. Richard L. Neuberger, would create a national park from a coastal strip roughly six miles inland. The proposal would place the area in control of the National Park Service. It would provide for construction of a new highway along the eastern boundary.

U.S. Rep. Edwin Durno introduced a bill into Congress to authorize recreational development of some 12,000 acres now in federal control in the area which embraces more than 50,000 acres.

Rep. Duncan, speaking recently in the district, offered what he termed a "compromise" suggestion, that the park be confined to the land lying between Highway 101 and the ocean. This would exclude the greater part of the private holdings and would eliminate from the proposed park three of the larger lakes.

"The inland lakes are essential in the park," asserts Porter. Duncan's plan, says Porter, is not a "compromise," it is a "surrender."

Commenting on the fact that residents of the area are vigorously opposed to the original plan, and that Sen. Morse has objected to the condemnation features of the Neuberger bill, Porter says that the objection has been removed by Mrs. Neuberger's willingness to have the condemnation clause eliminated from the bill.

The "small area" suggested by Duncan, Porter says, would "not take care of the great throngs of tourists we know are coming our way—either to zoom on through or to stop and spend their money in Oregon, depending on whether we are ready to take care of them."

Accused Forger Bound To Jury

Carl Gene Liles, 20, of Eufaula, Calif., waived preliminary hearing and was bound over for Grand Jury action on arraignment before District Judge Gerald R. Hayes Monday on a forgery charge.

A Roseburg City Police complaint alleges that Liles forged and counterfeited a $32.50 bank check in Roseburg for payment of money. He was arrested by city officers last Friday.

Also arrested in connection with the case were his 20-year-old wife, Janis LaDonna, and a third woman, Barbara Ellen Helt, 20, of Lebanon.

Mrs. Liles and the Lebanon woman, facing charges of forgery also waived preliminary hearing and were bound over for Grand Jury action.

Each defendant is being held in the Douglas County jail under $3,000 bond.

Also in District Court Monday, Charles Davis Steen, 48, of 1997 SW Linnell St., accused of assault and battery upon his wife, Marie, pleaded innocent. The assault allegedly occurred on April 2. No trial date was set.

Neil Smith, 23, of Roseburg, charged with assault and battery upon his wife, Kay, pleaded innocent. The case was set for trial at 2 p.m. on May 16. Smith was released from custody after posting $250 bail.

Clancy Sentenced

Robert Wellington Clancy, 22, of Medford, was sentenced to four days in jail and fined $125 and costs in District Court Monday after pleading guilty to a charge of driving a vehicle on a suspended driver's license.

In Canyonville Justice Court, Jimmy Dee Harris, 22, of Winston was arraigned on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. He requested a preliminary hearing. Harris was arrested by officers of the Douglas County Sheriff's Department. Bail was set at $1,500.

County's CD Plans Given At Yoncalla

A Yoncalla meeting on Civil Defense held at Yoncalla High School Monday night was highlighted by a discussion on Douglas County Civil Defense operational plans for disaster.

Arthur Selby, Civil Defense director for Douglas County, explained this plan in detail, according to Mrs. Arthur Selby, correspondent.

Following Selby, Col. Scott of the State Civil Defense Office of Salem, outlined the fall-out program and the warning systems to be put into effect throughout the state and nation.

Col. Scott was followed by Gen. Coleman who dwelt upon the subject of fallout, its causes and effects, and how it would be dispersed over large areas after the explosion. Mrs. Bernice Radtke, Yoncalla Civil Defense director, presided.

After these talks a question and answer period was held. Considerable interest was displayed by the audience in some of the more technical discussion based on fall-out in our area. Refreshments were served.

TRI-CITY MEET SET

Tri-City PTA will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the multipurpose room of the school. New officers will be installed.

The beginner and advanced band will provide entertainment. Refreshments will be served by the seventh grade mothers.

A LOT OF SUGAR — Representatives of two assisting agencies are shown preparing sugar cubes for administration of vaccine against polio this Sunday. They are Mrs. Robert Hastings, representing the District 11 Nurses' Association, and Glen Yates, new president of the Roseburg Junior Chamber of Commerce. Dr. Daniel Halferty, publicity chairman of Sobin Oral Sunday, reports the 25,000 sugar cubes to which vaccine will be added, stacked end to end would reach 1,126 feet. This is twice the height of Mt. Nebo and 26 times the height of the Medical Arts Building.
