

County Residents Get Big Monthly Stipend From FOA Insurance Plan

Even with its comparatively low average age of population, Douglas County is receiving benefit payments from the federal old-age survivors and disability insurance program at a rate of more than $378,000 a month.

This was the report today from Dean O. Haley, district manager of the Social Security Administration office in Eugene.

He said statistics on program operations indicate that in December 1961, 5,681 persons received a total of $378,014 in benefit payments. Haley estimates that more than $44 million in benefit payments were received in the county during 1961. About one person in every 13 was entitled to a monthly benefit check from the program.

The total number receiving benefits increased from 4,886 during the year, an increase of 16.3 percent. The monthly rate of benefit payments increased was 19.7 percent from $315,867.

Haley attributed part of this increase to amendments to the Social Security law passed in June 1961. Under it, persons could start receiving benefits, at a reduced rate, as early as the age of 62.

A few additional persons have qualified on the basis of liberalized eligibility requirements which now call for only one-quarter of coverage for each year prior to retirement age, rather than the two years required by earlier versions of the law.

Haley said total benefit payments also increased somewhat more than the total of beneficiaries primarily because the minimum benefit rate was raised, and because the benefit rate payable to elderly widows was increased.

Because the population for Douglas County is younger than that for the state as a whole (average age 27.1 in the 1960 census compared to 21.0 for the state) somewhat fewer people received benefits than in other counties. About one person in 10 in the state is a beneficiary.

The rate of increase, however, is greater than the state as a whole. Its rate was 16.3 per cent, as compared to 10.2 for the state.

The beneficiary groups and their numbers and payments are: Retired workers 2,988 receiving $228,405; wife or dependent husbands 789 with payments of $30,673; mothers and children 939 receiving $55,416; parents of deceased workers 5 receiving $401 and disabled workers and dependents 573 receiving $39,203.

Vast Unemployment Seen In Red China As Result Of Back-To-Farm Movement

HONG KONG (AP)—Reports of an enforced back-to-the-farm program for Red China's recently industrialized millions provided new insights Saturday into the mass flight of refugees from the Chinese mainland.

A British businessman who visited Communist China said vast unemployment is spreading through most of China's major cities as a result of a government retrenchment plan calling for the resignation of all factory workers employed after 1958 and their return to their home villages.

He said discontent was widespread in many cities. He quoted a university student in Shanghai as saying, "Our leaders seem not to know what they are doing. China has been liberated 12 years and yet hunger is gripping the land."

One Western observer in Hong Kong said the Chinese Communists are making the same mistake that they made in 1958 with their big leap forward campaign. First they tried to achieve too much in too little time, he said, and in the present consolidation plan they are trying to cut down too much in even lesser time.

The Briton, who declined to be identified by name, said most of the factory hands were resisting return to the farm because of gripping hunger there and the long working hours, usually from dawn to dusk.

British authorities in Hong Kong, claiming the crown colony is jammed with refugees and cannot support any more, ordered a crackdown on residents helping fugitives to get through the barbed-wire barricade the British are stringing along the 12-mile border.

Conviction for Hong Kong residents infiltrating the frontier area or interfering with official efforts to send the refugees back to Red China carries fines of up to $880 or two years in jail.

The Free China Relief Association said in Taipei its representatives in Hong Kong have started to screen refugees wishing to go to Formosa for resettlement. The purpose is to select 1,000 persons that the association recently decided to resettle in Formosa this year.

So far Formosa has consented to take only a token number, although the United Nations has contended the responsibility of taking care of the refugees rests with Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government.

One Taipei newspaper, the United Daily News, suggested that the United States send members of its Peace Corps to Hong Kong to set up a center for distributing surplus American farm products to the refugees.

In Macao, the government of that small Portuguese colony 40 miles west of Hong Kong said 36,084 Chinese had sought asylum since Jan. 1. It said 33,849 of them had exit permits from Peiping and the remainder were fugitives.

The British businessman's report of large-scale unemployment in Chinese cities lacked official confirmation. But refugees from China as well as Hong Kong newspaper reports gave a similar picture.

Coventry's City Fathers Claim Lady Godiva Didn't Ride Naked

COVENTRY, England (AP)—Coventry's city fathers came up Saturday with a startling new theory: Lady Godiva wasn't naked at all when she made her famous ride through the town.

She wore clothes, the City Council suggested in a publicity leaflet for tourists.

The statement aroused some citizens who are proud of Godiva's legendary nudity.

"Not naked?" asked Coventry city historian Abe Jephcott. "Rubbish. I challenge anyone to produce facts disproving the naked ride by Lady Godiva."

The row was sparked by plans for a pageant in connection with the consecration of the new Coventry cathedral. A local girl will appear as Lady Godiva and ride through the streets on horseback during the three weeks following the consecration next Friday. She will wear flesh-colored tights and a wig with long flowing hair.

Tradition says Lady Godiva, an 11th century beauty, wore nothing but her long locks. She did it to persuade her husband Leofric, Earl of Mercia and Lord of Coventry, to spare the people of the city from oppressive taxation.

The City Council's new leaflet says Leofric, instead of daring his wife to ride in the nude, may have challenged her merely to appear in public without her jewels and finery.

"It is unlikely that Leofric, being a man of great piety and benevolence, would allow his wife to ride naked," the leaflet said.

Officials of the council explained the pamphlet was prepared after a study of old books in the city's archives.

One version of the Godiva legend says the citizens of Coventry were told to stay indoors and hide their eyes as she rode past. A tailor, says the legend, took a peep and was afterwards struck blind. He was dubbed "Peeping Tom"—a name that has lived in history.

Winston-Dillard Cubs Present Program On Troubadour Theme

Cub Scout Dens 1 and 4 of Winston presented two distinctly different types of entertainment in carrying out the troubadour theme at the Pack 136 meeting held recently at Dillard school.

Den 1 cubs portrayed a story of knights, kings, duels, and battles which was filmed in local surroundings of woods and river. The film was edited, cut, and put together in a manner similar to professional movies.

Den 4 chose the currently popular record "My Boomerang Won't Come Back" to pantomime. They depicted the Aborigine Tribe of Australia and wore loin cloths, blackface, and tattoo marks. The school auditorium was made to resemble a theater to complete the troubadour theme.

Jack Nelson conducted the games. Refreshments were served to the families attending. The next pack meeting will be a potluck picnic and the date will be announced later.

Mrs. Charles McCord and Mrs. Ray Goltger of Dillard spent the recent Mother's Weekend in Corvallis with their sons, David and Neil, who are attending Oregon State University.

Mrs. Lee O. Hunt of Winston is expected home this week from San Jose, Calif., where she has been visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Scharpf and baby daughter, Linda, born April 26. This is the Sharp's first child and the first grandchild of the Hunts. Mrs. Scharpf was the former Linda Lee Hunt.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Scott of Portland spent Saturday night and Sunday with the latter's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. Broadword and family in Winston. Other visitors at the Broadword home were Mr. and Mrs. Keith Harris of Coos Bay who were on their way home from visiting their son in California.

Art McGuire spent Monday in Eugene conducting a field worker's training class for new field workers for the Woodmen Circle held at the Osburn Hotel.

Guests at the home of Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Vandermark recently were Dr. Osgood, Dr. Julie Dickerson and Bill Phillips all of Portland. On Sunday other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Jim Davis and son, David, of Cottage Grove.

SEC Is Probing Brokerage Firm

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two partners of a prominent New York brokerage firm claim they were ignorant of the steadily worsening financial condition of a new company in which customers invested $3 million.

This testimony was given to the Securities and Exchange Commission recently by John D. Dunbar, senior West Coast partner of Shearson, Hammill & Co., and Richard J. Tewles, Los Angeles manager of the firm.

Dunbar and Tewles also told of making personal profits of about $81,200 in the common stock of U.S. Automatic Merchandising Co., (Usamco), Redondo Beach, Calif. However, Tewles suffered an undisclosed loss in Usamco debentures.

Usamco shares climbed last year to a high of $19 in over-the-counter trading before plunging to 25 cents. Shearson, Hammill, a 47-office chain with a New York Stock Exchange membership, was principal dealer in the shares.

The Usamco story was aired at public hearings in the SEC study of securities markets.

Dunbar was an original director of Usamco and Shearson, Hammill officials said they maintained close relations with the company. Dunbar and Tewles said they accepted optimistic projections from Usamco's president, Richard Stevens, and continued to recommend the stock to customers even as the firm was diving deeper into the red. It is now in receivership.

Tewles said under questioning, that he heard of one Shearson, Hammill salesman who used glowing earnings forecasts to predict that the stock would go to $40 a share. He said the earnings figures were supplied to brokerage salesmen at a meeting arranged by Usamco.

A number of Shearson, Hammill customers are suing the firm in California, alleging that salesmen made false claims in touting the stock.

Ramsey Asks Destruction Of All World's Weapons

CANTERBURY, England (AP)—Dr. Michael Ramsey, the archbishop of Canterbury, has called for destruction of all weapons, not just nuclear ones.

Entering Britain's ban-the-bomb controversy, the Anglican primate declared himself against one-sided nuclear disarmament by Britain as demanded by a strong movement in this country. He told a diocesan conference here all Christians face the nuclear dilemma and have been divided by the issue of keeping or renouncing H-weapons. Insisting there is no simple, slick answer to the problem, the archbishop said:

"The only safeguard for peace is the abolition or drastic reduction of all weapons of all kinds and not only nuclear ones."

On the issue of halting nuclear weapon tests he recognized the urgent need of an East-West agreement on a ban.

"If America could have refrained from those last tests it would have helped to rob Russia of the pretext of going on with the tests," he added.

He expressed the belief that "Russia cannot want war because war would mean her own destruction."

The primate acknowledged the sincerity of conscientious Christians who, unlike himself, believe in one-sided disarmament. He said:

"It (the unilateral view) has its own moral simplicity and directness. If a nation follows this policy it is bound to be ready for all the consequences. It means the readiness of a nation to face the destruction or subjugation of its people."

"We (who hold the nonunilateralist view) also have to be clear what the deterrent can and cannot mean. The deterrent is not a one-sided weapon of defense. When once the deterrent were used by one side, general destruction would follow and there would be no difference between winners and losers."

"Yet it becomes more and more dangerous to go on relying on this deterrent and we who have relied on it must press on, in praying and working for total disarmament."

He advanced three main arguments in favor of seeking total, as distinct from only nuclear, disarmament:

1. War today must be ruled out as "an instrument of justice."

2. It has become "impossible to defeat communism merely by military means" but only by "spreading a better way of life."

3. Dangers of war flow not only from nuclear but also from any sort of weapon. Therefore it is fallacy that "if nuclear arms are abolished 'the risk of war will be removed.'"

Gates Has Day At World Fair

SEATTLE (AP)—The little community of Gates, Ore. had its day at the Seattle World's Fair Saturday.

Gates, located 30 miles southeast of Salem and with a population of only 179, sent 33 Sixth, Seventh and Eighth graders and eight chaperones to the big show.

It started as a graduation party for the eighth grade, explained Bill Gleason, school principal. Then the town decided the fair would be a great experience for the Sixth and Seventh graders, too. Auctions, paper drives and the like raised the necessary money.

"We read in a newspaper about Queen Anne High School's offer to house student groups at a dollar a head," Gleason said. "That made it easy."

The Gates party bedded down in the girls' and boys' gymnasium at the high school, rolling out sleeping bags on tumbling mats.

The Gates' budget for the expedition is $9.75 a head. Most of it will be "eaten up" at a projected $1 a meal.

"They've already begun to save for a big Sunday meal," Gleason explained. "Last night they dined on hamburgers and milk shakes for about 60 cents each. The extra 40 cents they kicked back to the chaperones to save for a big Sunday blowout."

In addition, each child is allowed $2.50 in pocket money to blow as he pleases.

Senior Moms To Meet

Mothers of seniors of Roseburg High School are requested to meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday, May 22, in the music room of the school to assist in making favors for the annual senior's banquet.
