

Carpenter Gets Bachelor's Degree Won By Recent Three-Orbit Flight

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—Astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter received today the aeronautical engineering college degree he failed to get 13 years ago. President Quigg Newton of the University of Colorado, Carpenter's alma mater, said the orbital flier missed a final examination in a course called heat transfer, "perhaps with his mind transferring on higher things."

He said Carpenter's subsequent training as an astronaut has "more than made up for any deficiency in the subject of heat transfer." He then presented the 37-year-old Carpenter with a bachelor of science degree. The ceremonies began in the university football stadium as hundreds of Boulder residents continued to pour into the seats. The weather was bright and sunny, with a few clouds in a blue sky, and the wind blowing briskly from the northeast. Newton entertained Carpenter the Peace (two to appear on November ballot), Jack B. Day, 267; A. V. Mohr, 242; James R. Cox, 33; and John F. Thomas, 26. and his wife, Rene, in a guitar-playing songfest Monday night. Carpenter strummed the guitar and sang as loudly as anyone. He capped the festive evening by teaching Newton's daughters, Abby and Ginna, who played a ukulele, to sing and play "Yellow Bird," a popular tune. This town where he was born and grew up at 7th and Aurora streets—which he remembered by christening his space capsule Aurora 7—has named a new park for him. Mayor John P. Holloway declared the occasion Malcolm Scott Carpenter Day.

Plumley Blames JFK For Crash

WASHINGTON (AP)—H. Ladd Plumley, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, called today for White House leadership in rebuilding business confidence. Plumley, an insurance executive, blamed the stock market plunge on the coincidental impact of two confidence-upsetting factors—a dimming of profit expectations and President Kennedy's quashing of the steel price increase. In a speech prepared for the National Press Club, Plumley said the government's intervention in steel pricing raised the spectre of administered prices and the curtailing of the free market. He predicted there will never again occur such a massing of power, influence, threat and general unpleasantness as was applied by Kennedy in forcing steelmakers to withdraw their April price boost. The market sell-off does not reflect current business conditions or fear of any near-term reversal of the expansion of business, Plumley said. "Now we need a thoughtful appreciation of the present lack of business confidence and a prompt, vigorous program aimed at restoring the fundamentals necessary to recreate an atmosphere of stability and growth," he said.

Estes' Accountant Destroyed Papers Official Claims

WASHINGTON (AP)—A private accountant who submitted a rosy audit of Billie Sol Estes' finances destroyed his working papers after a call from someone in Estes' organization, an Agriculture Department official said today. The statement of net worth was presented to the government in January 1961 when the Agriculture Department proposed to increase from $700,000 to $1 million the bond Estes had to put up to store U.S. grain valued at $50 million. The agriculture official, S. R. Smith, administrator of the Agricultural Marketing Service, said the audit put Estes' net worth at $13.7 million—more than the amount required to keep the bond at the lower level. He said the audit was made by Winn P. Jackson, a certified public accountant associated with a Texas firm. Jackson has conceded he did not make an adequate audit of Estes' records before submitting the report, Smith said in testimony prepared for the House Government Operations subcommittee. Estes, now under indictment for fraud, has declared he is bankrupt. One aim of the investigations into Estes' many and complex operations is to learn whether Estes' jerry-built business empire was constructed on a foundation of government influence. The 37-year-old Texan's dealings are being investigated by the FBI, four grand juries, the Internal Revenue Service, the Agriculture Department and two congressional committees.

Stewardess' Body Yields Shrapnel

(See Story Page 3) WASHINGTON (AP)—Metal particles described as shrapnel were found in the body of a stewardess killed when an airliner crashed last Tuesday, senators were told today. Forty-five persons died in the crash of the Continental Airlines plane near the Missouri-Iowa border. The Chief Aeronautics Board of the Civil Aeronautics Board told the Senate Aviation subcommittee a dynamite explosion apparently blew out a side of the plane. Boyd testified that investigators have found no indication that the crash was the result of any structural defects or anything relating to the aircraft. He did not name the stewardess, but investigators had traveled to Odessa, Tex., to examine the body of stewardess Joyce Rush, 23.

Roseburg Council Considers Request For Eastwood Park

A request from the Eastwood Dad's Club for a city park or recreation area in the Eastwood subdivision was considered by the Roseburg City Council Monday night. A letter signed by J. W. (Pete) Butts, president, and George B. Abdill, community affairs committee chairman, urged the council to consider development of an abandoned cemetery site in the Eastwood area. The plot reportedly contains approximately 47 acres and lies west of Ramp Rd., bounded on the north by SE California Ave., on the west by SE Eastwood St. and on the south by residential property fronting on SE Balsam Ave. The cemetery has been abandoned for many years and the ground has become a "community eyesore," the letter states. It has become a dump ground for trash and debris and is overgrown with poison oak, brush and weeds, it was reported, and presents a fire hazard. "If the city can acquire title to the tract and make any necessary legal arrangements to permit use of the park as a recreation area, members of the Dad's Club will cooperate. . . in its development," said the promoters of the park plan. The plot is owned by Douglas County. The council agreed to search the county records and investigate legal aspects of the proposal. City Manager Craig McMicken said he had received two phone calls from adjacent property owners protesting the plan, primarily because of the playground possibility. Two Winston men charged with assault with intent to rob in connection with a Roseburg service station holdup last Thursday requested preliminary hearings when arraigned Monday in Douglas County District Court. Bill Ernest Hunter, 27, and William Matthew Gray, 25, also known as William Matthew Simmons, are charged with assaulting Clarence Edgar Lemon, Hillcrest Flying A Service Station attendant, "by pointing a loaded pistol at Lemon with intent to rob" him. According to Lemon, a second person remained outside when a stocking-hooded bandit entered the station armed with a revolver. Approximately $200 in cash was reported taken in the holdup. District Judge Gerald R. Hayes set preliminary hearing for Gray at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday. Hunter will appear for hearing on Thursday at 10:30 a.m. Each of the defendants is being held in the Douglas County jail under $3,000 bail. The Douglas County Circuit Court appointed Donald A. Spectacular Nuclear Shots Slated Over Pacific Island

WASHINGTON (AP)—The most spectacular shots of the U.S. nuclear tests in the Pacific will begin in about three days. These are the high-altitude bursts whose brilliant glow will be seen for hundreds of miles. The three or four blasts with their high-soaring nuclear fireballs and glittering auroras may temporarily disrupt some radio communications and radar observations. Militarily, the shots obviously are designed to test the effects of high-altitude blasts on the nation's wartime communications gear—and on electronic monitors designed to detect incoming missiles. The government announced Monday the series will be fired over Johnston Island. The first shot, with an explosive force of something less than a million tons of TNT—a megaton—will be exploded at a height of "tens of kilometers." Educated guesses put this at about 30 to 40 miles. Two following blasts—one in the megaton range, the other less than a megaton—will be triggered higher—up to 500 miles, according to some sources. The Atomic Energy Commission would go no further than "hundreds of kilometers." One hundred kilometers is 60 miles. Whether a fourth shot will be necessary depends on the results of the initial three explosions. So far the United States has announced firing 14 nuclear explosions in the current series of atmospheric tests which began April 25. All have been in the vicinity of Christmas Island, the other test site in the Pacific range. The glow from the first test—but not the fireball—probably will be visible in Hawaii, about 700 miles from Johnston Island. The island state very likely will be able to see the unearthly fireballs of the second and third explosions. All three shots are expected to produce artificial versions of nature's greatest of all free-shows, the aurora. These brilliant lights, accompanied by purple streamers, will spread out from the bottom of the fireballs, and be visible in at least the areas immediately around Johnston Island. "The aurora from the highest detonation," the announcement said, "probably will be visible in the area northwest of Hawaii and in the Samoa area, as well as in Hawaii."

Airliner Skids To Safe Landing

NEW YORK (AP)—An Eastern Air Lines plane with a jammed nose wheel skidded to a safe landing on a foam-covered runway Monday night and all 40 persons aboard walked away uninjured. The plane, a propeller-driven Lockheed Super-Constellation inbound from Washington, D.C., had circled Idlewild Airport for 55 harrowing minutes while crash equipment was readied and the foam was spread. It descended with its nose held high, skidded into the foam and came to rest on its nose with its tail in the air at about a 35-degree angle. The plane was Eastern's Flight 888, bound for La Guardia Field. It was diverted to Idlewild for the emergency landing. The plane was Eastern's Flight 888, bound for La Guardia Field. VISION ON WHEELS

The 1962 Lincoln Continental is truly a vision of elegance, design and performance. To produce this superior automobile took another kind of vision—foresight. Before the Continental was born, its designers took a long, careful look at the automotive future. Using the utmost care and discrimination, they designed a car that will not be outdated by the calendar, a car that anticipates tomorrow. This extra time and effort has raised the reliability standards so high that the Lincoln Continental is the only American automobile to be warranted for two years or 24,000 miles. The Continental is an enduring investment—the automobile for men and women of discrimination, taste and vision.
