Fish Commission Opens Redmond Research Lab

The Oregon Fish Commission announced today the opening of a new research laboratory at 632 South Sixth St., Redmond, Oregon. Sigurd J. Westheim, Director of Research, stated that the studies to be carried out there are of the behavior of juvenile salmonids in reservoirs, under contract with the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries.

This is a phase of the over-all fish passage research program initiated by Secretary of the Interior Udall last year.

Westheim also stated that Emery Wagner, formerly at Newport working on shellfish investigations, will be in charge of the lab. Tom Gaumer and Paul Ingram will assist Wagner. Gaumer has been working on the Columbia River Management Program, and Ingram is a recent Oregon State University graduate.

Field work for the project will be conducted at Lake Simustus, behind Pelton Dam on the Deschutes River. Floating traps and small-mesh gill nets will be used to gather specimens and SCUBA gear will be employed for underwater observations. "Much more has to be known about the behavior of juvenile salmon in reservoirs," Westheim said, "and the purpose of this study is to try and gain the needed information in order to help with the design of future fish passage facilities."

This particular study will last three years with two full years of field work. An identical study under the same program is being conducted by Commission personnel at North Fork Reservoir on the Clackamas River. Project leader for both phases of the study is Larry Korn, Senior Biologist with the Fish Commission, stationed at research headquarters in Clackamas.

KERR LOST TO REDSKINS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Washington Redskins have lost the services of defensive back Jim Kerr until after the start of the National Football League season. A spokesman said Kerr will have to undergo an operation for what is believed to be a cartilage injury.

Jantzen Beach Sets Weekend Racing

Two big auto racing events are on tap Friday and Sunday evenings at Portland's Jantzen arena on the quarter mile oval.

Friday night, another big jalopy destruction derby will be held with over 100 junkers smashing and crashing their way through eight thrilling events.

Time trials start at 7:00 p.m., with racing getting underway at 8:30. Sunday's twilight events, will see the Modified Sportsmen, the Northwest's fastest and classiest racing cars competing, plus a big jalopy derby.

A classy field of over 20 of the "speedsters" from all over the Northwest will swing into action when time trials get underway at 5:30 p.m. The first of the eight big racing events is scheduled for 6:30.

This will be the second outing of the 1962 racing campaign for the rain riddled "racing Roadsters" with their bullet shaped racers touring the short track, speed records are in jeopardy.

The Modifieds will have a top field of drivers including Art Polard, Ernie Koch, Dick Pace, Bobby Etchison, Dean and Dewey Willcock, Bill Hyde, Don Nelson, Levi Jones, Bob Willhite and many more of the speed pilots of the Northwest.

The Modifieds will hold forth with two trophy dashes, four heat events, the consolation and the feature event.

Antelope Hunt Permits Due July 18

Antelope hunters are reminded by the game commission that applications for this year's hunt are due July 18. Any hunter who wishes to be eligible for the drawings to be held on July 25 must have his application filed on or before the July 18 deadline.

Tag holders for the 1960 and 1961 hunts are not eligible to apply.

A total of 600 tags will be issued on a drawing basis, 75 for Area I which includes the Ghechoo, Maury and Silvies game management units; 75 for Area II which includes the Paulina, Wagonfire, Fort Rock and Silver Lake units; 100 tags for Area III which includes the Warner unit; 175 tags for Area IV which includes the Juniper, Hart Mountain and Steens units; 100 tags for Area V which includes the Beulah, Malheur River and Owyhee units; and 75 tags for Area VI which includes only the Whitehorse unit.

Applications and all other information pertaining to the hunt may be obtained from license agencies. A fee of $5.00 must be submitted with each application, which will be refunded to applicants unsuccessful in the drawing.

A new regulation this year requires that each antelope hunter must file on a single application blank. Party applications as was the custom in the past will not be accepted.

Palmer Fires 71 In British Open, Trails McDonald

TROON, Scotland (UPI) — The powerful American contingent, with the reception of defending champion Arnold Palmer, will have to show marked improvement in the second round of the British Open golf tournament today or catch the next plane home.

Many observers believe that Palmer, Sammy Snead, chubby Phil Rodgers and Don Essig III have the best chance among the eight U.S. players of surviving a second round target cutoff of 149. The top 50 will play in Friday's final 36 holes.

Palmer, his ailing back soothed by a warming sun, remained the favorite on the basis of his opening round 1-under-par 71, good for a third place tie behind first round leader Keith Macdonald of England, who shot a 69, and four-time Open winner Peter Thomson of Australia, who carded a 70.

Young Rodgers, a red-haired money-winning pro from La Jolla, Calif., had the next best American score, a 75. Snead struggled through a 76 round, as did Essig of Indianapolis, Ind.

Four other Yanks, including former U.S. Open champion Gene Littler and current American Open titleholder Jack Nicklaus, will have to shoot sub-par rounds today to reach the final two rounds, experts agreed.

The conditions were ideal at the seaside course Wednesday, but Littler racked up a shocking 79. Nicklaus was even more disappointing with an 80, a score he said he "still can't believe."

Jack Isaacs of Langley Field, Va., fared better with a 76 while Paul Runyan, world Seniors champion from La Jolla, Calif., carded a 79.

Palmer, tied with Australia's KEL Nagle for third place, said he "would settle for an even par" today. Heat treatments taken at his hotel before the opening round apparently relieved his aching back and the pain in his right hip, permitting him to follow through with the swing that won

Palmer the U.S. Masters and made him this year's top moneywinning pro.

Palmer would have fared better if he had not run into recurrent putter trouble. The Latrobe, Pa., par-buster failed to connect on five putts that were five feet or less from the cup.

Preventive Measure Taken At Academy

WEST POINT, N.Y. (UPI) — The U.S. Military Academy today took measures to prevent West Point coaches from promising appointments to young athletes.

The action was touched off by Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., Wednesday when he charged that Schenectady, N.Y., high school basketball star Robert DeLuca would not be able to enter West Point despite a promise by Army basketball coach George Hunter.

Academy public information officer Col. J. B. Stephens explained DeLuca did not receive an appointment because there were no existing vacancies.

"The academy," Stephens emphasized, "has taken steps to see that similar instances did not occur again. All athletic coaches have been briefed on what they may and may not do in regard to appointments. But in the final analysis appointments are made by the Department of the Army on the basis of recommendations from the academic board."

Stephens said the academy was sorry for what happened.

BLANCHARD MOVES UP

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (UPI) — Felix (Doc) Blanchard, former West Point star, has been elevated to assistant football coach at the Air Force Academy. Blanchard replaces Tom Berry, who has resigned.
