

Douglas County Plans System Of Controlled Refuse Dumps

Because of the increasing problem of indiscriminate dumping of garbage and other wastes along highways and over scenic areas, Douglas County is tentatively feeling its way toward establishment of a system of dumps easily accessible but well-controlled.

Kennedy Requests Flexible Approach On Berlin Issue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy has made a new effort to persuade Russia to adopt a more flexible approach to settling the Berlin issue and other major East-West differences.

The President was understood to have told Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin at a one-hour meeting Tuesday that meaningful negotiations on Berlin are not possible so long as Russia continues to insist on Allied evacuation of the city.

Neither the White House nor Dobrynin would comment on the substance of the discussion. But presidential news secretary Pierre Salinger said the talk concerned Berlin, disarmament and nuclear testing, and the new Laos agreement to be signed in Geneva next Monday.

Emphasizes Stand Informed sources said the President emphasized his complete support for the position that Secretary of State Dean Rusk has taken in six Berlin talks with Dobrynin over the past three months.

The principal point is, as Rusk told a news conference last week, that there is no basis for "serious negotiations" on Berlin so long as Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev insists primarily on talking about elimination or reduction of British and American garrisons there.

On disarmament and a nuclear test ban, the President was believed to have urged again that Russia make a greater effort to meet the British and American half-way in an effort to end the nuclear arms race.

Reiterates Views On Laos, Kennedy was understood to have expressed the hope that both Eastern and Western nations would scrupulously honor the new agreement guaranteeing the independence and neutrality of the kingdom.

The President's talk with Dobrynin obviously was intended to reiterate the administration's views on major issues prior to the talks Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko plan to hold in Geneva late this week and early next week.

Mayors To Talk Via Satellite

NEW YORK (UPI) — Officials of 23 American cities, including Medford, Ore., will talk to leaders of 23 European cities in transatlantic telephone calls via the Telstar satellite July 28.

The government sponsored people-to-people program was announced officially here Tuesday.

American Telephone & Telegraph, which, with government help, launched the 170-pound satellite, said it was cooperating with the U.S. Information Agency (USIA) in the program.

AT & T said mayors and other top officials of the 23 U.S. communities selected for the experiment will telephone counterparts in an equal number of European cities for five-to-six minute transatlantic chats via space.

Some of the officials scheduled to participate know one another. They have either met or communicated over the years in the people-to-people program between sister cities.

In some cases, visiting students may get to talk to officials of their home towns.

AT & T said 10 such calls could be relayed simultaneously by Telstar.

One of the 23 calls will be made between Medford and Alba, Italy, Medford's sister city.

Zorin Says U. S. Asks Disarmament On Its Own Terms

GENEVA (UPI) — The Soviet Union accused the United States today of wanting disarmament on its own terms and nobody else's.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin told the 59th plenary session of the 17-nation Disarmament Conference that the United States "will only be satisfied if its position is adopted lock, stock and barrel."

But he warned that unless the United States makes concessions on the question of abolition of foreign bases and nuclear delivery vehicles in the first stage of the disarmament process, "there is not much chance of progress here."

Zorin's harsh words came after American Ambassador Arthur H. Dean had claimed Soviet concessions on several comparatively minor points made last Monday do not go far enough and may create a "serious imbalance" in the East-West power situation.

Western sources said Zorin's tough talking today appeared to indicate the Soviets are not prepared to budge an inch from their previous position on any matters of substance.

Dean said today that while he welcomes the Soviet willingness to compromise on such matters as measures to reduce the risk of accidental war and reduction of conventional weapons in the first stage, the United States regrets that the Soviet compromise proposals do not go very far.

He added that if the Soviet plan was followed it would "create a serious and immediate imbalance of military power."

which is open one day a week (Saturday) and is the uncovered type. Tiller has no regular dump, and dumping is carried on indiscriminately.

County Sanitarian Bruce Bailey was in Eugene Tuesday to investigate the cut and fill dump used for the cities of Eugene and Springfield. He said today the sanitary land fill operation is so inconspicuous it is not even noticeable until it is reached.

He also reported an expert from the state Department of Health would be in Roseburg soon to offer recommendations on the operations of such dumps.

The dumps being considered would be under the jurisdiction of the county Health Department. Dr. John Donnelly, county health officer, said Tuesday the land fill operation of dumping is probably the most satisfactory because it stops odors, involves burning of only non-smelling combustibles and speeds disintegration of refuse. He said Douglas County is badly in need of a better disposal of rubbish and refuse.

The dump at Whistler's Bend would not involve Roseburg. It is being designed to serve the Glendale, Little River area. Bailey reports the area presently uses a dump on Little River on Bureau of Land Management land. He said Little River dump is not satisfactory because of fire danger.

Bailey also reported that the dump at Quines Creek has been closed. Those using it formerly have been advised to use the dump at Glendale.

U.S. Gets Blame For Iran's Woes

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — Premier All Amini and his cabinet resigned today, blaming the United States for Iran's financial troubles.

Amini, who brought pledges of economic reform and clean government into office 14 months ago, told newsmen he would stay on as caretaker premier until the shah finds a new man but he would not consider reappointment.

"My health is none too good and my problems insurmountable," he said. "It is just not possible to run a country without funds. One must either get foreign aid or expenses must be cut. Neither of these was possible."

Amini said the lack of enough American aid was one of the main reasons his government fell. He said that in his little more than a year in office Iran had received only $30 million from the United States.

He said he was "most surprised that our friends who know and consider us their most staunch ally should completely forget about our urgent needs."

American officials here expressed surprise at Amini's attack on the United States. One said that Iran potentially is a very wealthy country and has enough money for all kinds of development projects. He said if taxes were properly collected, no foreign aid would be needed.

Investigating officers said the Winston woman's car smashed into the rear of the Collins vehicle after Collins slowed down for a congested traffic situation. The woman told officers she was unable to stop in time to avoid a collision.

The Cantrell car received heavy front end damage and was towed from the scene by Billy Mohr's wrecking service. The other car received minor rear end damage.

While their parents are gone, the Adams children, John, Stephen and David, will spend the time with relatives. During the greater part, they will visit their maternal grandparents in San Diego, Calif.

Bob Rigstad will take over the duties of the Rev. Mr. Adams at the Roseburg First Presbyterian Church.

House Kills Hanford Power Plant Proposal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Tuesday killed a proposal for nonfederal construction of the world's largest atomic power plant at the government's atomic works at Hanford, Wash.

The House on a roll-call formally approved an amendment to the Atomic Energy Commission's annual authorization bill specifically forbidding construction of the plant by a public power agency.

The amendment was introduced by Rep. James Van Zandt, R-Pa., who led a successful fight last year to kill an earlier plan for federal construction of the power plant to use waste steam from a plutonium-producing reactor.

The amendment was added to a bill to authorize AEC construction projects totaling $159,415,000. The stand of private power utilities in the Pacific Northwest on the WPPSS proposal remained something of a mystery.

Van Zandt contended that they had not been told of hearings on the proposal "until the last minute."

Rep. Jack Westland, R-Wash., and Rep. Catherine May, R-Wash., joined Rep. Chet Holifield, D-Calif., in arguing that spokesmen for private power had not made their views known despite repeated invitations to do so. Both Westland and Mrs. May said they had personally talked with private power officials to urge them to express their views.

Supporters of the proposal said it differed from the earlier proposal principally in that the WPPSS would build and operate the power plant through a $130 million bond issue. Under the earlier proposal, the government would have spent $95 million to build the plant for operation by the AEC.

But Van Zandt said the new proposal was little different from the earlier plan for federal construction and that the result would be the subsidization of public power by the federal government.

Two Plead Innocent On Traffic Counts

Pleas of innocent were entered by two men arraigned in Roseburg Municipal Court Tuesday on traffic complaints.

Michael John O'Mara, 19, of Rt. 1, Roseburg, pleaded innocent to a charge of reckless driving and Judge Warren Woodruff set the case for trial next Tuesday.

O'Mara was arrested by Roseburg City Police on July 1. Police reports said the patrol car chased a vehicle driven by the defendant through the city at speeds up to 105 m.p.h.

Jack Donald Bartrum, 21, of 1436 SE Sanford St., pleaded innocent to a charge of holding a speed contest in a related case. Trial was set next Tuesday. Bartrum was cited in a complaint issued July 1.

Roger Alvin Park, 21, of 1522 Rutter Lane, was sentenced to two days in city jail and fined $100 and costs after pleading guilty to a charge of driving with license suspended. Roseburg City Police cited the defendant on July 14.

Marion Edgar Flerchinger, 29, of The Dalles, forfeited $150 bail by failing to appear in connection with a reckless driving complaint issued by City Police on June 28.

Eisenhower Leaves For Teacher Meet

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower left today for an international conference of teachers at Stockholm where he will deliver a message that America will be "conciliatory but will not be pushed around" in seeking peace.

Eisenhower, in a news conference aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth, said he is making the trip as chairman of the U.S. people-to-people program. He said he hoped to visit "old friends" such as French President Charles de Gaulle in Paris and others in Copenhagen, Bonn, London and Dublin before his return to the United States Aug. 24.

The former chief executive was accompanied by his wife, Mamie, and grandchildren, David, 14, and Barbara Ann Eisenhower, 13, who attended the news conference in white shorts and bunny Sox. The family will spend part of their holiday at their apartment, given Eisenhower for life, at Culzean Castle near Ayr, Scotland.

Commenting on the defeat of President Kennedy's medicare program in the Senate Tuesday, Eisenhower said that he believes some governmental program for medical care
