

McBride Wins 9th Straight

Angel Hurler Tops Detroit In 1-0 Game

By United Press International
Bo Belinsky may be the darling of the Hollywood Dawn Patrol but when it's first-class pitching that's needed the Los Angeles Angels will take Ken McBride.

Belinsky "made it big" in the Hollywood night spots when he pitched a no-hitter for the Angels May 5. At the time McBride owned a 1-3 record and couldn't have gotten an autograph from a class C. Western starlet without an introduction from a half-dozen press agents.

But that's ancient history today because the 26-year-old right-hander from Huntsville, Ala., has reeled off nine straight victories to give him a 10-3 record while Belinsky has won only three games since his no-hitter and stands at 7-4.

Bought From Chisox
McBride, obtained for $75,000 from the Chicago White Sox last December, pitched his third 1-0 win of the season Tuesday night when the Angels beat the Detroit Tigers and remained 3½ games behind the American League-leading New York Yankees, who topped the Boston Red Sox, 1-0.

McBride has won three of the Angels' five games since July 2. He has hurled three shutouts and pitched four games in which he has yielded two runs or less.

McBride got the run he needed to top Detroit's Hank Aguirre when Steve Binko singled. Felix Torres doubled and Lee Thomas singled in the fourth inning. He pitched a three-hitter and walked only three while striking out six.

Twins Beat Indians
The Cleveland Indians dropped 4½ games off the pace when they were beaten by the Minnesota Twins, 7-2, the Baltimore Orioles downed the Kansas City Athletics, 3-2, and the Washington Senators swept the Chicago White Sox, 1-0 and 7-3, in the other American League games.

The San Francisco Giants moved to within one game of first place in the National League when they edged out the Milwaukee Braves, 4-3, while the Cincinnati Reds beat the front-running Los Angeles Dodgers, 7-5. The St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Chicago Cubs, 8-6, and the Philadelphia Phillies made it 10 in a row for the season over the Houston Colts with 3-0 and 8-2 triumphs in the other NL games.

Terry Wins Twelfth
Ralph Terry struck out nine and pitched a four-hitter to win his 12th game for the Yankees, who scored their run on eighth-inning singles by Hector Lopez, Clete Boyer and Tom Tresh. Gene Conley suffered his eighth loss although he allowed only five hits in eight innings.

Camilo Pascual pitched a five-hitter and struck out 10 to win his 14th game and increase his league-leading strikeout total to 230 behind a Minnesota attack that included homers by Harmon Killebrew and Bob Allison. Gary Bell, tagged for six runs in 2 1-3 innings, dropped his seventh decision.

Robin Roberts' seven-hitter and Marv Breeding's first homer of the season enabled the Orioles to hand Kansas City's Ed Rakow his 11th defeat. Roberts struck out three and walked two in winning his fifth game.

Don Lock's homer provided Dave Stenhouse, who pitched a three-hitter, with the run he needed to post his eighth win and deal Juan Pizarro his eighth loss. Ken Retzer hit two doubles and a single to lead a nine-hit Washington attack in the nightcap. Early Wynn, trying for the 29th win of his major league career, suffered his seventh loss of the season for the White Sox in the nightcap.

Second-baseman Amado Samuel's ninth-inning error let Orlando Cepeda score from second base with the run that gave the Giants their victory. Cepeda and Felipe Alou homered for the Giants and Hank Aaron hit No. 23 of the season for the Braves. Billy O'Dell received credit for his 11th win.

Reds Stop Dodgers
Moe Drabowsky's six innings of three-hit shutout relief pitching stopped the Dodgers after the Reds ran up a 6-2 lead in three innings. Leon Cardenas, Vada Pinson and Hank Foiles hit homers for the Reds. The loser was strikeout king Sandy Koufax, who retired after one inning with arm and shoulder miseries plus his fifth defeat against 14 victories.

Stan Musial hit a three-run homer and Bill White's four singles drove in a total of three runs as the Cardinals' Larry Jackson won his eighth game with relief aid from Lindy McDaniel.

Portland Bounced By Bees; Padres Hold Tight To Lead

By United Press International

The firemen in the bullpen got a workout Tuesday night in Pacific Coast League action. Some of them put out the fire and some of them just tossed a little gasoline on the flames.

League-leading San Diego continued to win the tough ones. The Padres outlasted Spokane, 6-3, as reliever George McWilliams saved the game for Joe Nuxhall.

Other results found Salt Lake dumping Portland, 10-6, and Hawaii handing Seattle its seventh straight loss, 6-3. Tacoma's game at Vancouver was rained out.

Jesse Gonder's three-run homer in the third was the big blow for San Diego, but Spokane fought back off the veteran Nuxhall.

The highly rated Dodger prospect Dick Nen whacked a homer in the second and Al Ferrara hit a two-run double to spark a three-run outburst in the sixth.

But McWilliams came in to reel the Tribe down with the bases loaded and pitch flawless ball the rest of the way. Nuxhall is now 9-2.

Other relievers did not fare so well.

Portland's Dan Osinski, perhaps the league's best, was shelled by Salt Lake. Portland's Jay Hankins homered in the first and third and Max Alvis of the Bees slugged his 15th round-tripper of the campaign in the early going.

The Beavers tied it up in the fifth, but Salt Lake broke the game open against Osinski in the seventh with three runs. Phil Mudrock was the winner while Osinski's record stands at 9-4 after the defeat.

Hawaii teed off against another tough reliever, Seattle's Tracy Stallard — who served up the pitch which Roger Maris hit for his 61st homer — and young Dave Morehead, the Seattle starter, could not get Hawaii's Tom Satriano out. He whacked a homer, double and single and batted in three runs. Stallard was the loser and is now 3-3.

Vancouver's rainout was its ninth of the season.
