Burke Operating | & | Northside

Oscar Burke of 540 W. Umpqua St. has taken over the operation of J & J Northside Service, 1890 NE Stephens St. Burke, who has been a resident in the Roseburg area since 1947, began operation of the "gas less" service station a short time ago. Prior to this operation, he owned a small ranch in Melrose which he operated since 1950.

First National Boasts Increase In Reserves

Fiscal year 1961-62 ended very happily for the First National Bank of Roseburg, George Gratke, executive vice president, has announced. At the closing of the books on June 30, 1962, the bank had on deposit $5,995,174.38 compared with $4,618,801.09 on deposit June 30, 1961.

Burke is married and has two sons, Richard, a 1962 graduate of Roseburg High School, and Keith, a sophomore at the high school. Burke's operation is in north Roseburg across the highway from the Safeway store.

Levee Protection Job Due Near Reedsport

The Portland Army Engineer District has invited bids for construction of bank protection works at Leeds Island levee on the bank of the Umpqua River two miles north of Reedsport. Col. Sterling Eisiminger, Portland district engineer, said work is expected to cost about $10,000. Bids will be opened in Room 628, Pittock Block in Portland July 30 at 2 p.m.

BLACKTOP LAID

Grants Pass crews in Glendale have blacktopped the post office yard. The Superior Lumber Company grounds and the grade school play area were blacktopped several days earlier, reports correspondent Mrs. G. B. Fox.

CONSTRUCTION on the nine-unit apartment building by Ray Hill and Neal Flanagan of Roseburg on W. Crestview Ave., is moving along rapidly, as the photo above indicates. The Engle and Person crane was called in to move material to one of the levels of the multi-level building. The apartment house, which will have numbers ranging from 2332 to 2348 Crestview, is estimated to cost $61,700. Building permit on the work was taken out May 2 from the Roseburg Building Department. The outside walls are prefabricated, but the owners are putting in their own inside work. The apartments are located behind Mark's Shopping Center in the West Slopes Addition area. Aerial Drop Aids Timber Crews In Little River Forest District

By MRS. ARTHUR SELBY
There are many summer activities going on in the Little River District of the Umpqua National Forest, according to Jack Price, district ranger.

The Wright Creek timber sale and proposed access road will open approximately 4,000 acres of National Forest land south of the North Umpqua River to travel and use. Timber cutting will be planned in such a manner that esthetic values along the North Umpqua River will not be impaired. It is estimated that timber sale layout and road survey crews will be working this area for approximately four to six weeks.

Mel Greenup, Little River forester, conducted an aerial drop of a timber sale layout and road survey camp in the headwaters of Wright Creek. Pilot Bob Good of Roseburg Skyways made the drop. Three drops were made with a total of 700 pounds. Two chutes failed to open which resulted in some crushed foodstuffs.

Road construction and timber salvage operations are rapidly progressing on the Little River Ranger District. Miles Fero of Dillard is constructing one mile of road into the Paradise sale which he purchased on the headwaters of Black Creek. This sale is somewhat different from most sales in that large old growth timber will be removed from the sale area releasing an understorey stand of poles.

The drop was planned since trails do not give ready access to the Wright Creek area and use of pack stock would be difficult.

Glendale Now Receiving TV

Bernie Halverson, secretary of the TV Booster Club in the Glendale area, reported today that installation of the new booster station has been completed and that both channels of the unit are now operating in all directions.

According to Mrs. Gerald Fox, correspondent, officials of the Booster Club have applied for their operating license from the Federal Communications Commission, complying with the ruling that the license must be applied for within 48 hours after the station is completed and goes on the air.

Letters Impulsed
The FCC previously issued to the call letters are flashed across the screen automatically every half hour, but only as impulses, lines which appear temporarily on the screen, rather than as visible letters and numerals.

The new booster unit is of the translator type, translating Channel 5, Medford (to Channel 7) and Channel 9, Eugene (to Channel 2). Halverson said that some Glendale residents seem to be able to pick up the rebroadcasted programs without any additional equipment. Others, however, will have to purchase all-channel antennae or antennae constructed particularly for a Channel 7 and 2 broadcast. The new equipment is designed to service Glendale, Azalea and Wolf Creek, and it is expected that the new system should give somewhat better reception than residents were previously getting from the old unit which boosted without translating the signals.

Halverson said that officers of the Booster Club will call a public meeting in the near future to report to the community on the equipment purchased and its cost as well as other pertinent facts. The equipment was purchased from a community subscription fund collected through the Booster Club at the time when the FCC first issued orders to the effect that the non-translating booster system would have to be dismantled.

Construction Finished
Douglas Veneer Co. has finished construction of Fairy Creek Rd. and is now removing right-of-way timber. This road will give direct access from the North Umpqua to Limpy Mountain.

Edward Birkenfeld has just completed his logging operation on the O. K. Calif. sale.

William Kenwisher is constructing road and logging Nordic Veneer's Lower Panther Creek sale.

Otis Clayton has finished logging out 120 high grade piles and poles from his sale in the Bear Camp area. These piles were generally greater than 100 feet long and involved considerable difficulty in logging and hauling. Fifty-four-inch-long peeler core stock was utilized from the long butts resulting from pole cutting.

J. M. Potter Logging Co. is continuing salvage logging in Green Valley Lumber Co's sale at Bear Camp.

State Job Placements Show Increase In June
The Oregon State Employment Service reports that total placements in June increased more than 8 per cent over June of last year. In June of 1961, OSSES made 98,482 job placements as compared to 106,781 this year. Eldon Cone, director of the state Employment Service said.

Non-farm placements went up during June compared to last year as well as agricultural placements. Non-farm placements for the month totaled, 8,240 and farm placements totaled 98,541, Cone said.

This brought the number of placements made during the fiscal year through June 30 to 424,804, an increase of 11 plus per cent over the previous year.

List Grows
The new council, being added to a list of 11 others in the state, is designed to stress precautions before accidents happen. Muscutt said it offers a special benefit, he indicated, to the small operator who cannot afford a safety engineer.

NEW VICE PRESIDENT of U. S. Plywood Corp. is Kenneth L. Morrow, who has been boosted from general manager of the company's California division. Morrow will move to New York this fall.

South Umpqua Bank's Assets Continue Rise

The South Umpqua State Bank in Canyonville continued to show a rise in total deposits with the statement published at the end of the first half of 1962, reports Vice President Oscar Hoverson. Deposits amounted to $3,107,569.55, an increase of $50,000 over the previous report.

He was a speaker at an organizational meeting in Roseburg this week which drew representatives from several county lumber and logging firms.

Deposits Of $24 Million Reported By Bank Here

Douglas County State Bank, with branches in Sutherlin, Oakland and Roseburg, showed deposits of more than $24 million with the mid-year report made by the county's banks. The total figure was $24,353,077.03. Total loans and discounts for the same period were $13,653,830.45.

Muscutt said either he or Robert Young, an assistant, will be at all meetings. In addition, he said, the council's activities have the endorsement of the State Industrial Accident Commission, which also generally has a man present for meetings.

Len Sutton Sets Visit To Roseburg Thursday

Len Sutton of Portland, who roared home in second place in the world's biggest auto race, the Indianapolis 500, will be in Roseburg next Thursday to sign autographs and describe his experiences in the race. He will spend the day and evening at the Firestone Store at 1807 NE Diamond Lake Blvd.

BIGGEST WINNER in Roseburg's "bank night" series so far is Raymond Lee Hughes of 242 W. Bradford, Roseburg. This month, he collected $500. He was in the Newberry store at the time his name was called out. Hughes is a loader operator for the state Highway Department. Lavon Sanders, one of the participating merchants, made the presentation of the money to Hughes.

Garbage Dumps May Take A New Look In The County

Garbage dumps will have a new look in Douglas County if the proposed one at Whistlers Bend is built according to tentative plans. The dump will be screened from view as much as possible. The stench of the regular open pit or pile dump will be practically non-existent. Burning will be limited to non-smelling combustibles. And the refuse will be covered at frequent intervals with earth.

Sanitarian Bruce Bailey says this operation may take place daily. However, the frequency will be determined after an expert from the state Department of Health makes recommendation. The county this week bought 14 acres for the dump. Some of the acreage will be devoted to screening.

This is the aim of the county sanitarians in the Health Department who will have supervision over this and any subsequent ones set up in the county. Land Impoverished
As an added bonus, the dump, if constructed in the cut and fill method, will improve the land. Dr. John Donnelly, county health officer, called it a way of reclaiming land. Final plans have not been worked out for the Whistlers Bend dump, but the proposal is to screen it from the old North Umpqua Highway with trees. The proposal also calls for frequent compacting of the refuse and covering with dirt.

In addition, better rodent and mosquito control can be offered. "It's to the advantage of all of us," he concluded.

Riddle Insurance Man At Round Table Meet

Clinton E. Grooms, representative of Business Men's Assurance Co. in Riddle is attending the annual meeting of the Million Dollar Round Table this week in Montreal, Canada.

Grading Bids Due On Bureau Project

The Bureau of Public Roads will receive bids in Portland until 2 p.m. Aug. 3 for grading 9.05 miles of the Big River and Elk Meadow roads in Lane and Douglas Counties.

The round table is an international organization of top life insurance salesmen. More than 900 of this year's record membership of 3,123 are attending the meeting to learn the latest developments in the fields of taxation, estate planning, business insurance and other situations involving life insurance.

The project is located about 40 miles southeast of Cottage Grove, proceeding along the Dorena Dam, Row River and Sharps Creek roads. It is being financed by the Bureau of Land Management from timber access road funds.

Gray's Adds New Store In Eugene

A new store was added to the Gray's Home Furnishings corporation this month. The home furnishings and appliance organization which started with a single store in Coos Bay now has four stores. The latest is the store established this month on W. Eighth St. in Eugene. Now the corporation has stores at Coos Bay, Roseburg, Central Point and Eugene.

Members of the 1962 round table must have sold at least a million dollars worth of life insurance in 1961 or have met the MDRT's requirements for consecutive years of million-dollar sales for attainment of life membership.

P. P. Gray Jr., president of the company, said the addition of the new store strengthens the purchasing power of the Gray's group. Gary DeMain is new manager of the Roseburg store.

Drain Deposits Amount To Total Of $4 Million

The Drain branch of U.S. National Bank has recorded total deposits of $4,116,423.47 for the accounting period which ended at midyear, reports Manager Forrest W. Johnson. Loans and discounts for the local branch totaled $1,420,070.74.
