

Yanks Up AL Lead To Six Games

Indians Defeat LA Angels 5-3

By United Press International
Remember Roger Maris' timetable?
Well, the Yankees have a new one today and if they stick to it, they're a cinch to win the American League pennant by their biggest margin in 15 years.
Here's how it works:
The Yankees already have ballooned their lead to six games. That means they still have two full months in which to better their famous finish of 1947, when they killed off all the contenders early and won by 12 games.
Actually, the Yanks are far ahead of schedule. A year ago this time they were only 1 1/2 games ahead and came home eight lengths in front. So you can draw your own conclusions about their chances of topping that 15-year-old 12-game spread.
Even with Mickey Mantle on the sidelines Tuesday night, they still increased their lead by a full game with a 9-5 victory over the Washington Senators.

WASHINGTON TALLY — Jim Piersall slides safely into home on a double by John Schaive in the eighth inning of the Senators game against the New York Yankees. Elston Howard takes the throw from Yankee third baseman Cletus Boyer, but the tag was too late. New York increased its league lead to six games with a 9-5 victory. (UPI Telephoto)

Indians Beat Angels
The Cleveland Indians knocked off the second-place Los Angeles Angels, 5-3, and the Baltimore Orioles beat the Minnesota Twins, 8-7, in the only other major league games scheduled.

Mantle's left knee was still sore from a Sunday injury so he sat in the dugout and watched Moose Skowron and Elston Howard do most of the slugging. Skowron teed off on newly-wed Claude Osteen for a grand-slam homer in the first inning and Howard belted a two-run homer in the third off the Senator southpaw, who married a beauty queen last Sunday.

Bill Stafford scored his ninth victory in 15 decisions although Jim Coates had to be called upon to halt a four-run Washington rally in the eighth. While he was still around, Stafford collected a pair of doubles and drove in two runs. Gary Bell's effective relief pitching along with homers by Willie Kirkland and John Romano paced the Indians to their victory over the falling Angels.

Kirkland and Romano each connected in the sixth inning to give Cleveland a 3-1 lead and the Tribe pushed across what proved to be the winning run in the seventh with the aid of an error by losing pitcher Dan Osinski.

Bell took over for starter Jim Perry in the top of the seventh and was nicked for a two-run double by Bob Rodgers that tied the score at 3-all. Bell, however, didn't give up another hit the rest of the way to earn his eighth victory, seven of which have come in relief.

Rally Fell Short
The Orioles barely managed to get by the Twins despite a six-run rally in the fourth inning, when Baltimore sent 11 men to bat and overcame a 2-0 deficit. Jerry Adair's single with the bases full drove in the first two runs during the Orioles' big upsurge and another run crossed the plate on a throwing error by losing pitcher Jackie Collum. Singles by Whitey Herzog, Jackie Brandt and Brooks Robinson produced three more runs.

Two unearned runs off reliever Lee Stange in the sixth stretched the Orioles' lead to 8-2 and as things turned out, they needed that margin after Harmon Killebrew led off the seventh with his 26th homer and Earl Battey connected for his eighth during a four-run rally in the eighth.

Jack Fisher had a one-hitter until the seventh. He was credited with his third win but knuckleballer Hoyt Wilhelm had to come to his rescue after Battey's three-run homer made the score 8-7.

'Shotgun Offense' Used By '49ers

SEATTLE — (Special) — A first-hand glimpse of the controversial "shotgun offense" is almost a certainty when the San Francisco 49ers meet the Minnesota Vikings in University of Washington stadium on Saturday, August 11.

Sponsored by Greater Seattle, Inc., the eighth game in the annual pro football series will present to Northwest grid football a chance to see the Californians colorful offense pitted against a Minnesota eleven that boasts former Husky stars Hugh McElhenny and Dean Derby.

The story of the "shotgun" began at a Georgetown University practice field on November 22, 1960 when the 49ers opened preparations for a Baltimore meeting with the defending champion Colts.

The largest game in the history of the season — more than 77,000 — poured into the Coliseum the following Sunday to see the resurgent 49ers and their "shotgun" shenanigans. San Francisco collected an unprecedented fourth straight league win over the Rams, 23-7. Since that time the strategy has worked with varying degrees of success, but it is still one of the most exciting formations in modern football.

EMERSON ADVANCED

HAMBURG, Germany (UPI) — Roy Emerson of Australia advanced to the third round of the German International Lawn Tennis championships Tuesday when Alfred Krienburg of Germany retired in the middle of the second set. Emerson was leading, 11-9, 3-0, at the time.

AILING backfield star Ernie Davis may not be in action for the Cleveland Browns Friday when they tangle with the college all-stars. Davis, an ex-All-American at Syracuse, is in an Illinois hospital suffering from what is described as a "puzzling ailment." The rugged backfield ace is shown receiving a pillow from head nurse Karen Rhodes. (UPI Telephoto).
