Expansion Of Child Guidance Clinic Is Scheduled Sept. 1

Services of Douglas County's child guidance clinic will be expanded as of Sept. 1, William H. Peckham, psychiatric social worker with the clinic, announced today.

It will be expanding both in service and in personnel, he said. It's new service will include marriage counseling for those financially unable to obtain private counseling. To aid in the new service, the clinic will add to its staff Hugh Byrkit, 34, at present child welfare services supervisor for the Douglas County Welfare Commission.

Services Shifted

Peckham said the expansion is because of a switch in the state

brother, Edward, and Varrick Tunmental health services picture recently. The mental health services will no longer be under the state Board of Health but under the state Board of Control.

The state and county will consequently support the guidance clinic on a 50-50 basis. Previously the county paid the full bill. With the enlargement of services, the clinic, which works under the Douglas County Health Department, will now be called the Douglas County Family Service Clinic.

Peckham noted private family counseling has been available in the community on a limited basis. Persons may be referred to the enlarged clinic by reputable sources or agencies.

Byrkit, who has lived in Oregon all his life, has been a resident of Roseburg the last 2 1/2 years. He is a graduate of the University of Oregon, received his master's degree in social work at the University of Oregon, received his master's degree in social work at the University of Washington in 1952 and has taken summer courses in social work at the University of Chicago.

He began social work with the Oregon Public Welfare Commission as a supervisor and has held posts of supervisor and administrator while with the commission. For the past year, he also has been doing private marriage counseling.

Job Psychiatric

Byrkit will come to the expanded clinic as a psychiatric social worker.

Peckham noted the clinic now has the services of a part time psychologist, also effective in July. Dr. Eleanor Kuehn, recently retired from the Veterans Administration, joined the staff part time as a psychiatrist.

Peckham also said at this point there still is a waiting list for service from the clinic. The clinic is located on the first floor of the Courthouse, Room 106. Requests for information may be made by calling OR 2-3311, extension 44.

In the past year the clinic's services have been extended in a limited way to the coast. Peckham once a month travels to Reedsport and Gardiner.

Hoover Cites 'Forces' Aiding Nation's Future

By United Press International
The Iowa farm boy who became 31st president of the United States, Herbert Hoover, spoke out strongly on a subject which he said lies heavily on American minds in his Iowa speech today.

"Our people are deeply troubled," he said, not only about the turbulent world around us but also with internal problems which haunt our days and nights. There are many undertones of discouragement. The press headlines imply that corruption, crime, divorce, youthful delinquency and Hollywood love trysts are our national occupations.

"And amid all these voices there is a cry that the American way of life is on its way to decline and fall.

"I do not believe it. Perhaps amid this din of voices and headlines of gloom, I may say something about the inner forces from which come the strengths of America. They assure its future and its continued service to mankind.

"The mightiest assurances of our future are the intangible spiritual and intellectual forces in our people, which we express, not by the words of the United States but by the word America. That word America carries meanings which lie deep in the soul of our people. It reaches far beyond the size of cities and factories. It springs from our religious faith, our ideals of individual freedom and equal opportunity, which have come in the centuries since we landed on these shores.

"It rises from our pride in great accomplishments of our nation and from the sacrifices and devotion of those who have passed on. It lifts us above the ugliness of the day. It has guided us through even greater crises in our past. And from these forces, solutions will come again.

"This representative government, with its 186 years of life, has lasted longer than any other republic in history.

"If you look about, you will see the steeples of tens of thousands of places of worship. Each week a hundred million people come to reaffirm their faith.

"If you will look, you will find that the Bill of Rights is an enforced law of the land; that the dignity of man and equality of opportunity more nearly survive in this land than in any other on earth.

"If you look, you will also find that from our educational system there comes every year a host of stimulated minds. They bring new scientific discoveries, new inventions, and new ideas. It is true that they revolutionize our daily lives. But we can readily adjust ourselves and our government to them without the assistance of Karl Marx.

"I could go on and on reciting the mighty forces in American life which assure its progress and its durability."

Author Visits Parents Here

Will Bryant of Katonah, N.Y., author of two books pertaining to the West, is in Roseburg for a couple of days visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bryant here and at their cabin on the Umpqua River.

The younger Bryant has been in Montana for two weeks conducting a group of boys on a pack train trip into the Bob Marshall Wilderness area. This is his second year for such an outing.

He is the author of a juvenile book, titled "Kit Carson and the Mountain Men," and another book, titled "Great American Guns and Frontier Fighters." Both are illustrated by him, and he also produced wood and leather art work used for printing.

Bryant recently had an article published in Saga Magazine on the subject of plains Indians condensed food, called "pemmican."

He stated he plans a series of such articles about the West, which he plans to combine later for a third book publication.

For his art work he produces cuts from the materials used in printing at the time the event took place. For example, if in an era when wood blocks were used, his art work would be of wood, or if leather, he would use that media.

Bryant stated he is en route to Hollywood to study the possibility of entering the field of television script writing on which he has done considerable study. He will return from there in about two weeks to his wife and children in Katonah.

Stolen Car Listed, Another Recovered

One automobile has been reported as stolen from Roseburg, and another one, reported stolen out of Yreka, Calif., has been located here, according to police reports.

Fay D. Garrison of Rifle Range Rd., reported to city police that her car, a 1954 Willys four-door maroon sedan was taken from the driveway of her home, between 10:30 p.m. Thursday and 5:30 a.m. today. She told officers she had left the keys in the car. County and state police also have been notified.

Report of an abandoned car, a 1950 Mercury with California license plate, on the hillside above SE Germond Ave., was made by Mrs. Rex Roberts, a resident of the area, to the sheriff's department.

Investigation revealed the car, registered to Howard and Martha Eaton of Hill, Calif., had been stolen from Yreka, Calif., Monday. From clothing recovered near the car, it is indicated that it may have been taken by an escapee from a California penal institution, according to the sheriff's department.

There has been no connection established between the recovered and missing cars.

3 Youths Charged In Check Forgery

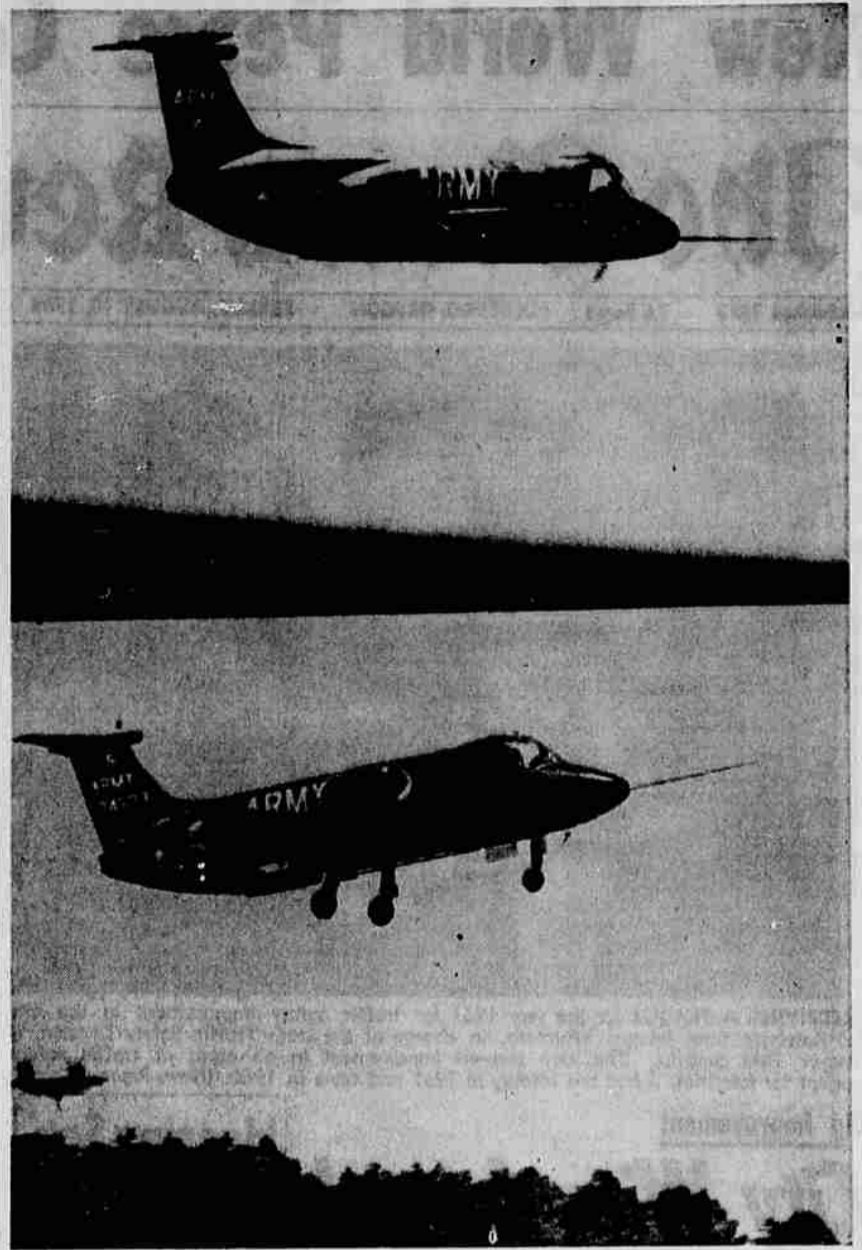

Three youths, one 14 years of age and the other two 16, have been taken into custody and turned over to juvenile authorities in connection with a check forgery. City police report an erasure on a check indicated the amount of the check had been raised from $13 to $30.

George M. Denton, operator of Denton's Grocery on SE Rice St. at SE Hamilton Ave., told police he had given the check in the amount of $13 to one of the boys for change which he needed at the store because someone had stolen $94 in change from him.

The suspicious check was cashed at a local bank for the amount of $30.

The 14-year-old boy admitted altering the check, made out to him and was booked for forgery. The two 16-year-olds were booked for receiving and concealing stolen property, and released to juvenile authorities. Some of the money from the check was turned over to the police by the boys.

Recently some other boys were apprehended and confessed to stealing change from Denton then selling it back to him, for which he gave them a check in exchange. The amount of theft was in excess of $200.

WCTU Schedules County Convention

The 70th annual convention of the Douglas County Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held at the First Presbyterian Church Roseburg Tuesday beginning at 10:30 a.m. and continuing on through the day. A light share-the-fare luncheon will be served at noon.

Mrs. Margaret Turano, supervisor of the WCTU Children's Farm Home foster home program, will be guest speaker at 1:30 p.m. Following her talk at the convention, Mrs. Turano and the two young ladies from the home who will accompany her, will go to the fairgrounds to put in final readiness the booth which the Children's Farm Home will conduct during the Fair.

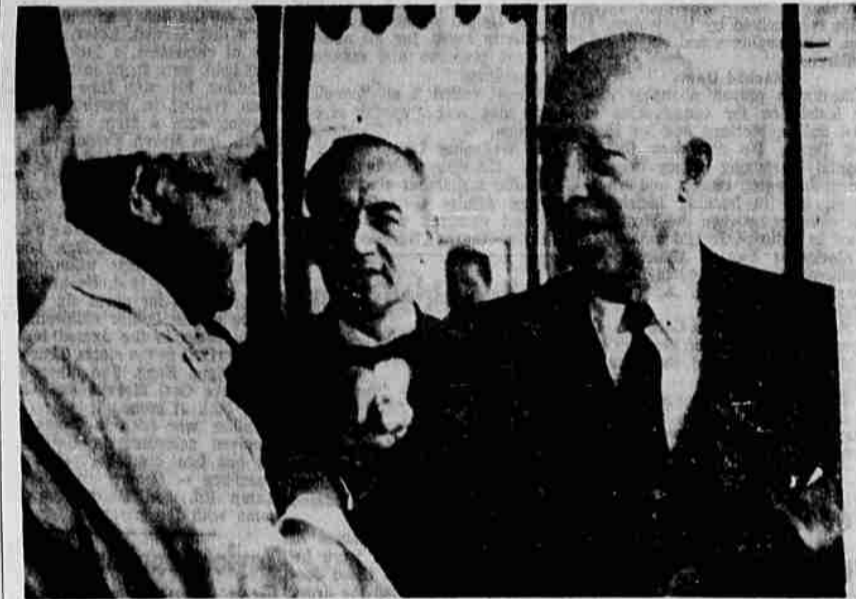

According to correspondent Hazel Marsh, Mrs. Turano is an able speaker and has an interesting message concerning the program at the Children's Farm Home for the care and training of the dependent children living there.

A speech contest under the direction of Mrs. Fred Southwick, state speech director, is being planned for the afternoon program. An invitation is extended to all who are interested in the temperance program to attend the convention.

New Commander Sets Army Reserve Visit

Col. Aaron E. Belwert, new Oregon sector commander of the Army Reserve, will make his first inspection in his new position of the Roseburg unit next Wednesday at 10:30 a.m.

It will be part of a tour of all reserve centers under his command. The Roseburg unit is Company M, 3rd Battalion, 414th Regiment (Basic Combat Training). It has five officers and an authorized complement of 31 men.

Several Lookouts Return To Posts

With the storms of the last week just about over, the Forest Service today said several of its lookouts will be going back on watch.

Larry Thorpe, fire suppression officer for the Umpqua National Forest, today said the Diamond Lake District is considering putting its lookouts back on duty.

However, Thorpe said the weather forecast sees another storm coming up Sunday.

Thorpe said the rains have had a good chance to soak into the ground and provide a great deal of relief from fire danger.

Drug Industry Cautiously OKs Tighter Drug Testing Controls

By United Press International
Much of the nation's drug industry today gave cautious approval to the tighter controls on experimental compounds announced by Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Anthony J. Celebrezze.

Many medical groups also reacted with enthusiasm. However, both doctors and manufacturers warned against regulations so strict they would impede the advancement of healing by blocking introduction of new drugs.

The new regulations announced Thursday provided:

—That the Federal Food and Drug Administration be notified and given full details about drugs distributed for testing.

—That tests on humans be based on adequate preclinical studies to assure safety.

—That clinical tests be planned and carried out by qualified persons and the FDA kept informed of progress.

FDA will have the power to halt tests if doubt arises as to the safety of a new drug. Doctors must be informed of all known side effects and precautions when given a drug for test.

The Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association said the FDA must avoid "withholding from the medical profession of new drugs which may save lives or alleviate suffering."

Dr. Walker Gakenheimer, Administrative Director of Los Angeles Stewart Laboratories, said he does not feel the new regulations will hamper research. However, he added that he hoped the FDA was acting for the public benefit and "not through hysteria because of Thalidomide," the baby-deforming drug.

Dr. Walter E. Ward, medical director of Cutter Laboratories, Berkeley, Calif., the firm which became involved in lawsuits several years ago for marketing allegedly faulty polio vaccine, said, "We have not seen the actual regulations, but we have never opposed any which the Food and Drug Administration felt were necessary and sensible."
