Demos Hit 'Destructive Proviso' In Drug Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Eight Democrats appealed today for the House to strike what they called a "destructive proviso" from the bill to tighten federal controls on the manufacture and sale of drugs.

The appeal was made as the House prepared to consider legislation which its backers hoped would prevent any new tragedy such as the birth of deformed babies caused by the drug Thalidomide.

In a letter sent to all members, the eight congressmen urged their colleagues to eliminate an amendment added by the House Commerce Committee Friday to the bill to strike what they called a "destructive proviso" from the bill to tighten federal controls on the manufacture and sale of drugs.

The letter said the amendment proposed by Rep. J. Arthur Younger, R-Calif., would destroy the new advertising requirement by permitting drug companies to skip publication of the side effects as long as they said such information could be obtained by request.

The eight Democrats said a Library of Congress study showed that 89 per cent of drug advertisements contained little or no reference to the side effects of drugs.

The letter also cited one case where the advertisers boasted a drug with claims of "almost complete absence" of side effects. Under clinical testing it added, the drug was proven to have a 27 per cent incident of such effects.

In addition to the advertising provision, the bill also carries sections which would:

- Authorize government inspection of drug factories.
- Require drug makers to prove the effectiveness as well as safety of their products.
- Establish a system of standardized drug names.
- Set up procedures under which experimental drugs could be more easily withdrawn from use.

The Women's Association of the Oakland Community Presbyterian Church will meet Friday at 1 p.m. at the church with the English Settlement Circle as hostesses.

The Youth Fellowship of the church will hold its first fall meeting at the church this Sunday, June 17, at 7 p.m.

All young people in these age groups are invited to attend, according to Edith Dunn, corresponding secretary.

School Board Gets Report On Textbook Survey

Roseburg School District Superintendent M. C. Deller Wednesday night reported to the district board the results of a survey recently conducted of other school districts concerning the furnishing of textbooks.

Of 25 schools similar to Roseburg, he received replies from 22. Only one district had texts handled by an outlet outside of school. On the subject of rental fees, the survey determined that these varied from $5 in the tenth to about $7 in grades 10-12. Three schools reported fees of $7.50.

Deller said at Roseburg High School cost for books in the ninth grade averaged $9.02, $16.76 in 11th grade and $12.08 in the 12th.

However, he pointed out, by selling the books back to the student at the end of the year, the net cost of the books averages $5.17.

Harry Jacoby, assistant superintendent, said the rental system involves establishing another book-keeping system. It also makes policemen out of teachers in regard to care and cleaning up of books, he said.

Deller observed that yearly need to purchase additional numbers of required texts and their subsequent revision makes the rental system one of increasing cost to a district.

ALL TOO BRIEF

LONDON (UPI) — British Railways said today it is scrapping a movie made three months ago showing happy worker-management relations in a railway car factory.

Officials said they since have closed the factory and put 1,900 men out of work.
