COLLEGE of LAW

WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY

Possibly on the first of the month when the bills come in, you might make some reference to going bankrupt. As a general rule, how ever, most of us never give this phase of the law much thought. But did you know that the right to pass laws relating to bankruptey is specifically given to Congress in our Constitution?

At the time the Constitution was drafted, the laws of England and other countries permitted imprison-ment for debt. Thus, a person in debt could be thrown into prison and held there until someone paid

Under our federal bankruptcy laws, a person who cannot pay his debts because of poor business conditions, too much credit buying, or unexpected loss of income, can go into bankruptcy. This can be done either as a voluntary act of the debtor or at the request of

When a person goes into bank ruptcy, he must place all of his property, both real and personal, in the hands of the court. Excep-tions are made as to certain items tions are made as to certain items of personal property and clothing. The bankrupt must file under oath detailed schedules of all his debts and all his assets.

Should a person after knowing himself to be insolvent give away or sell property in an attempt to defraud his creditors, the court will take the property back. If his statement to the court is faise, he can be punished for perjury.

ment to the court is false, he can be punished for perjury.

After receiving all of the debt-or's assets, the court will convert his property into cash and distrib-ute it to his creditors. After this is done, the bankrupt will be dis-charged, and his craditors can no longer nursue him on these oblilonger pursue him on these obli-gations. The bankrupt is no longer n disgrace but free to keep on working without fear of court action or prison.

Most of us will keep right on paying our bills, but it surely is good to know that if it ever becomes necessary that we can get a second chance.

(Oregon lawyers offer this column as a public service. No person should apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney, who is completely advised of the facts involved. Even a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)
