

Senate Strips Basic School Support Fund

SALEM (UPI) — The Senate Education Committee Tuesday stripped special programs from the basic school support fund, changed the school census age and rejected a plan to place the basic school fund on a biennial appropriation basis.

The bill was forwarded to the Ways and Means Committee with the recommendation that the amount of basic school support be increased.

Ways and Means will determine the amount of any increase.

The Senate Education Committee made six policy decisions regarding the state's basic school support program:

- Maintain the present continuing appropriation.
- Maintain the present equalization features.
- Change the census base from 4 to 20 years of age to 5 to 17 years.
- Eliminate the present property tax offset features.
- Eliminate special programs and administrative accounts from the basic school fund.
- Continue to finance transportation and growth programs from the basic school fund.

Sens. Donald Husband, R - Eugene, and Glenn Huston, D-Lebanon, voted against removing the special programs from the fund.

Husband said the action would "jeopardize the programs" by making it necessary for the board of education to plead for money each session.

Public Instruction Supt. Leon P. Minear said the Board of Education wanted the programs removed from basic school support, although the governor had asked that they remain a part of the fund.

The committee also voted to send the teacher tenure bill to the Senate Judiciary Committee without recommendation, tabled a bill which would have established a minimum lunch period for teachers, and gave unanimous approval to a measure which would enable district school boards to contract with other school districts for special education programs for handicapped children.

Broadcasters Score Major Win In Senate Bill Passed Tuesday

SALEM (UPI) — The Oregon broadcasting industry scored a major victory Tuesday with passage of a bill that would permit radio and television stations to broadcast legal notices.

The Senate bill — which deals with the formation of port districts—now goes to the House.

The measure contains an amendment which makes it permissive to give public notice "on one or more radio or television stations serving the area."

Historically, such notices are published in newspapers.

Karl J. Nestvold, Eugene, manager of the Oregon Association of Broadcasters, said "Washington state has used broadcast notice for several years, and has a provision that the state can use newspapers, radio or television to publicize constitutional amendments."

Neither Nestvold nor Stadler knew of any other state which authorized broadcasting of legal notices.

Stadler said election and similar notices can "very beneficially" be broadcast, and suggested many people do not take the time to read "the small type" in newspaper legal advertisements.

"He said 'at first we want to make broadcasting permissive, and after several years may attempt to make it mandatory.'"

Stadler said the idea was first suggested at an Oregon Association of Broadcasters meeting last November.

A FLAG IN EVERY HOME is the goal of a committee from the Roseburg Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. Mrs. Robert L. Snider, chairman of the committee, right, discusses mounting the flag on the front of the home of Mrs. Frank Ashley, a member of the committee. The committee is selling the American flags below cost in an effort to get more people to display them at their homes on Memorial and other appropriate patriotic days. Any extra funds raised in the effort will be used for construction of a new chapel for the church on property in Hucrest. Flags may be ordered by calling OR 2-2982, OR 3-8433 or OR 3-8571. Sophomores Win Canyonville Prize

Canyonville High School sophomores won the inter-class competition for doing the best job with their section of town in the recent "Clean-Up" campaign. The class donated the prize of $19.50 to the student council-sponsored fund for the hospital ship "Hope." The sophomores drew the cemetery for their cleanup assignment.

Sunday's campaign culminated a month's effort by householders in Canyonville to assemble their refuse and clean their yards. Grades seven through 12 combined to gather up the junk and dispose of it. However, the job was a little large for one afternoon's activity, and plans are under way to continue the cleanup when the weather is stable, correspondent Mrs. R. E. Proctor reports.

The campaign was spearheaded by a group of Forest Glen Senior Residence ladies who enlisted the aid of others in the residence to put up a purse of close to $30 in prizes for posters and the cleanup. The women also enlisted the aid of all local organizations. Mrs. Carl Campbell and Miss Agnes Campbell acted as co-chairmen.
