Canyonville Meet For Church Women

By MRS. R. E. PROCTOR

The Women's Society of the Canyonville Methodist Church held the last meeting before the summer in the fifth floor lounge of the Forest Glen Senior Residence recently with Mrs. Sophie Hanson presiding. During the business meeting, the group voted to discontinue meeting until September.

Highlight of the program hour was a travelogue on Pakistan by Mrs. Faye Rosenberger whose daughter and family are stationed in that country. Mrs. George Allen read "What Aldersgate Means to Me." Mrs. Ivan Waltz gave the meditation. Guests from Days Creek, Mrs. Ralph Martin and Mrs. Robert Wheaton, sang a duet "How Great Thou Art." Mrs. Carl Campbell read a study of the 23rd Psalm. After the meeting, Mrs. Hanson served refreshments.

Ladies of the church, with Mrs. Conrad Klooster as general chairman, are planning a rummage sale May 24-25 in the church annex. Anyone with rummage may call Mrs. Klooster.

News of Mrs. Louise Brooks of Salem, a former Canyonville elementary teacher, and her family, was reported by Mrs. Guy McGee who visited with her during the state Delta Kappa Gamma convention held last weekend at the Marion Hotel, Salem.

Roger Brooks, who attended fifth grade at Canyonville at the time Mrs. Joseph Anderson was the teacher of that grade, is now in his first year at the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs and was on the freshman football team. Barbara Brooks is working for IBM at San Carlos, Calif. Mrs. Brooks is now teaching Spanish to third and fourth graders in the Salem schools, and will be installed as Worthy Matron of a Salem chapter of the OES in June.

Birmingham Violence Blamed On Outsiders

PORTLAND (UPI)— Fire Marshal Aaron Rosenfeld of Birmingham, Ala., attributes violence in the southern city to "outsiders."

Rosenfeld, attending the National Fire Protection Association meeting here, said "ninety per cent of the whites in Birmingham are friendly with 90 per cent of the colored."

He said there was a "small element of low grade whites in the city that will resort to violence if they're not controlled."

Rosenfeld said it was the aim of Birmingham police to protect Negroes and "then these outsiders apparently came in and stirred up the trouble . . ."

Rosenfeld said firemen did not like the idea of turning hoses on Negroes. "It wasn't their idea. They were ordered to . . ."

He said the use of water, while a success in controlling the crowd the first time it was tried, had proved a failure since.

Idaho Bar Slayer Found Guilty Of Manslaughter

BLACKFOOT, Idaho (UPI)— A District Court jury found Clyde Gish guilty of manslaughter this week in connection with a 1951 bar slaying.

The jury reached the verdict shortly before 2 a.m., after deliberating 10 hours.

Gish, who claimed throughout the trial he was Roy Albert King of San Jose, Calif., and not the man charged with the death of Edward McEvoy at Atomic City, Idaho, on Dec. 21, 1951, took the verdict calmly.
