Team Of Three State Specialists Eyes Need For Materials Center

A team of specialists from state educational offices opened a study into the needs for a curriculum materials center for Douglas County Wednesday.

The three-man team spent the morning conferring with Douglas County Supt. of Schools Kenneth Barneburg, Education Director Leland Linn and Assistant Supt. W. M. Campbell. During the afternoon they visited John C. Fremont Junior High School and Dillard Elementary School.

The team will return to the county this fall to complete its studies and make a recommendation to the county school office.

The purpose of the curriculum materials center would be to provide teaching aids, such as a county educational film library, for all schools in the county, administered on the county level. Barneburg said the center would probably be located in Roseburg, because of its central location and because 35 per cent of the county's school students are located here.

Barneburg said the county office has made an inventory of all materials, owned by all schools in the county, and has also inventoried the individual schools' needs. This study was turned over to the materials center team Wednesday.

A preliminary report will be made to the county Rural School Board this summer, he added. The study was initiated by the county board, after 14 of the county's 19 districts had passed resolutions favoring the study. The state officials discussed the program Wednesday with Roseburg Assistant Supt. of Schools Harry Jacoby and Dillard Principal Bert Kleiner.

Members of the team here Wednesday were Henry C. Ruark, instructional materials consultant for the state Board of Education; Norman R. Jensen, consultant in audio-visual services for the general extension division of the Oregon State System of Higher Education; and Dr. Walter Shold, assistant county superintendent of schools at Marion County. Dr. Arno DeBernardis, assistant superintendent of schools at Portland, is a member of the team but was not at Wednesday's conference.

New Apportionment Plan Presented

SALEM (UPI) — A new legislative apportionment plan was presented Wednesday to the committee that is trying to make a new constitution acceptable to two-thirds of the Senate.

Former Gov. Charles Sprague offered the plan to the Senate Committee on Constitutional Revision. The committee got the constitution back Wednesday after the Senate revived it from Tuesday's defeat on the floor.

The document could have passed if eight senators had not opposed the apportionment plan of Sen. Anthony Yturri, R-Ontario. They said it would favor the least populous counties.

Both sides expressed willingness to seek a compromise.

Sprague said his plan would give "very moderate" preference to counties unable to qualify by themselves for a first legislator.

But, he said, his plan would strike a middle ground between Yturri and his opponents by leaving it up to subsequent legislatures to group these counties into districts.

Yturri said he liked the Sprague plan. Sen. Don Willner, D-Portland, leader of the opposition, said he would study it.

The Sprague plan first would have the legislature make districts out of each county with the population requirement for one legislator, and out of more than one contiguous counties where they did not qualify singly.

Wintry May Frosts Crops

By United Press International

A May chill frosted tender fruit and vegetable crops in the nation's midlands today and broke cold records from Minneapolis to Little Rock, Ark.

The mass of cold air pressed down on most of the nation from the eastern slopes of the Rocky Mountains to the Atlantic Coast.

Farm experts were sure crops had been damaged in the Middle West. They feared for a large portion of Iowa's soybean crop, cherries and strawberries in Michigan, and new crops in Indiana.

The weather had never been so cold this late in the year at Des Moines, Iowa, which posted a 32-degree record breaker.

Other record breakers included 42 degrees at Little Rock, 44 at Memphis, 28 at Minneapolis, 31 at Fort Wayne, Ind., 37 at Indianapolis, 34 at Evansville, Ind., 27 at Lansing, Mich., 31 at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., 30 at Grand Rapids, Mich., 34 at Charleston, W. Va., and 32 at Pittsburgh, Pa.

There were snow flurries at Buffalo, N.Y., and in Michigan's upper Peninsula.

Senate Expected To Pass Legislation Ending Silver Backing Of Dollar Bills

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate was expected today to pass legislation ending the silver backing of $1 and $2 bills.

The legislation, which has been approved by the House and is supported by silver-mining states, would replace silver certificates with federal reserve notes backed by 25 per cent gold.

Under the bill, the government would end its purchases of silver. It would use 1.6 billion ounces of bullion now in Treasury vaults for production of coins. This supply is expected to last up to 18 years.

The bill repeals the 30-year-old Silver Purchase Act now considered obsolete as far as controlling the price of silver.

Sponsors said the legislation was necessary due to rising costs and underproduction of silver. The price on the open market is now close to the point where it would be profitable for citizens to cash $1 and $2 bills for the silver back of them.

Other congressional news: Women: The House was expected to pass a bill to guarantee women equal pay for equal work despite the opposition of most business groups. The measure would require employers covered by the federal minimum wage law to pay the same wages, without regard to sex, for "equal work on jobs, the performance of which requires equal skill, effort and responsibility and which are performed under similar working conditions."

Education: President Kennedy has given up on his request for a $5.3 billion "one-ten" education bill, Rep. Adam C. Powell, D-N.Y., said Wednesday. Powell, chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee, said the decision means that the President's big education package can be split into four or more bills to improve their chances of passage.

Unemployment: Walter P. Reuther told Congress the United States is the "most callous, indifferent nation in the world" about unemployment. Reuther, United Automobile Workers union president and No. 2 man in the AFL-CIO, spent 2 1/2 hours telling a Senate labor subcommittee what the U.S. government is not doing to curb chronic unemployment.

Parcel Post: A Chamber of Commerce spokesman today urged that the Interstate Commerce Commission instead of the Post Office fix parcel post rates. Sam H. Flint, in a prepared testimony before the House Post Office Committee, said the ICC could better examine the Post Office's contention that a hike in parcel post rates would still not put the service in the black. He said under Post Office procedures, no one can offer contrary evidence to the propositions as they could during an ICC hearing.
