Holiday Motel, located on SE Oak St. at SE Spruce, was completed this week and opened for business Friday. Grand opening is being held today and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The owners, Ed Pietz of Ridgefield, Wash., and Tod McClaskey, Vancouver, Wash., announce that the public is invited to inspect the motel and visitors will be served coffee and cookies in the lobby during these hours. The Holiday is one of seven which the partners now own in the Pacific Northwest. They are just opening one in Yakima. Included in their holdings is the Thunderbird in Portland, which has 170 rooms, restaurant and bar. They plan to construct another in Eugene in the near future. This is their seventh year of partnership.

Quick construction has been noted in the erection within about a 90-day period of the motel here. Jim Brenner, Vancouver, is the contractor. Work moved ahead without a hitch from the day ground preparation began. All the motels owned by Pietz and McClaskey are of similar design, using a modified Spanish motif. The Holiday is built of block and brick on cement foundation. It is a two-story structure, with decorative iron grills used on the balcony for the upper rooms. The motel consists of 40 units, eight of which are double and the remainder are single. Each are equipped with shower and bathtub. Some of the double rooms have two beds. The others have beds and bed-davens arrangements. The grounds are blacktopped, and parking is provided for 40 cars. Landscaping has been mostly completed with the planting of shrubs in areas around the motel.

Washington, and is similar in design to seven others they now own in the Pacific Northwest. Jim Brenner, Vancouver, Wash., was contractor. (News-Review picture)

Managers Quarters
The manager's quarters consist of kitchen, dinette, living room and two bedrooms, of the lobby. These quarters are located in an attached one-story building on Spruce St. Claude F. Curtell is the temporary manager, but he will be going to Yakima to take over the new motel there. Permanent managers here will be Mr. and Mrs. Redding of Salem.

The Holiday motel is the first of several large new buildings under construction currently in Roseburg. The building permit for the motel was for $120,000, plus another $20,000 for plumbing. This is in addition to acquisition of property, furnishings and fixtures and other costs incidental to construction. Other large buildings on which construction progress is noted here are the Jack West apartments, Lockwood Motors, Roseburg Plaza buildings for Safeway Stores and Pay Less Drug Store, the new Chapel of the Roses building, and remodeling of the Douglas County State Bank and the Federal Building.

News-Review Adds Balloon-Former Press Mechanism

The News-Review this week began use of newly-installed additional newspaper press facilities.

Called a balloon former in the trade the mechanism is an additional folder which provides for greater versatility in the physical composition of the paper.

The new equipment allows for use of "double truck" ads which are spread over two facing pages and also allows for separate sections to be included in the paper without the necessity of putting separate sections together by hand.

This latest addition to News-Review facilities is another in the many steps taken or contemplated which are designed to provide advertisers and readers with the best product and advertising medium possible.

Allen's Western Goods Moved Into Roseburg

Allen's Western Goods has been moved from Winston to 1958 SE Stephens St., in the building formerly occupied by Munnell & Sherrill Inc. before the latter's move to new quarters.

The location is across from Mark's No. 2 Market in the Southgate Shopping district. The building area offers the Allen's three times the area they had in Winston, and many new items will be added, according to Willis Allen, who with his wife, Frances, own and operate the business.

The building also provides a workshop where Allen does saddle repairing and other work. The Allens plan to add a large line of western wear.

Allen started his business in his home at Dillard, but outgrew his needs there. He then moved to Winston into a building which formerly housed the Winston Lumber Co. on old Highway 99.

Featured as "the horsemen's center" and Douglas County's only exclusive western shop, the business in its enlarged location will add a much larger line of western wear. The basic stock includes saddles, bridles, halters, cinches and everything for the horse.

The Allens came to Dillard 14 years ago from the coastal area, and started the business, operating from their home. They are well known to riding enthusiasts. Allen is a member of the Sheriff's Posse.

Roseburg Homes Big Users Of Electricity, Check Shows

Roseburg homes are full of electric appliances and more than one-third of them also use electricity for house heating, according to information being compiled by Pacific Power & Light Co. sales service representatives surveying in the area.

"We are finding electric ranges in 87 per cent of the homes in the city and 84 per cent have electric water heaters," reports Phil Quisenberry, Roseburg district manager.

"Most universal appliance is the electric refrigerator," he reported. "Ninety-nine per cent of the homes surveyed have a refrigerator, and 38 per cent also have a separate food freezer."

There are automatic washers in 74 per cent of the homes and 57 per cent have electric clothes dryers, according to Quisenberry.

Twenty per cent have dishwashers, which is one of the appliances home owners list high on those they plan to purchase next.

Television sets were reported in 96 per cent of the homes.

"The high saturation of major household appliances in Roseburg homes is also reflected in the fact that average annual household use of electricity here has passed the 10,000 kilowatt-hour mark," Quisenberry said.

"This is slightly higher than PP&L's system-wide average and considerably more than double the national average annual use figure."
