Valley Youth In Argentina

By ADDIE SCHNEIDER

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford M. Hatfield of Garden Valley have received a letter from their son, Tom, telling of his arrival in Argentina. Tom left Garden Valley January 1962 to go to the Mission House of Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah. There he studied the Spanish language and prepared himself to do mission work for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. Tom flew to New York where he enjoyed a tour of the city. He continued south into Florida, on to Chile and over the Andes into Mendoza, Argentina. Mendoza, where he will be located for awhile has a population of 250,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Winford and children, Wren and Billy, of Central Point were surprise visitors of Mrs. Kittie Winford recently. Brent Claypool accompanied Gerald Bacon and family to Diamond Lake to enjoy trout fishing on a recent trip.

Employment Of Youngsters Is Mounting U.S. Problem

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Fast-mounting teen-age unemployment stood at a postwar peak today and Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz warned it might become one of the most "explosive" social problems in U.S. history.

The jobless rate among youths under 20 climbed to nearly 18 per cent in May to surpass previous recession levels in 1958 and reach its highest point since 1940.

This helped to push up the national unemployment rate to 5.9 per cent of the labor force—a rise of 2 from April after allowance for the usual seasonal trends.

New government figures released Thursday showed 4,066,000 Americans looked for jobs and could not find them in May. This figure held steady although it normally drops by 200,000 or more at this time of year. Employment rose by 850,000 to a May record of 69,061,000.

But the spurt in teen-age joblessness—an increase of 300,000 to 1.2 million last month—was regarded by Wirtz as the critical weak spot in the economy. One of every four jobless Americans is a teen-ager.

Manpower expert Harold Goldstein explained that the size of the teen labor force was swollen because the "war babies" born during or immediately after World War II now were grown up and seeking work.

This increase occurs at a time when new technology in industry is reducing the number of openings for youths who do not possess special skills, he said.

Wirtz called for broader training programs, improved schooling to cut the dropout rate and an end to racial discrimination to drive down the number of the teen-age jobless.

Submariners Visit MC High

Atomic submarine personnel recently visited in Myrtle Creek with electronics-oriented boys from Canyonville, Days Creek and Myrtle Creek high schools.

Lt. (jg) Paul Corwin, an officer of the USS Snook, an atomic hunter-killer attack submarine stationed at San Diego, used the blackboard and a model submarine in presenting his informative talk. Chief Robert H. Hatfield Ensign (ss), of the USS Sculpin, SSN 590, sister ship of the Snook, showed a color movie of the cruise of the submarine Nautilus beneath the North Pole.

Lt. Corwin and Chief Hatfield told of the need for high school graduates to enter the U.S. Navy. Especially important, they declared, is that boys remain in high school until they earn their diplomas.
